

Book talk Tuesday

Tuesday, Donald Ewing and Mrs. Georgia Logan, English instructors, will discuss James Baldwin's novel "Go Tell It on the Mountain" in the Appreciation Hall at 11 a.m.

Set against a back drop of religious experiences among the Harlem Negroes, the story describes a young boy's religious conversion on his fourteenth birthday.

AGS honors dinner

An Honors Banquet will be held for the Alfa Gamma Sigma (AGS) members at L'Omelette French Restaurant on May 2. AGS members from the fall and spring semesters will attend along with members from Foothill's faculty.

The guest speaker will be Dale Tillery who is the director of the Junior College Intern Program at the University of California at Berkeley.

Board discusses tax for campus Flint says necessity for 1968-69

Dr. Calvin C. Flint, Foothill College president, recommended an over-ride tax of 18½-19c to raise $13 to $14 million to develop Foothill's second campus.

Speaking at last week's board meeting, Dr. Flint said projected enrollment figures in the district indicated the need for another campus was a "probability" in 1966-67 and a "certainty" in 1968-69. He stressed planning now for the "progressively heavier enrollment" that faces the district.

The tax increase will go on the ballot in September. Dr. Flint explained that a tax increase was requested, rather than a bond issue, because interest on the bonds would double their cost over a 25-year period.

$500,000 of the money raised will be needed to finish the Los Altos Hills campus, Dr. Flint said.

He also recommended developing the new campus "as needed" rather than all at once.

A citizens' advisory committee will be re-activated and augmented to help plan financing for the new campus.

The board approved salary raises for teachers, upping the starting figure to $6,000 to make it "competitive." Dr. Flint said this was necessary in order to recruit new teachers. Top figure on the scale is $11,000.

In other action the board hired two new teachers: George M. Craven, photography; and Miss Dorothy Stevens, chemistry.

Board members also approved tenure for 42 faculty members. (See story on page 2)

William Cutler, administrative assistant, was named to the position of assistant business manager.

Bookstore policy was acted on. Trustees approved sale of books containing "representative viewpoints, even if controversial, so long as these books do not violate accepted standards of decency. Sensationalism for its own sake shall be sufficient for rejection of a book."

The trustees also approved contributing funds to the California Junior College Association to retain a full-time legislative advocate (lobbyist) and staff.

The board adopted a "no favors to athletes" policy in its action on intercollegiate athletics. The administration was directed to seek membership in an "appropriate junior college athletic conference."

State convention protested by YR's

Cries of "rigged convention" and "railroading" are flying in the aftermath of the Young Republican state convention in Los Angeles earlier this month attended by a Foothill delegation.

Foothill YR's are sending President Jim D'Amico and Vice President Edgar Wright to Sacramento tomorrow to protest the election and call for a new convention.

Foothill's delegation was one of many not permitted to vote in the election, according to Wright, and one of many schools requesting the new convention.

The Foothill club sets out its complaints in a formal letter which will be presented to CYR directors.

The letter sites failure by the credential committee to seat many authorized delegates, protests "railroading and procedures employed to silence all opposition to the so-called 'liberal' faction."

YR's from Foothill who attended the Los Angeles meet were: Agnes Machado, Linda Barrick, Jack Cox, Dana Reed, Dana Young and Wright.

'Stardust in Spring' formal tonight at 9

"Stardust In Spring" is the title for the annual Spring Formal tonight to be held at the Peninsula Golf and Country Club in San Mateo from 9:00 to 1:00 a.m.

Music for the dance will be provided by Rudy Salvini and his 10-piece orchestra.

Ree Brunell, who has sung at the Wagon Wheel in Las Vegas and Bill Edwards, professional singer and comedian from the Sheriton Palace in San Francisco, will entertain during the dance.

THE DANCE is sponsored by the Social Committee in conjunction with Circle K Club. According to Ed Holland, Circle K President, "the event will be a spring evening of entertainment."

The bids have been set at $3.50 and will be sold until 3 p.m. today, according to Holland.

THERE IS a special student discount for corsages along with ticket sales. The prices range from $1.50 to $3.00.

