

Eight days equal big homecoming week

VETS CLUB PULLS—The Foothill Veteran's Club, being coached by Tom Siegle, is going to pull its hardest next Wednesday at noon when it opposes the Foothill faculty, headed by Calvin C. Flint, in the Vets Club sponsored tug of war. The tug of war is a part of the activities planned for Big Game Week. (Photo by Bob Rayl)

Showers for tuggers

Flint leads a lot of pull agin vets club

Dr. Calvi C. Flint, Foothill College president, will lead the faculty in a war against the Veteran's Club.

The faculty has accepted the challenge of the Veteran's Club men in a tug of war over a pit of mud. The contest will be held on Wednesday, November 25, at 12 noon across the street on Centre Ave.

This contest is being planned as one of the big activities in conjunction with Foothill's first "Big Game Week."

Rules for the contest include:

1. Contestants must hold onto the rope until defeated.
2. Footwear is required. No football, baseball, track or shower shoes are allowed.

Additional rules will be printed in Footprints and on a poster.

It was suggested that contestants be well covered for protection and wear old clothes in case of a muddy defeat.

Showers will be available after the contest for participants in the men's locker room.

Sentinel rests, also

There will not be an edition of the Sentinel next Friday.

The Sentinel is not published during holidays or vacations. The next edition will appear on campus December 4.

The Sentinel wishes every member of the student body a happy Thanksgiving!

Bonfire to burn San Jose's Jaguar; queen and Snarf to watch barbecue

San Jose City College Jaguars will be burned in effigy at the Foothill Bonfire Rally before the game on Wednesday, 6:30 p.m.

Footsie will have the honor of throwing a torch to light the fire starting the ceremony. The Homecoming Queen and her attendants will reign over the activities. Other celebrities will be Professor Snarf and the Ugly Man of the campus.

Yell leaders, pom pon girls and the Pep Band will be present to lead the rooters in yells and new songs.

One of the new songs will be, "When the Owls Come On The Field," to the tune of "When The Saints Come Marching In."

These are the lyrics of the song:

Oh when the Owls come on the field,
You will hear a big hurrah.
Hurrah!
And we'll cheer with all our might,
So come on Owls Fight,
Fight, Fight!

(Song courtesy of Judy Manheimen)

The bonfire will be built Tuesday afternoon on the football field by the Veteran's Club. The Vets will guard it from pranksters. The Mountain View Fire Department will be on hand to watch for hazards and to put it out.

Rally committee cancels rallies

No more rallies! This was proclaimed as the Rally Committee's policy in future spirit booster campaigns by Garth Dougan, their faculty advisor.

At a meeting in Dougan's home, the Rally Committee discussed its future activities and policies as to its responsibility concerning the school and the students. They now plan to spend their efforts working on halftime activities in the coming football and basketball games.

Lack of student attendance at the rally assemblies and poor support for the Rally Committee have been responsible for the setting of this policy.

Lantos to speak at noon about trip behind curtain

Dr. Thomas Lantos, Hungarian born freedom fighter, will speak today at noon in the Student Court.

His lecture will be about his trips behind the Iron Curtain and in the Far and Middle East.

Dr. Lantos, who is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, has made a number of films for educational television stations.

Combo, red and black featured at dance

Students wearing red and black when they come to the last after game dance of the football season next Wednesday night will be able to save a nickle.

The sophomore class, headed by Bill Keahey, is sponsoring this dance. The affair will be held after the San Jose City College game and will take place at the S.F.V. Hall on Evelyn in Mountain View.

For the unfortunates who are not wearing red and black there will be a nickel fine. For those who are improperly dressed, this includes shorts for all and slacks on girls, the admission will be $1.00.

However, if you're properly dressed the price, with student body card will be 40 cents stag and 50 cents a couple. Girls must also wear sweaters.

Music will be provided by the Sal Carson Combo. Added attractions will be rock 'n roll singer Mike Maffay, and a special female vocalist.

"For the pause that refreshes," cokes will be served.

