ASFC President in profile

Chapman takes hold

By BRADWELL SCOTT
Sentinel Staff Writer

Rich Chapman, newly elected ASFC President, has described himself as a moderate; but one with definite intentions for the new semester.

In an interview with the SENTINEL, Chapman indicated that he supported the causes of former ASFC President Jon Buckley (specifically, the dress code matter), but thought that Buckley could have improved his diplomatic relations with the administration. He described Buckley as "often too pushy and impulsive." He pointed out further that "you can push and shove your way into ruining your own cause," and offered the Berkeley demonstrations as an example.

"However," said Chapman, "he (Buckley) had an effective way of defending students' rights." This, Chapman emphasized, will be the prime concern of his administration.

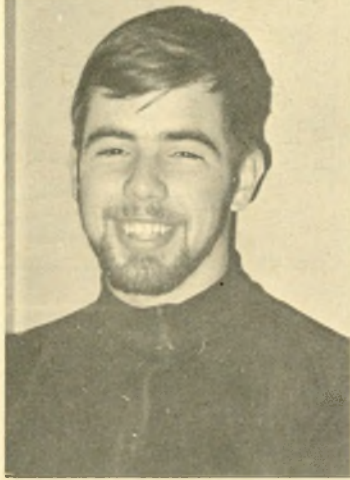

Chapman recalled old issues in the past semester, including the recruiting officers on Campus, and said: "All organizations will be welcome on Campus — including military officers, Vista representatives, EOC, etc." If there is disapproval of a certain group coming on Campus, then final sanction will come from the students, not the administration.

When asked what specific changes will be sought in Foothill's constitution, Chapman related four major propositions that he hopes to push through:

- (1) Making Foothill independent from De Anza in sponsoring film festivals, and generally keeping us "separate from De Anza in public events."
- (2) Proposition to give all six executive council officers stipends of $50 per month.
- (3) Making Foothill the center for the project of lowering the voting age in the United States.
- (4) Creating a "faculty evaluation" booklet, that would inform unfamiliarized students about how the various instructors conduct their classes.

Revealing his "liberal tendencies" as he called them, Chapman denounced past administrative positions which have stated that Foothill should conform to the standards of the community. He stated, "We will lead the community. We don't want the community to lead us." He observed that this was the foremost principle which he and Buckley agreed upon fully.

New officers plan ahead

Along with newly elected ASFC President Rich Chapman, Vice-president Don Manthey, Commissioner of Communications Jeff Waxman, and Commissioner of Activities Tom Gaines have been making plans for the spring semester.

Vice-president Manthey is in his fourth semester at Foothill. Last semester he was president of the Experiment in Education and the Experiment's representative to AOC (Associated Organizations Council).

As Vice-president, Manthey will be head of AOC. He explained that one of his main objectives will be to explain to the AOC exactly what their responsibilities are.

The AOC is made up of representatives of each club on Campus. It is the Council's duty to approve new clubs and activities. Manthey stated that there is a need for the AOC to fully realize the responsibility that they have to the student body.

Jeff Waxman is returning for his second semester as Commissioner of Communications. He stated that one of the Board's first jobs will be to appoint an editor for the Fairly Free Thinker.

The Board will also be receiving financial reports from the various media on Campus and considering the new budget for the mass media.

Waxman finally said that he would like to see some improvement on the Sentinel, more communications on Campus and more harmony between the Sentinel and student government.

Commissioner of Activities Tom Gaines is a second semester freshman. Last semester he was treasurer of Circle K and the Circle K's representative to AOC.

Gaines said that he is trying to get more dances and student participation. He said that there are many dates left open for dances and that any club that would like to sponsor a dance may contact him.

Gaines also said that at present help is being given to the Alumni Association and their spring concert. Some changes are also being planned for the Spring Formal.

Hog-dance tonite

Ground Hog Day Dance, an event to welcome new students at Foothill will be held in the Auxiliary Gym tonight from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. "Crutches of Uncle Celestia," a widely-known band at Foothill will play at the occasion.

The dance is sponsored by the social committee of ASFC. Such dances are held every semester to welcome new students.