Highlight of the decorations according to Holland, is the Frosh coed receives $65 scholarship at annual banquet

Foothill College freshman Gale Fretwell was presented with a $65 scholarship Wednesday by the local Mission Trail Chapter of the National Secretarial Association.

Presentation was made by the chapter during its annual Secretarial Day dinner held at Mariani's in Santa Clara. The scholarship was first presented to Dr. Calvin C. Flint, as representative of Foothill, who then gave it to Miss Fretwell.

The scholarship was awarded on the basis of grade point average, social participation, personality and fitness for secretarial work.

Miss Fretwell, who lives in Monta Vista, is completing her freshman year and is a business secretarial major; both are prerequisites for receiving the award.

Two scholarships were granted by the same group last year to Foothill students Diane Marche and Ruth Thor.

lighting to bring out the theme, "Stardust In Spring."

Dress for the evening will include dinner jackets or dark suits for the men and cocktail, formal or evening dresses and heels for the women.

PAT HARRISON and John Fecanin are co-chairmen of the dance. Jack Itakura and Paul Olsen are in charge of decorations. Lonnie Hampton is refreshment chairman.

Holland said, "The easiest way to find the Country Club is to go north on Bayshore and take the Hillsdale turnoff, continue along Hillsdale Boulevard turning right on Alameda De Las Pulgas, about two miles north you will see the Peninsula Golf and Country Club sign."

Deficiency rate up 12 per cent

Fifty per cent of Foothill's day students have received deficiency notices this semester.

The figures, released by Dean of Students A. Robert DeHart, indicate no appreciable decrease from last semester despite an enrollment decrease of 300 students. However, compared to deficiency figures released during the spring semester last year, the rate has increased 12%.

A correlation between the number of students receiving notices and the number sent out indicates an average of two notices per student. This figure was approximately the same last semester.

Deficiency notices indicate that a student is not achieving a C or better grade.

Students lauded at communications dinner; Vic Biondi receives top communications award

Vic Biondi, former KFJC-FM station manager, was named the Foothill College "Outstanding Mass Communications" student for 1961-62 at a dinner climaxing the college's annual mass communications workshop, April 10.

Biondi, 20, is now attending San Francisco State as a broadcasting major and working on a part time basis for one of the city's radio stations.

CO-SPONSORED BY the college's mass communications division and the press club, the workshop hosted journalism and speech students from the area high schools. Fred Critchfield, broadcasting instructor, conducted the all-day activity.

Awards were also presented to high school journalism and broadcasting students who were winners and runners-up in afternoon on-the-spot competition.

Five members of the Foothill Sentinel received awards for outstanding work during the past two semesters.

LARRY STAMMER, former Sentinel editor-in-chief, was selected as the best reporter. Stammer, outstanding mass communications student last year, held the editor spot in the fall.

Ed Smith, sports editor, won his second award for sports writing in three weeks as he was selected best sports writer for the college's newspaper.

Other awards going to Sentinel editors included Mrs. Lois Kirchner, best feature writer; Norm Starratt, best photographer; and Bill Floyd, best advertising man.

EIGHTEEN OTHER awards of recognition of work on the Sentinel and 11 awards for performances on the campus radio station, KFJC-FM, were also presented at the banquet.

VIC BIONDI

THE VEJS CLUB has offered to clean this car and any other for the nominal fee of one dollar. Promising a thorough job, inside and out, the car wash is scheduled for today between 9 and 4 in the stadium parking lot. Rodger Hudson, general chairman of the car wash, suggested that the students attending the Spring Formal at the Peninsula Golf and Country Club have their cars washed.

Beware of the sun

Fellow students, can you rally? Can you escape the fiery clutches of this evil force that is now trying to cast each of you into its burning wrath and subsequently melt from you every last ounce of resistance against it?

For once you have given in to this destructive ogre, you are lost. It's only reason for existence—as far as students are concerned—is to burn away your sense of what's right and wrong and to detour you from what you should be most conscious of: your studies.

Beware of the sun!

Now with just six weeks left 'til finals begin, can you resist this creature until it is safe to bask in its relaxing atmosphere? For surrendering at this time could mean minus grade points, angry parents and a bitter super ego.

It must be difficult waking in the morning and hearing surfboards calling in the distance. Is it hard to refrain from pouring the breakfast sugar on the kitchen table, because you just love the feel of sand? Does the bacon on your plate resemble water skis?

