

Flint speaks out

CONCERNED — Dr. Calvin C. Flint, president of Foothill College speaks out on Wednesday's "bomb hoax." He termed the incident a serious matter.

Dr. Calyin C. Flint, Foothill College president, said Wednesday morning's bomb hoax was a danger to the community and a disservice to students.

The president told the Sentinel that he did not consider the incident a college prank but rather a serious matter because it hampered the education program.

Mountain View police detective, John Neal, said the false bomb reports were a federal offence and said the FBI was notified immediately. He termed such pranks "serious business." "This sort of thing takes valuable police officers and firemen away from duty when possible emergencies may arise," he said.

The Mountain View police were called and ordered the building evacuated as soon as they arrived. The fire-alarm bells rang out in the halls and students began leaving class, thinking it was a not so unusual fire drill.

Dr. Flint asked the co-operation of the Sentinel not to "play up" the story.

Sentinel editor-in-chief, Larry Stammer agreed and told the editorial board, "Newspapers have an obligation to print the news. But when the mass media can be used by a prankster for publicity, and when that publicity can well stimulate similar occurrences, then the newspaper's obligation lies in playing down the story."

Dr. Flint also plans to ask the co-operation of the local press.

Dean of instruction Dr. H. H. Semans said he did not believe the hoax to be the work of a Foothill student.

The hoax was the first in Foothill history. Local authorities said they have had no problems this year but last year several students were caught.

Dr. Semans told the Sentinel that the students co-operated very well with college authorities and he lauded their calmness.

Harrison president, victory by 16 votes

Herb Harrison squeaked into the president's office last week in the closest election recorded in Foothill's history.

The ASFC election not only was the closest, but saw the highest turnout at the polls—415 voters.

Harrison took an early lead in the returns as they came into the KFJC news center, which broadcasted the returns live. Although Harrison's lead never exceeded 16 votes, he held on to it and was named by the voters to succeed William Minney as president of the ASFC.

Barry Hunt was elected to the vice presidency by a wide margin of 107 votes. Both victors ran on the "Have Fun" party ticket which was formed this semester by Harrison and Hunt.

Harrison attributed his slim margin of victory to the "Have Fun" party which he said was established to increase school spirit and interest students in the election.

Miss Carleen Gieszl was elected secretary, while Pat Mundell was selected as commissioner of communications. Mundell's opponent, Gary Pagano, contested the election and after a recount; Mundell lost one vote and Pagano lost two. Final results showed Mundell topping Pagano by 11 votes.

Robert Lee is the new commissioner of finance and Clint Shoening is commissioner of activities.

Harrison's main campaign pledge was to eliminate some of the reserved parking spaces.

The President-elect said yesterday that he has already received permission to move ahead with his plan and added that the new executive council will meet during the semester break.

Harrison said, "We plan to live up to everything we said and plan to add a few more things that the students will approve of."

The new president reported that 50 per cent of the voters turned out to the polls. There are 920 eligible voters and 415 voted.

Board names Prentiss as new editor; succeeds Stammer on Foothill Sentinel

Stewart Prentiss was named the fifth editor-in-chief of the Foothill Sentinel Wednesday by the Board of Communications.

Prentiss will succeed Larry Stammer who has been editor for the past two semesters.

The new editor said he plans to initiate new methods of producing the Sentinel so that it will be unsurpassed by any other Junior College newspaper. In his letter of application to the Board, he said "The Foothill Sentinel will continue its fine representation of Foothill College."

Prentiss expressed the opinion that the Sentinel would receive an "All-American rating"—the highest possible award which is presented to college newspapers for their excellence, by the Associated Collegiate Press (ACP).

Prentiss served as assistant city editor of the Sentinel this semester and introduced new ideas to operation while serving in this capacity, according to Editor Larry Stammer.

Twenty years old, Prentiss attended the University of Missouri. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Prentiss of Los Altos.

Ed Smith, the present city editor of the Sentinel was appointed to the position of athletic news bureau chairman. Smith told the Sentinel that he has long been interested in sports and also plans to apply for the position of sports editor of the Sentinel.

Outgoing editor Larry Stammer said he felt confident that both men would succeed in their appointments.

may be honest don't underestimate their injunity."