Homecoming dance to star queen

Campus queen elected today

Voting for Foothill's first Homecoming Queen is taking place in the main hall from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. today. Pictures of all candidates may be seen on page three.

The winner will be crowned tonight by Coach Bill Abbey at "Goal Post Swing," a dance which will be sponsored by the freshman class. She will be presented with a bouquet of flowers by the Owls' quarterback, Bill Munson, who will be introduced together with the entire football team. Entertainment will also include singing by the Goetz Brothers.

The dance is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. at the Palo Alto Community Center and will end at midnight. Dress will be dressy sport.

Refreshments will include coke and hot coffee. Guests may come stag or drag.

Bids will be sold at the door only and the price will be 75 cents per couple. One member of each couple must show a student body card. Stags with a student body card will be charged an admission price of 50 cents.

Invitations have also been extended to all faculty members.

Executive Council members attending Student Government Association meet

Five Foothill College Executive Council members are attending the fall convention of the California Junior College Student Government Association in Oakland on November 19, 20, and 21.

Four junior colleges are host for the convention.

They are Modesto Junior College, Diablo Valley College, Contra Costa College, and Stockton College.

Highlights of the conference will be two dances, Thursday and Friday nights. Playing at Thursday night's dance will be Ben Metzler and his band. Herb Miller's orchestra will perform at the Friday night dance.

Delegates will attend workshops, where campus problems will be discussed. From these workshops will come the resolutions to be discussed at the general assemblies, to be held Friday evening and Saturday morning.

Attending the conference from Foothill will be Bill Wiedman, ASFC president; Tom Fagundes, vice president; Miss Lynne Dykes, acting ASFC secretary; Bill Oxendine, commissioner of activities; and Jim Johnson, commissioner of communications.

The Owls will carry some experience to the conference. Only Johnson has attended a state conference in the past. Wiedman, Fagundes, Miss Dykes, and Oxendine have attended one regional conference.

Prof. Snarf to be announced Monday; cigarette butt votes determine winner

Foothill's Professor Snarf will receive a cartoon depicting himself at an open meeting of the Student Council next Monday.

The candidates were instructors Garth Dougan, Benson Ellis, Pieter Roest, and William Wagner.

Voting took place Wednesday and yesterday. The winners will be announced Monday at the council meeting when Dick Bibler, originator of the 'Little Man On Campus' series presents the oversize cartoon.

Professor Snarf will lead a yell at half-time during the big game next Wednesday.

He will dance with the Homecoming Queen at the after game dance.

Voting was conducted in a rather unusual manner. Voters placed a whole cigarette in their chosen candidate's jar for one vote, a half, or butt for one half vote.

Filters did not count, according to the Political Science Club.

Owl team walks off for Alma Mater

"Patriotic talk is no proof of patriotism. Anyone can wave a flag. The real patriot lives his patriotism in everything he does."

This quotation by Maj. Gen. John M. Devine not only applies to national patriotism but to Foothill College patriotism as well.

Our football team shows its loyalty by its fine sportsmanship and skillful playing for Foothill under the guidance of an excellent coach.

But to most spectators who cheer for the opposing team, these virtues are not quite so conspicuous. Instead, they may see just the opposite when the team tromps off the field, disregarding the Alma Mater.

Since the student body is expected to stay for the school hymn, why shouldn't the team? Are they privileged?

The Sentinel is not criticizing the team's fine job of representing the college. We simply feel that the team should also display spirit and pride along with the balance of the student body by singing the college song.

In all probability, this practice would not only add to the college spirit, but to the team's morale as well.

It is the expressed hope of the Sentinel that someone take action on this matter. It is not something that should be set aside or forgotten about.

Editor's comments

Dress code? Bermudas still mode

WHO DAT—WHAT DIS? At one of our "pep rallies" awhile back a song girl came trotting up to a fellow song girl and calmly asked, "What is this?" The other replied point blank, "A rally I guess." Anybody know for sure?