If any of the above instances or similar ones are plaguing you, then it's time to call on some newer defensive mechanisms, for the older ones are apparently all worn out.

We at the Sentinel have fashioned some revamped rules of resistance that to date haven't been tested, but like dieting schemes, are always worth trying.

No. 1—Walk around mumbling "I like Ike!" so all of your friends will think you've just "cracked" and won't bother to ask you if you're interested in cutting Psychology IA to go to the beach.

No. 2—Dress yourself up as Buster Brown, borrow the neighbor's basset hound and walk around school with a sign on your back reading, "I live in a shoe!" You shouldn't have to worry about questions this way.

No. 3—If being around people weakens your will power, stay at home. Just hang your swim fins on the front door below a sign reading, "This house quarantined; occupants have contracted surfing pox!" This keeps friends away.

No. 4—Drive to school with snow chains on your car. Wear a ski sweater and calypso pants to let friends know you're undecided as to which season you like best, and again they'll leave you alone with your "problem."

In answer to the above proposals, leave your replies in the Sentinel "Letters to the Editor" box, San Gregorio Beach, Santa Cruz.

College employees given 'permanency'

Forty-two faculty members and administrators were granted tenure at a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees.

"When a person receives tenure," explained Dr. H. H. Semans, dean of instruction, "his status changes from that of a temporary employee to that of a permanent one."

Explaining why the first list of recipients of tenure at Foothill is so large, Semans indicated that the college's Average Daily Attendance (ADA) is an important part in determining tenure. The first year's ADA was not high enough, so some of the people on the list are going into their fifth year of teaching at Foothill. "Normally, tenure is granted upon signing the fourth contract," Semans stated.

THE FOLLOWING people are

William Abbey, Melvin Applebaum, Nathan Boortz, Charles Crampton, Robert DeHart, Garth Dougan, Patricia Edgerton, Gale Engle, Tanju Ergil, Paul Evans, Robert Fellman and Ruth Anne Fish.

John F. Kennedy's new administration discussed by Childs

In his first fifteen months as president, John F. Kennedy has proved to be more of a leader "of maneuver than of commitment or rhetoric," Marquis Childs told an audience of 150 in the Foothill Auditorium, Tuesday night, April 10th.

In his speech, "Life on the New Frontier," Childs said Kennedy, like former President Eisenhower, "had a very high level of personal popularity, but that the problem was to translate this . . . into support for his programs."

Kennedy's preference, according to Childs, is not to take the programs to the people, but to apply his influence on people in power to attain his ends.

The experience which helped most to shape Kennedy's presidential philosophy was the Cuban invasion fiasco. Afterwards, Childs said Kennedy had told him "when you come into this office you presume certain people—like four-star generals—know what they are talking about. If there is one thing I've learned, it's that I have to trust to my own judgment."

Part of Kennedy's early problem, Childs remarked, was that he had to work with people he scarcely knew. Some, like Robert Macnamara, "Who is the hardest working man in the cabinet."

Kennedy has been drawn toward the center by the fact that most of his criticism has been from the radical right "but he prefers the middle-of-the-road position anyway," Childs said.

Childs further stated that, as president of the U. S. A., Kennedy is exceeded in power only by premier Khrushchev "and he has more responsibility. He must be ceremonial head of state as well as the chief executive. He has constitutional responsibility for conducting foreign policy and for being commander-in-chief of the armed forces."

In foreign policy, Kennedy has, so far, been his own "Secretary of State" Childs stated. He commended Kennedy for not rushing in to emulate the Russians in atomic testing.

"Many scientists and military men have stated we are still ahead in the arms race and that President Kennedy's patience may result in an acceptable test-ban agreement, the lack of which has been Kennedy's greatest disappointment so far."

Two clubs approved

Two new clubs recently granted charter approval by AOC and Student Council are the Christian Science Organization and the Deseret Club.

Both groups plan discussions, fellowship and speakers.

Christian Science officers are Ben Armstrong, president; Sody Nielsen, vice president; Nancy Cottle, secretary-treasurer and John Siegfried, reader. Clarence Mangham is adviser for the group.