Fellman, chemistry instructor, complained of students borrowing answers in lab. The instructor said with tongue in cheek, "I don't mind students in my chemistry lab copying their colleagues reports, but when they come up and ask me to help them read the hand writing, it's a little too much."

By this time, the council with their eyebrows raised found itself in a running debate as to whether the Foothill students were honest or not.

No one attempted to disagree and all found solace in the fact that no "payola" had been reported.

The committee lowered its eyebrows and adjourned the meeting.

300 students will not return due to failure

Dean of Students Arla L. DeHart predicted today that 10% of the student body will not return for the spring semester because of academic failure.

He explained this as a normal junior college percentage of failure because one fourth of the incoming freshmen are on scholastic probation and only half of these succeed in college.

DeHart said that approximately 300 or 400 students will not return in the spring for various reasons, but that there will be about 300 or 400 new students.

DeHart feels however, that when the new campus is available in the fall registration will increase.

"With the new campus I would expect registration to go up between ten and thirty per-cent in the fall," he said.

He expressed the belief that although what goes on within the classrooms should be the important things, unfortunately some people believe that the appearance of the classroom is what counts.

Presently Foothill College is getting 27% of the graduating seniors in its area, as compared to the national average for junior colleges of 24%.

Last day to work on Foothill paper

Today is the deadline for applications for editorships on the Sentinel for the spring semester. The positions of City Editor, Asst. City Editor, Photo Editor, Ad Manager, and News Editor, are open. Students interested in applying should see Stu Prentiss, editor-in-chief, before 5 p.m. today.

Any students not enrolled in journalism courses who would be interested in positions as Sentinel reporters should also contact Prentiss before 5 p.m. today.

A trophy, a tear, and a smile

Atkinson wins achievement award

Ann Atkinson was awarded a two foot trophy at the student council awards banquet Friday by the fall executive council in "appreciation for her work in student government."

Miss Atkinson, who was activity publicity chairman, was visibly moved by the presentation and appeared to be completely surprised. William Minney, ASFC president, presented the trophy in behalf of the executive council. Minney kissed Miss Atkinson on the cheek before a standing ovation of about 75 students.

Miss Helen Windham, physical education instructor, was awarded a pen set as the "outstanding club advisor."

The student council lauded her participation in activities, interest in students, and her "fine quality of leadership."

Awards were also presented to student council members for their participation in college government.

Arla L. DeHart, dean of students, was the guest speaker. DeHart reflected on Foothill past history and reminded veteran Foothill students of the highlights of the first year of the college's existence. DeHart then talked of the future of the college.

Guests from the College of San Mateo attended the banquet. Miss Nataue Strauss, president of the College of San Mateo said that CSM had been established for 34 years and Foothill had accomplished just as much in its two short years as CMS had in 34 years. "You look like you've been here a lot longer," she said.

ANN ATKINSON, an expression of delight on her face, receives an award for her participation in student government.

Pupils dishonest? no, but resourceful

By Larry Stammer

Students here aren't necessarily dishonest but their injunity for getting answers at test time "is not to be underestimated."

That's the startling conclusion of Foothill's newly formed College Council.

Reports of "under the table" agreements came before the wide eyed board as member after member told of "deals" on the campus.

James Jones, director of the student store said he overheard some students in the men's room approach a top student and ask that he not do his best on a test so that their grades wouldn't suffer. The A student reportedly agreed. "Maybe that's why he's an A student", Dean of students Arla L. DeHart suggested.

Jones said, "while they

Editorial . . . Looking back

Looking back on Fall, 1960, it is pleasant to observe that this semester will be marked in Foothill's history by one word—progressive.

It is good to see the progress that has been made since this college opened its doors in the Fall of 1958.

FROM A DREAM CONCEIVED 5 years ago, has risen a community college that is serving the public need. It is good to know that students are able to take advantage of the opportunities that Foothill offers.

The dream is not over. Next year at this time, students will have completed one semester on the new 10.4 million dollar campus in the El Monte Hills—a campus which won some of the nation's most coveted awards, and a campus that will offer students the finest possible education.

Nor do we believe the dream will end. But Foothill has an advantage over dreams. Dreams are usually only for fools, or, so it is said. But no one can deny the very tangible progress and giant strides accomplished by the Foothill Board of Trustees, the administration and student government.

THE TRUSTEES MOVED smoothly through the year and bids were awarded with little or no delay.