GOOD SHOW PRO. When good ole Charlie Henderson, Sentinel photo ed., took off to take some shots of queen candidate, Jill Papenhausen, he was accompanied by a crew of on looking well wishers. At least we think that's what they were! Don't you get it Charlie, they just like to watch you work, you old dog you.

HALF CLAD 'N MAD. Since the dress code has supposedly gone into effect, little has been said, seen or heard. Hold it, correction. Nothing has been said or heard except for one 350 pounder who runs up and down the halls in ivy shirt, neat pleat Bermuda shorts and sandals with socks yet. Jack Ruch, you are a picture of determination.

NEXT STEP, PAPER DOLLS. Dr. Joan Seavy, associate dean of students, could be seen drawing cartoon characters of the various Student Council members during the November 12th meeting. A little too much time in the basement. Bad air, you know.

BAFFLED BUNNY. Jim Johnson, commissioner of communications, evidently did the impossible a couple of weeks back. He crossed Bunny Shaw's (vice president in charge of coffee breaks, part time switch board operator) wires. How you ask? Simple, he phoned Foothill College from Foothill College. All clear? Next.

WEEKLY MOTTO. Thanksgiving just doesn't seem like Thanksgiving this year. Anybody have an old can of cranberries?

Eminent orators talk at F.C.

"Hot Spots South of the Border" is the subject on which Dr. Thomas Lantos will lecture today.

According to The Reporter, Dr. Lantos, a lecturer, economist, and professor at San Francisco State, has the unique combination of outstanding professional training and personal background, making him a stimulating interpreter of world developments."

Born in Budapest, he was in the forefront of anti-Communist political activity in Hungary in the early postwar period. After leaving his native land he went to France, and then came to this country.

His academic training began at the University of Budapest, continued at the University of Paris and the University of Washington where he received his master's degree. He then earned his doctor's degree in the field of international economics at the University of California.

Since 1948, Dr. Lantos has been on the faculty of the University of Washington and San Francisco State College. He was Associate Director of the Economic Education Conference at Mills College and has given training courses for officers of the United States Army and Air Force in economics and international relations.

The work of Dr. Lantos in the field of educational television has received national acclaim and recognition. His top award-winning series, "The American Economy," has been kinescoped for national distribution by the Education Radio and Television Center.

He has traveled widely on several continents. As a television news analyst, he made two extended journeys during the past year to the Far and Middle East and behind the Iron Curtain. He has interviewed statesmen and leaders the world over for NBC television stations.

At the present time, Foothill's assembly schedule for the school year includes four noted speakers.

"Time-Motion and Organization," will be presented by

Literary mag to contain writings of students

Foothill's literary magazine is due to be published sometime this spring by the mass communications division.

"... It will be of high literary quality, the best Foothill can produce," says Tom Earley, the literary editor of the Writing Roundtable.

Advisors Melvin Applebaum and Mrs. Mary Mains urge students to submit their writings to any English teacher or to Tom Earley's box. Applications for fiction editor, poetry editor, and non-fiction editor are open.

Dr. Boortz ponders transportation

Transportation procurement and supply might become a new pilot curriculum at Foothill.

The advisory committee, which consists of some local businessmen, Dr. Nathan Boortz, director of technical education at Foothill, and one delegate from the society, has applied for federal assistance of $1,350. The money would be used to cover the cost of research and instruction for at least one course.

Courses listed under transportation, include: transportation economics, principles of trade and transportation management, marketing, elements of interstate commerce—laws and regulations.

A transportation graduate can become a co-ordinator of transportation, operations manager, or a free maintenance manager.

According to Dr. Boortz the course might be split into two majors, one being transportation and the other procurement and supply.

Queen, ugly man highlight week

Two dances, a queen, a bonfire rally, a professor Snarf contest, an ugly man contest, and two fashion shows are the highlights of homecoming week which is now in full swing.

The two dances mentioned are planned for Friday, Nov. 20th and Wednesday, Nov. 25. They are being sponsored by the Freshman Class and Sophomore class respectively.

Plans for the bonfire rally have been changed. It will now be held on the 25th immediately before the game, and not on the 20th, as was reported by the Sentinel last week. It will still be held in the parking lot at the end of the football practice field.