Heading the Deseret Club are Murray Heimrich, president; Melodie Sundberg, vice president; Don Wilson, secretary and Tom Winegar, treasurer. Adviser is Fred Critchfield.

No hills to climb on 100-acre 2nd campus

BY LOIS KIRCHNER

There are no "cardiac hills" to climb on Foothill's second campus.

One hundred acres of level orchard land comprise the setting for the next campus in the district. This site is located south of Sunnyvale, between Cupertino and Monta Vista Fronting on Stevens Creek Road, it is bounded on the east by Stelling and on the south by McClellan Road.

HIGHLIGHT OF the property is an house odeled on Marie Antoinette's favorite place, La Petit Trianon. It is surrounded by extensive landscaping and faces a formal garden and swimming pool.

Other features of the site include a spacious five-room home, two guest cottages, a large barn and a producing prune and apricot orchard.

Known also as the southern or Stevens Creek Road Campus and as the Euphrat Estate, the property was purchased by the Foothill College Board of Trustees in October, 1959, eight months before ground was broken on the Los Altos Hills campus.

LOOKING TO THE future, the Board planned to be ready when the population boom in the area would make a second campus necessary.

According to Dr. Calvin C. Flint, Foothill College president, the second campus will not be developed as a supplement to the first—"It will be a totally separate, totally integrated campus with its own program.

As to the style of architecture, Dr. Flint said. "We feel this is an area where the architect must do the total planning. But we will strive for as fine a campus as the first one."

ERNEST J. KUMP and Masten and Hurd who designed the first campus, will be in the running for the contract on the second one. However, other architects will also be considered, according to William B. Cutler, assistant business manager.

Because of the honors awarded the first campus, the development of the second one should be interesting to watch.

The site was purchased from the E. F. Euphrats for $1,517,560. Payments extend over a 12-year period at the rate of $100,000 a year.

The contract contains an acceleration clause, which means payments may be speeded up and the District become sole

Dr. Jan Poppers to present concert; opera, folk music

A concert featuring the music of Dr. and Mrs. Jan Popper will be heard in the Foothill College Auditorium Sunday at 3:30.

The couple's presentation will feature German lieder, opera and folk music—in costume. The program is sponsored by Foothill College and is open free of charge to the public.

As a husband and wife team the Poppers gave 26 recitals throughout Japan, and sponsored by the U. S. Information Service, also took several flying trips into Southeast Asia, singing and playing in Hong Kong, Bangkok and Saigon. At the time, they held the role of American goodwill ambassadors.

Recently Dr. Popper has been named director of the Musical Arts Society of La Jolla, and in this capacity will conduct the La Jolla Chamber Symphony concerts this summer.

Dr. Popper has become known as a television personality with his series, "Spotlight on Opera." Some of his finer works include "Peter Grimes," a Stanford University production, and "Carmen."

"Any announcement of their coming is more than welcome news and guarantee of a delightful evening," said a Los Angeles critic recently. "Jan and Beta Popper are making friends for good music by the thousands," he said.

owner even sooner. Cutler said,

THE HISTORY of the estate goes back to the Civil War period, when it was the Beaulieu Winery, according to Mrs. Euphrat. The entry sign still bears the Beaulieu name "for historical reasons."

About 1890 the acreage was purchased by Charles Baldwin, who developed the orchard and built la Petit Trianon for his bride, Mrs. Euphrat said.

The property was later sold by Baldwin and changed hands a number of times before purchase by the Euphrats.

The Petit Trianon features arched French doors and windows, huge crystal chandeliers, curved interior doors with elaborate carving, very high ceilings, wood paneled walls and parquet floors.

There are three large rooms across the front with a sun porch, library, kitchen and two baths at the rear.

THE LIBRARY is an oval-shaped room lined with book shelves from floor to ceiling. It contains no windows—all light comes through a skylight.

According to Dr. Flint, this building may possibly be used as a district superintendent's office or as a faculty house.

He suggested that the guest cottages could be used as temporary housing by faculty members moving into the area.

Existing landscaping includes many fine trees and shrubs in a variety of species. Dr. Flint asserted, "Every touch of beauty will be preserved when the new campus is developed."