Miss Demitra Georgas, dean of student activities, said that the dance provides an opportunity for new students to get acquainted with other students. Student tickets are 50 cents. Non-student tickets are 75 cents.

Students selected for bank award

Two Foothill students have been selected to represent the College in the Third Annual Junior College Man and Woman of the Year - Bank of America Award.

Jon Buckley and Judith Zimmerman were selected from eleven applicants at Foothill to compete in an area competition on Feb. 21. The area competition will include contestants from eleven junior colleges in the Bay Area.

All applicants for the award are required to meet certain criteria including completion of 30 units or more with a 3.0 grade point average, evidence of successful participation and leadership in college activities and in services benefiting the college and community, and a statement indicating aims and objectives upon completion of formal education. Applicants also are interviewed for about a half hour by the judges, according to Richard Henning, area coordinator for the competition.

Students who compete in the area contests but don't win will receive $50 awards. The two winners from each area will go to the State finals to be held in Fresno April 8. Runners-up in the State finals will receive $100. Winners will receive $1000 cash awards.

William Jones recital tonight

Pianist William Corbett Jones will appear tonight in the De Anza College Forum building at 8:15 p.m.

Jones' appearance at the new college in Cupertino is another presentation in the recital series sponsored by the De Anza and Foothill Office of Community Services.

Since his debut in 1953 at the San Francisco Museum of Art, Jones has toured extensively in the United States, Canada and Europe as a recitalist and concert soloist. Recent tours have included highly successful concerts in Amsterdam, Athens, Brussels, Bucharest, Cologne, Hamburg, London and other European cities.

For three years he was recipient of the coveted Alfred Hertz Memorial Scholarship from the University of California.

Selections for the De Anza College recital include three sonatas by Scarlatti, Sonata in D Major, K-576 by Mozart, Intermezzo in F Minor, Op. 118, No. 4 by Brahms, Rhapsody in E Flat Major, Op. 119, No. 4, also by Brahms, several selections by Debussy, and Chopin's Impromptu in F Sharp Major, Op. 36 and two Chopin Etudes.

Tickets at $2 for the general public will be available at the door or by contacting the Foothill College Box Office, 948-4444 or the De Anza College Box Office, 257-5550.

Flicks to roll

The first of a series of films to be presented this semester will be shown tonight in the De Anza College Choral Building at 8 p.m.

"The Brig" concerns a grueling day in a Marine Corps prison. It is filmed and edited by Jonas Mekas. The other film, "Jonas in the Brig," is a behind the scenes glimpse into the art of film-making.

The seventh annual Community Film Series is presented by Foothill and De Anza in hopes of bringing "representative motion pictures from many countries of the world for your entertainment."

Admission is free to students and 75 cents to the public.

Five-finger discounts attained by "pilfering" FC students

Campus police guard against shoplifting.

"It's an American way of life," shrugged Mrs. Nell Twombly, assistant manager of the Foothill College Bookstore.

In the light of recent local and national reports, her judgment on the activity called "shoplifting" may be right.

According to Foothill College Bookstore Manager Vernon Paulsen, losses due to what he prefers to term "pilferage" last year totaled around $6500. "That was approximately one per cent of our gross," said Paulsen.

Campuses other than Foothill's have also been infested by sticky-fingered students. Said Paulsen, "the California Association of College Bookstores uses a figure of 1 to 1 1/2 per cent for annual losses."

A recent front page article in the Wall Street Journal, reported that shoplifting is presenting serious problems at Yale, Harvard, San Jose State and other universities and colleges throughout the country.

According to that article, "males and females are proportionately represented among offenders . . . as are students with high and low grades and undergraduate and graduate students."

Is the problem any worse now than it has been in the past? The Wall Street Journal feels it is, and, accordingly, headlined its article, "University Bookstores Suffer Rising Losses From Student Thefts."

But Foothill's Paulsen feels pilferage in his store has gone down. "We decided to try a change last summer by having the cash registers face into the store and this seems to have discouraged much of the pilferage," he said.

Besides this, Paulsen tries to instruct his employees to discourage students before they actually do any pilfering. This is done by having the store personnel stick close to obvious shoplifters.