Foothill, too, has earned for itself, the respect of the community by adhering to high academic standards.

We know Foothill will continue to move forward. Although everything this newspaper feels deserves attention has not been successfully accomplished, the sheer number of successes far over shadows Foothill's short-comings.

WITH THIS IN MIND, Foothill College can pat itself on the back. This, we believe, won't break its arm, but simply acknowledges the fact that this college has done a good job.

Final examinations scheduled for ending fall semester, 1960-'61

Final examinations for the fall semester will begin next week on January 18. A schedule of regular examination dates follows: Faculty members will also mention in each class the hour and the day on which the examination will be given for that class. The schedule is:

Final examinations in a separate laboratory course will be held on the last day that the class meets in the semester.

In the evening classes, examinations will be given on regular days January 18 to 24.

If the lecture is scheduled beyond one hour, the first hour class meets, determines the hour the examination is scheduled.

Library expands; circulation up

Over 10,000 books have been acquired so far by the Foothill College library, according to Miss Elizabeth Martin, director. This is one-sixth the number that the library at the new campus has been designed to hold, she said, and another 500 volumes are presently on order.

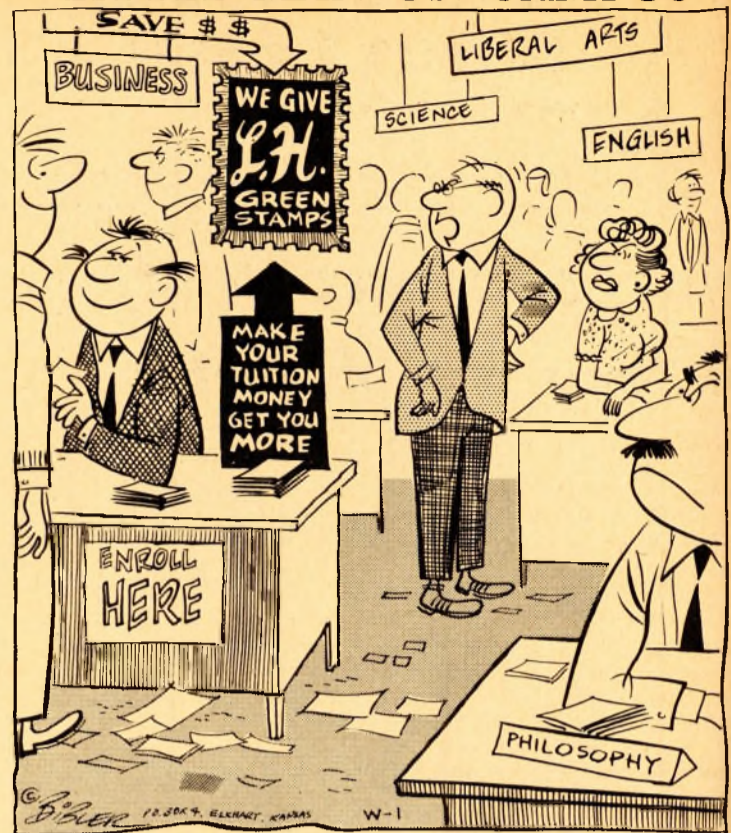

Expansion has been rapid in other areas also. Almost 100 new records have been added to the collection this semester, and there are over 1000 bound periodicals available.

"It's a good thing we have more volumes available," she said, pointing up the fact that circulation has almost doubled over the same time last year. In the first three months of the last school year 8,000 books were checked out, and this year to date some 14,100 have been checked out.

Use of the headsets for the record players has more than doubled this first three months over the entire preceding semester. Students using the recorded music, plays, and language records available in the library have checked out some 1800 headsets as against only 1500 all last semester.

"One of the new sets of volumes especially interesting to science majors will be the McGraw-Hill Encyclopedia of Science and Technology," she

Spillin' the Beans

By ED SMITH

This is the end, the end, I tell you. . .

Yes, believe it or not, your hot little hands are grasping the final edition of the Foothill Sentinel for the Fall semester. It brings a tear to my eye, but that's life.

Publication will resume February 10.

A lot of things happened over the holidays that might be mentioned. Some, I care to overlook honorably.