The Professor Snarf contest was sponsored by the Political Science club. The voting ended Wednesday but the winner will not be announced until the 23rd, next Monday. Voting was handled in a unique manner. Gallon jars were set up and cigarettes were placed in the jar of the candidates choice. A whole cigarette counted as one vote and a butt counted as half a vote. The winner will be announced and honored at an open student council meeting in the library Monday. Professor Snarf will lead a yell at half time of the game.

Voting for ugly man began Wednesday and will continue until next Tuesday. The winner will be announced during the half time activities of the big game.

A special fashion show for the queen candidates was held in the student union on the 18th.

Various clubs are sponsoring candidates for homecoming queen. Candidates and the clubs sponsoring them are as follows:

Sandy Wiedman, a freshman sponsored by the French club.

Patti Whitmore, sponsored by the Political Science club. Patti is also a freshman at Foothill.

Ann Atkinson, a 19 year old freshman sponsored by the Drama club.

Margo Eckert, a freshman sponsored by the Riding club.

The Folk Song club is sponsoring Janet Stormer, a freshman at Foothill

Karen Williams is being sponsored by Alpha Gamma Sigma. Karen is a Freshman

The Writing Roundtable and the Philosophy club are jointly sponsoring Maureen Quinn, a freshman.

Shirley Melhouse is being sponsored by the Sophomore class. Shirley is the only Sophomore running.

The Press club's candidate is Jill Papenhausen, a freshman at Foothill.

Lynne Dykes is being sponsored by the Freshman class. Lynne is a freshman.

The Veterans club has nominated Donna Cormack, a freshman, to represent them.

Carol Smith is the Ski club's candidate. Carol is a freshman, also.

UGLY MEN — Pictured are the candidates for the "Ugly Man" contest. Voting began last Wednesday and will continue until this Tuesday. Names of the candidates will not be printed because voting will be based on appearance only.

Owls meet league leading Jags for "Big Game" Wednesday

In their final outing of 1959, the Foothill Owls collide with the San Jose City College Jaguars in the "Big Game," Thanksgiving Eve at Fremont Diesner's Field.

This Wednesday's Homecoming game, which will get underway at 8 p.m., will pit the fifth place Owls against the other hand, trails its opponents in points scored, 92-73.

San Jose has beaten Menlo 25-12, Diablo Valley 30-6, Hartnell 13-6, and Monterey 20-18. The Jags' only loss came at the hands of Vallejo last week, 34-14.

The Jaguars' offensive machine is sparked by quarterback Jim Capurso's passing and fullback Ken Buran's running. Myron Zacheo, who shares quarterback duties with Capurso, is a doubtful starter. Zacheo and Capurso make a potent passing combination.

Zacheo starred in the Monterey game hitting 10 of 14 passes for 149 yards, while Capurso showed bright in the Menlo win passing for 116 yards and a touchdown. Lee DuFreise is the third string quarterback. Buran, who totaled over 200 top-ranked Jags. San Jose, which is tied with Monterey Peninsula College and Hartnell College for first place in the Coast Conference, has a 4-1 league slate.

No matter what the outcome of the game is, Foothill, 2-3 in league play, can't drop any lower or rise any higher than fifth spot. A loss for the Jags, however, would throw San Jose's chances for the championship and a Junior Rose Bowl bid out the window.

Hartnell, leading defensive squad in the Coast Conference, and Monterey, top offensive team, will settle half the question of the Coast title tomorrow night at Monterey.

Fred Silva's squad, which was unbeaten before the Vallejo upset Saturday, has racked up 102 points as opposed to 76 for the opponents. Foothill, on the yards in rushing at the Hartnell game, is the club's top ball carrier. Halfbacks Mike Ruiz and Ron Corbus are San Jose's other top ground gainers. Dan Munoz, Arnold Bernoia and Jim Zamlich, three able reserves, supplement the Jags' fine rushing attack.