Owl tankmen annex league crown

VICTORY SMILE—Bob Benson smiles broadly as he completes the final lap of his national junior college record setting 440-yard freestyle victory. Benson, who also won the 200-yard individual medley and the 200-yard butterfly, was timed in 4:25.2 for the freestyle event, bettering Rowe of Long Beach City College who clocked 4:25.9 in 1960. All this action took place Friday and Saturday, April 13-14, in the Foothill College pool as the Owls tallied 231 points to win the 1962 Coast Conference swimming championships. Foothill, Vallejo nines lead race; Owls tackle Hartnell in twinbill there

BY ED SMITH

Coast Conference baseball club in the second division turn their attention toward upsetting the front runners this week when Foothill College header with winless Hartnell and Vallejo hosts also-winless Menlo in a single game this afternoon.

Both Foothill and Vallejo currently share the top rung of the league ladder with identical 7-1 records, however, second place San Jose City College continues to breath heavily down the necks of both clubs with a 6-2 mark.

IF BOTH Foothill and Vallejo survive this weekend's tests, the two teams will meet next Saturday on the Owl diamond for all the marbles—sole possession of first place and a good chance of the league championship.

Coach Bob Pifferini's crew, since the last edition of the Foothill Sentinel (April 6), has defeated Menlo, 19-2 and 13-1 and split with San Jose. The Owls ended a 20 league game winning streak that dates back to the start of the 1961 campaign when San Jose posted an unexpected 6-1 triumph.

However, Foothill rebounded in fine fashion thumping the Jaguars soundly, 20-6, April 13 on the winner's diamond.

By DAVE NEWHOUSE

Foothill College's power-packed swimming contingent, which literally re-wrote the record books April 13 in scoring an astronomical 231 points to cop the Coast Conference championship in the Owls' pool.

By virtue of its overwhelming performance in the conference meet—winning all 15 events and setting a new loop standard in each—Foothill is post time favorite for the Northern California junior college championships which began here today at 9:30 a.m.

Trials and finals will be held today and Saturday.

FOOTHILL'S "B.B." boys, Bob Benson and Bill Birch, led the assault on conference opposition with the former shattering one national junior college record and Birch tying another.

Benson, the meet's only triple-winner, swam the 440 yard freestyle in 4:25.2 to lower the national mark of 4:25.9 set by Doug Rowe of Long Beach City College in 1960. The versatile record-breaker set other conference and pool records of 2:07.8 in the 200 yard individual medley and 2:13.0 in the 200 yard butterfly.

Birch, one of Foothill's three double winners, fashioned a 50.1 in the 100 yard freestyle to tie the national mark set by Jerry Fredericks of Santa Monica last year. He clocked a 2:04.5 in the 200 freestyle for another conference record and first place medal.

MENLO WAS a distant second with 51 points, followed by San Jose with 46, Vallejo 12, Monterey 15, Cabrillo 6 and Hartnell 4.

Dave Snyder took the one and three meter diving championships and Benny Bendel won his specialties, the 100 and 200 yard breaststroke events, to account for Foothill's other double victories.

Lew Jamison, the ex-marine, swam a strong 23.0 to reap 50 yard freestyle honors.

IN THE backstroke competition, Bert Desmond and Mike Hewitt, switched first-second finishes. Desmond reached home first in the 100 in 57.4 and Hewitt garnered the 200 in 2:06.4, both record performances.

The Owls other Snyder, butterfly-man Art, won in 56.0 over the 100 yard distance.

The 400 medley and freestyle relay teams won their events handily. The freestyle foursome of Nick Roberts, Jamison, Hewitt and Snyder won in 3:28.2.

ON APRIL 11, the North Thornton crew tangled at the men's pool, San Jose State College, with the talented Spartans who made the Owls their 27th consecutive dual meet victim by a 51-44 score.

But the highlight of the meet was provided by the Owls who toppled the former national 400-yard freestyle relay standard of 3:25.2 by .9 seconds. Foothill's 3:24.3 time is now pending national recognition.

The relay quartet was composed of Art Snyder, Lew Jamison, Mike Hewitt and Bill Birch. Breakdown of individual times were Snyder 51.9, Jamison 50.5, Hewitt 52.5 and Birch a phenomenal 49.4. The old mark was established by Santa Monica in 1961.