The Yuletide season brought about many joys as well as sorrows, but there also were confusing moments for others; for example, the day of the Christmas sing with the Foothill chorus. Everyone had taken their places and the music began to flow from their lily white mouths when in came Sharyn Rosenow, a tardy singer. Fred Warren, music instructor, went right on directing as Miss Rosenow tiptoed to the back row. Even without her for that short while, the music was fine.

It is in 15 volumes, and contains information from "Aberration, optical" to "Zoom Lens."

Miss Martin also mentioned one problem she would like the students to know about.

The students are keeping out too many books past the due date.

Fines may have to be reinstated if students don't make a habit of returning books on time.

What happened to the poster party at Pegi Wyatt's house for John Allen and Pat Mundell on December 30? It seems that our bright eyed Commissioner of Communications forgot about the get together and everyone wound up shooting the breeze at the local pub (Spivey's).

Since this column went down to the printers before last Friday's ASFC elections, I am unable to pat anyone in particular on the back, but congratulations to all of the new officers. Work hard kiddies, life is too short.

Thought the forum held last Thursday was very successful. Bill Minney, outgoing ASFC president and moderator of the hour long informal question and answer session, had things running smoothly. It gave the students a chance to see how candidates would react under fire.

Nivison first Foothill student accepted by professional school

It was a first in Foothill College history and "a wonderful Christmas present."

The present was a letter of acceptance to the School of Dentistry at the College of Medical Evangelists, and it means that 21-year-old J. Richard Nivison is the first Foothill student to be accepted by a professional school.

It also means the realization of a childhood dream for Nivison. Since grade school, when he had his own teeth straightened, he has wanted to be a dentist, in order to help other children as he was helped.

Nivison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Nivison of 59 Paso Robles Avenue, Los Altos, came to Foothill in its first year of operation, 1958-'59. Then a sophomore, he came to Foothill to obtain a background in mathematics and science. He says he is well satisfied with the instruction he received at Foothill, and remarked on the tremendous growth in the number of students.

He is now a senior at Pacific Union College at Angwin, California, and will enter the Seventh-day Adventist College of Medical Evangelists in the fall of 1961.

He intends to specialize in either oral surgery or orthodontics after his graduation with the DDS degree, but also has an obligation to serve in the armed forces at some future time.

RICHARD NIVISEN, former Foothill student, shows Olene Sparks his letter of acceptance to the College of Medical Evangelists school of Dentistry. Nivison will be the first Foothill student to attend a professional school and was one of fifty freshmen accepted to CME. (Photo by Prentiss)

The band played on

Tooters now a swinging thing

The history of Foothill's "wandering minstrels," the Foothill Dance Band, started with a quiet class of learning musicians in 1958.

The dance band, which was organized in the first semester of Foothill's operation, was originally intended to teach the individual instrument to each person, but soon developed into the present band.

Over its three year existence, the Foothill band has filled in as a pep band at football rallies and at football and basketball games. Likewise, the band has played at many outside activities such as high school dances.

The 1959-60 year saw the band send some of its members as a brass quartet to the Northern California Classical Music Festival. The same year the band also went to the jazz festival at the College of Marin where they took third place, and to the jazz festival at Monterey Peninsula College where they also did well.

This school year the band has played at the football games, for four outside groups over the Christmas holidays, and at the recent AOC dance on January 7.

Originally, there were only eight members to the band, but it is now twice as large. One of the original members of the band, who has been in the band for three years, is Bill Harper, a music major, who directs the band in practice. Jerry Powers is another original member of the band who is still around.

As Bill Harper points out, one certainly doesn't have to be a music major to play on the band. (However, a present applicant to the band is required to be familiar with an instrument to be eligible for membership.)

Although in class the band becomes familiar with all types of music, they try to put more emphasis on dance music than anything else.

The dance band is directed by R. Milton Stockton, instructor in Music.

Recruiting office opens in Mt. View

The Navy Recruiting Service has announced the opening of a new recruiting office at 704 Dana Street, Mt. View. Chief Richardson, recruiter in charge, said that the new office was opened in order to be closer and give better service to the people in Palo Alto, Los Altos, Sunnyvale, and Mt. View area.

The office hours will be 8:30 to noon on Saturdays. The telephone number is YO 7-5297.

Honors program now limits enrollment to 20

Foothill College will offer an honors program during the coming spring semester. The focus of the course is upon "Man's Search for Identity." The enrollment in the course will be limited to twenty students, who will meet with several faculty members for three hours every other Sunday evening from 7-10. Students will be selected for the program on the basis of interest, grade point average, faculty recommendation, and an interview by the College Honors Committee.