San Jose's possible starting lineup will have Dan Landes and Quaid at the ends; Ron Blanco and Tom Burke at the tackles; Fred Esparza and Tom Myers at the guards; Don Jackson at center; Capurso at quarterback; Corbus and Ruiz at the halves; and Buran at fullback.

The Owls, whose offense has collapsed in the past two contests, have found themselves with little rushing and all passing of late.

Going into its final game, Foothill trails its opponents in first downs 119 to 113, in rushing yardage 1,335 to 1,189, and in total offense 2,088 to 2,087.

The "Scarlet and Black" leads only in passing 898 to 753 and in pass interceptions 13 to 8. Two games before, Foothill led its opponents in all five categories.

The Owls' ground attack is led by Jim Brown. Brown is the top yard-getter with 336 yards in 97 carries for a 3.5 average. The bruising fullback is also the squad's top scorer with seven touchdowns for 42 points.

Cameron Dale, who has netted only 24 yards in the past three matches, is the second top rusher with 330 yards in 70 attempts and an outstanding 4.7 per carry average.

Right half Dennis Mateo, who has recently been a top performer in the Owls' backfield, has hung up 219 yards in 55 rushes.

Bill Munson, Coach Abbey's talented signal-caller, leads the team in offense, connecting on 61 out of 127 passes for 866 yards and six touchdowns.

Hartnell's defense puts clamp on Owls; Panthers shut out Abbeymen 26-0

After playing a scoreless tie for nearly three quarters, the Owls were hit for four quick touchdowns to drop a 26-0 decision to powerful Hartnell, at Salinas Saturday.

Hartnell College showed a rock-ribbed defense and a powerful ground attack.

The Panthers' defense, which has now allowed only six touchdowns in eight games, made the Owls their fifth shut-out victim of the year. Guard Don Rohrke (170), center Gino Stefanini (215), and tackle Mike Porter (220) were Panther standouts on defense.

Rohrke, light and fast, was all over the field for Hartnell. The speedy guard set up Hartnell's first two touchdowns by blocking a punt and causing an interception.

Halfbacks Chris Machado and Roy Hanna and quarterback Jerry Kanada were the Panthers' big guns on the offensive side. Machado led the rushers with 80 yards in 19 carries to pace Hartnell's rushers to 382 yards on the ground.

Munson, who had four passes intercepted, led Foothill on offense, completing 11 of 29 passes for 99 yards.

Hartnell broke the deadlock between the clubs with a touchdown midway through the third period. Vern Horton registered the first tally by picking off a Munson flat pass on the Owl 30 and prancing the remaining yards for the score.

The "game-turning play" came about when Munson, in the act of throwing, was hit hard by the on-charging Rohrke. Horton then stepped in front of the intended receiver, Paul Cook, to pick off the weakly tossed aerial.

Rohrke set up the second Panther score by blocking a punt on the Owl 33. Six plays later Hanna banged across for the score. Brad Tomasini kicked his second conversion good to give the Panthers a 14-0 lead.

Hartnell's two fourth quarter scores came on marches of 63 and 97 yards. The first drive took nine plays with Mike Curran booming over from the two for the six points. The 97 yard march, which was sparked by the passing and running of Kanada, took 14 plays with Kanada scoring on a one yard plunge.

Owl cagers open against Oakland

Foothill College opens its basketball season December 1 when the Owls meet Oakland City College on the Merritt Campus.

Oakland City College is in the Big Eight Conference. The 9-5 conference record last year is not an accurate measurement of the team's potential. Injuries to key players plagued the Oakland squad the entire campaign.

Returning from last year's team are Le Von Patton, 5'11" guard; Ron Nelson, 6'5" center; Jim Hatchet, 6'4" center; and Pat Reilly, 6'7" center.

A number of freshmen with outstanding high school records are Charles McKinney, 5'10" guard; Wendel Hayes, 6'2" forward; and Sol Wheat, 6'2" forward.

The Foothill Owls, coached by Charles "Chuck" Crampton, are starting their first year of intercollegiate basketball. Crampton says that the team is young and inexperienced, but is working hard.