INDIVIDUAL WINNERS were Bob Benson in three events, the 200 yard butterfly and individual medley and the 440 freestyle and Bill Birch in the 100 yard freestyle.

NorCal relays Saturday at Fresno

Washer sets record in triangle meet win

Once again Verne Wolfe isn't looking toward any team title but the experts may be surprised Saturday afternoon when Foothill College's track squad sets up shop in Fresno's Ratcliffe Stadium at 1 p.m.

The Owls have entries in the pole vault, broad jump, shot, discus and high jump field event competition.

VAULTER DAN WASHER (14-4 $\frac{1}{4}$) may provide the main attraction when he hooks up with Hartnell's Bill Huston (14-0 $\frac{1}{4}$) and Fresno City College's Dwayne Peterson (14-0).

Foothill's two-mile relay squad of Jack Parson (1:54.5), Bert Stringer (1:58.0), Al Chapman (1:58.9) and Charlie Oakley (1:51.0) has a dandy race on tap with College of San Mateo to highlight the running events which begin at 1:30.

San Mateo boasts a powerful team in Jim Groothoff (1:54.8), Sam Rutland (1:56.2), Dave Kamrar (1:57.7) and Ralph Lee (1:53.8).

FOOTHILL HAS a best of 7:45.6 for the event this season. Oakley rates as the nation's second-best JC half-miler and ninth in the U.S. overall. He also ranks in the top 15 880 list thus far this season.

Battle for the title shapes up among Foothill, San Mateo and College of Sequoias. Oakland JC is an outside pick.

The Owl spikers kicked off Easter vacation activities two weeks ago with triangular and double dual-meet wins over San Jose City College and Diablo Valley.

THE THREE-WAY battle saw Foothill with 87, Diablo with 35 and San Jose with 27. The Owls topped Diablo 89-33 and San Jose 91-29 in two-way activity.

Washer's school and stadium mark of 14-4 $\frac{1}{4}$ topped the field events. Russ Pierce's 49.6 440 and Oakley's effortless 1:51.0 880 were the best track marks, also setting school records.

Other stadium records were Mahoney Samuels' 22-6 broad jump; Clay Anderson's 6-4 $\frac{1}{4}$ high jump; Bill Strang's 24.9 low hurdles and Pierce's 22.4 220 on a straightaway for the Owls.

Competition under the lights at the May 5 Coast Conference championships will wind up action on the Grasstex track for the season.

Owl netters enter conference tourney

Foothill College's tennis squad ended its regular Coast Conference slate on a losing note April 14 dropping a 7-0 decision to Hartnell College on the winner's courts.

Coach Chuck Crampton's boys ended regular season play with a 3-4 record and will enter competition next Friday and Saturday at Vallejo JC in the conference tournament.

Bowling tournament at SV Bowl Sunday

Foothill's Physical Science Club will sponsor a bowling tournament Sunday at the Sunnyvale Bowl on El Camino Real in Sunnyvale, according to club advisor Richard Kent.

Teams may be entered in the "scratch" tourney on a mixed basis.

Entry fee, which includes bowling shoes, has been set at $4.50.

Menlo blanks Owl golfers

Coach Bill Abbey's Foothill College golfers will end a season of ups-and-downs May 14 when it takes part in the annual Coast Conference championships at Almaden Country Club in San Jose.

Foothill dropped a 15-0 decision to Menlo College Monday at the Stanford Golf and Country Club in Palo Alto.

AL PRYAL of Menlo copped medalist honors with a two over par 74.

Top scores for the losing Owls were turned in by Dick Goetz and Bill Cusack who shot 81 and 82, respectively.

Cusack, however, led the Owls to a 10-5 victory over arch-rival San Jose City College April 13 with a one over par 73 on the Palo Alto Hills Country Club course.

ABBEY'S CREW currently holds a 3-4 record for the season.

If Foothill manages to get through the conference meet, they will compete in the state tournament slated for Bakersfield on May 19-20.

UP AND OVER—Dan Washer clears the bar at 14-14 $\frac{1}{4}$ for best performance of the season in highlighting Foothill's triangular track and field meet win over San Jose City College and Diablo Valley.