Relaxation after exams

FC Students plan holiday affair

Whether or not you are planning to be here for the spring semester, the Intramurals Council offers a chance for all students to relax after this one with a three-day ski trip to Dodge Ridge during the January semester break.

Students may, by signing up immediately, enjoy skiing, tobogganing, and an evening recreational program at Das Berghaus Ski Lodge, a private club, located right on the slopes. The cost is $17 for lodging, meals and transportation.

The planned attendance will be 86 students and four faculty members. Miss Windham, Miss Fish, Mr. Kent, and Mr. Fellman will be the advisers.

Tickets have been on sale for the past two weeks for the January 29, 30 and 31 trip, and sales will close on the 17th, according to Helen Windham, Intramurals advisor.

"Experience is not necessary," says Miss Windham, for lessons, as well as equipment are available at the lodge. Those participating will be covered by school insurance.

Bingo, dancing, and other entertainment is planned for the evenings.

JC BOWL RESULTS: Contrary to popular knowledge, the junior colleges, like the four-year schools, have their own post-season bowls.

The bowl that receives the most national attention is the Junior Rose Bowl in Pasadena. This season the West Coast's Long Beach City College (everybody's pick for the 1960 national junior college football champions) toppled Tyler Junior College, 38-16.

A crowd of 38,000 watched the 15th Junior Rose Bowl contest that saw Long Beach (10-0) completely dominate fumbling Tyler (12-1).

Previously unbeaten Hartnell College, Coast Conference champ, was upset in the Sequoia Bowl by the Fresno City College Rams, 22-16.

Not satisfied at having the national j. c. football champion, the West also walked off with the All American, All Star National Junior College Football Classic, besting the East, 25-16, at Albuquerque.

Other bowl scores were as follows: Everett J. C. 14, Boise J. C. 13 in Evergreen Shrine Bowl at Everett, Wash.; Pearl River 50, San Angelo 20 in Hospitality Bowl at Gulfport, Miss.; College of Sequoias 39, Palo Verde College of Blythe 12 in Olive Bowl at Lindsay, Calif.; Allan Hancock College

12, Riverside City College 7 in Orange Show Bowl at San Bernardino, Calif.; Oceanside-Carlsbad College 34, Taft J. C. 14 in Alfalfa Bowl at Lancaster, Calif.; and Bakersfield 50, Cerritos 28 in Potato Bowl at Bakersfield, Calif.

FINAL GRID RATINGS finds Long Beach City College at the top of the heap with a 10-0 record.

Three Coast Conference teams—Hartnell (8-1-1), Monterey (7-2) and San Jose (7-2)—placed 21, 23 and 24 respectively.

THE JUNIOR COLLEGE SPORTS 1960 All-America squad boasts five Coast Conference gridders: second team halfback Henry Kalma (Hartnell); third team guard Bob Scardina (Monterey); honorable mention tackle Mike Walsh (Monterey); honorable mention guard Leo Arrendondo (Hartnell); and honorable mention halfback Cass Jackson (San Jose).

ONE MORE Owl grider should have made the '60 conference selections. Dick Dalke, who made the '59 team, was a "shoe-in" for all-conference laurels in '60, but was out most of the season due to injuries and failed to repeat.

FOOTHILL'S last sports day offered added entertainment in the person of Foothill's Irish comedian and singer.

Competing on the volleyball team, Dave Spence, Foothill's Irish singer, added entertainment to the sports day as well as his skill to the volleyball team. Along with Mal Merwin, Ken Heintz, Ken Olds, Roy Newman, Becky Bartunek, Beth Welsley and Karen Williams, Spence helped the Owls win four of six contests.

THE LAST HOOT: Foothill College is the only junior college in California (and in a few other states, too) that can claim that "only intelligent athletes participate in intercollegiate sports." If you don't believe this statement, ask Owl football Coach Bill Abbey. (SIDENOTE: Nine players failed to show up for the year's final football game with San Jose City College. THE REASON: low grades.)

Owl bowlers enter Cabrillo tournament

Twenty of Foothill's top bowlers will compete in a Coast Conference intercollegiate bowling tournament sponsored by Cabrillo College on Feb. 4.

Twenty bowlers, ten boys and ten girls, from each school will compete for awards at the Watsonville Bowl in Watsonville, Calif.

The tournament, which will begin at 1:30 p.m. and end at 8:30 p.m., will cost entrants $2.50 each, but Foothill's fees will be paid by the college.

A perpetual team trophy, individual team prizes for members of the winning team, an individual top bowler trophy and top boy and top girl bowling awards will be given.

FC ski trip offers fun in snow for all

Sleeping bag and bed roll, towels, wash cloth, pillow, personal articles, warm clothes for three days, skiing equipment, guitars, banjos and ukuleles add up to fun in the snow for a few Foothill students.

Plans for the long-awaited Foothill ski trip sponsored by the Intramural Council are set and printed. All that remains is that participating students sign up and show up for the early 5:00 a.m. departure on Jan. 29.

The three-day (Jan. 29-31) ski trip to Dodge Ridge will offer Foothill students (besides skiing) the following recreation: ski films, dancing (piano available), bridge and chess, bingo (prizes) and community singing.

Foothill students will arrive at Dodge Ridge about 9 a.m. on Sunday, Jan. 29, and will arrive back at school at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 31.

Play Menlo away

Cagers open league tonight

Hoping to improve on last year's surprising fourth place finish, Foothill's "five" open their 1961 Coast Conference season tonight against Menlo in the Oaks' gym.

With the season half over, Foothill finds itself on the short-end of a 7-8 record (not including Wednesday's Concordia game). The Owls have posted wins over San Benito 73-31, San Mateo 68-61, Menlo 68-59, Chaffey 70-48, Oceanside 82-46 and Coalinga (twice) 80-57 and 58-55, while losing to College of Sequoia 82-61, San Jose C. C. 70-61, Hartnell 59-52, Contra Costa 84-82, Palomar 76-75, San Bernardino 67-49 and Oakland C. C. 62-53.

Tonight's Menlo match favors Foothill, but the Oaks could pull an upset if Clark Ransome or Sheldon Buch are hot.

In a pre-season contest in the Coast Conference Tournament Foothill played its starting five—Gary Chiotti, Jerry Hart, Gene Citta, John Tognoli and Norm Eliason—most of the game to top Menlo 68-59.

Following the Menlo encounter, Coach Chuck Crampton's Owls return home Tuesday to host Cabrillo in the year's first Coast Conference tilt at Los Altos High. In all, the "Scarlet and Black" have 15 games remaining, 14 league contests and one non-league match with San Benito. Seven of the 14 league games will be home games.

Despite hitting on only 22 of 60 attempts for a poor 37 per cent, Foothill topped Coalinga for the second time, 58-55, Saturday. It took a six-point spree in the last two minutes by Chiotti to pull the Owls from a 53-49 deficit to victory.

Five team race

San Jose, Monterey picked best

Who will win the '61 Coast Conference basketball race?

Off pre-season showings, the '61 race will see five clubs in contention. San Jose and Monterey are prime choices for the crown, while Foothill, Hartnell and Diablo Valley are the "dark-horses."

Defending conference and state champion San Jose took the Coast Conference Tournament in December and looks to be the class of the league again. Jim Padgett's Jags are headed by Walt Dixon, Al McKinney and Lymond Williams.

Headed by new coach Larry Cummins, Monterey has two lettermen—Jim Payne and Bill Hicks—back from last year's second place team.

Monterey depends on the shooting of 6-2 Mel Mason and the rebound strength of 6-8 center Mike Harris.

Don Montgomery and Lawson Maddox are the big guns for Diablo and Hartnell respectively. Diablo finished third in '60 with a 7-5 slate, while the Panthers placed last.

Top scorer Chiotti nears Owl record

Forward Gary Chiotti, presently the Owls' top scorer with 230 points, is but 51 points away from last year's Owl scoring record with half the season remaining.

6-5, 215-pound Chiotti owns a 15.3 average for 15 cage games, and should easily surpass last year's scoring record set by Gene Citta.

Citta led Foothill in '60 with 281 points and a 10.0 average in 28 games. John Tognoli followed Citta with 263 points and an 8.8 average.

| | TP | AVG |

| Chiotti | 230 | 15.3 |
| Tognoli | 130 | 8.7 |
| Citta | 125 | 8.3 |
| Hart | 112 | 7.5 |