The collegiate thieves are especially fond of the drug counter in Foothill's store, reports Mrs. Twombly, "And the textbooks," added Paulsen.

Which product?

How many dissatisfied car owners are there in the student body? At least one student has the courage or (?) to express his remorse in capital letters. However it is worth contemplating what would have happened if he had bought the other product. Would the other product have received positive or negative letters, or would the paint have been left unmarked?

Students choice

Yesterday ASFC Council was scheduled to take action on Choice 68 to decide whether Foothill would participate. Indications were that Council's approval was assured. If it was approved, the Sentinel commends Council for its decision.

There are nearly seven million students enrolled in U.S. colleges and more than 70 per cent of them are under 21 and unable to vote. This year a presidential primary will be held on April 24 on college and university campuses across the nation under the auspices of Choice 68.

Choice 68 will give these students an opportunity to express their political maturity and responsibility. Also, by indicating their choice for president, they might give professional politicians some food for thought.

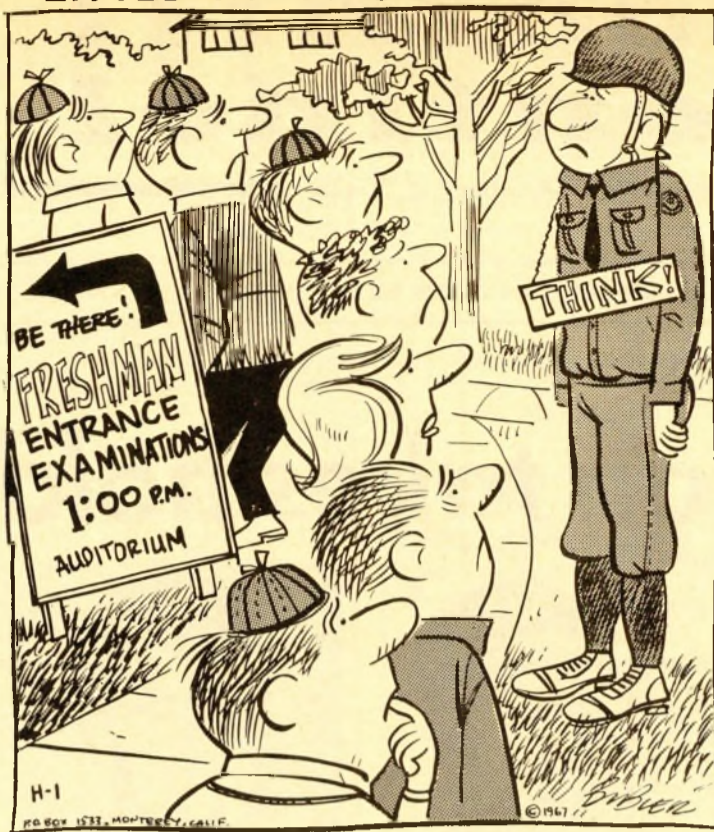

Robert Harris, former student body president of Michigan State University, is originator and Executive Director of the program. Harris, working with and through student leaders, released results of the first round of activity in December. Over 200 major colleges in the 50 states representing over two million students showed an outstanding 99 per cent favorable response to Choice 68.

While costs of Choice 68 are being paid by Time, Inc., planning and conducting of the primary will be done by students on the various campuses. Assisting the many colleges by designing the ballot, establishing guidelines for the primary and providing overall leadership and direction is an eleven-member Board of Directors comprised of student leaders representing several different regions of the country.

In its informational prospectus on Choice 68, the Board explained the philosophy behind the idea this way: "Never in the nation's history have so many college students been so well informed about the major issues of the day . . . yet they have had little opportunity to express their views in a unified, coherent manner . . . to speak for the first time as a body politic."

The only test of voting eligibility will be enrollment in a college or university. The Sentinel feels a strong voter turnout will be sure proof that, given the chance, students will demonstrate political maturity and responsibility.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Sentinel staff positions open

Editor Grayson Harmon announced the SENTINEL will have numerous reporting positions for students interested in working on the Campus newspaper.

Although experience is preferred, commented Harmon, students should not hesitate to join the staff. The only requirement is the ability to type.

Students planning to join the SENTINEL staff as reporters should sign up for Journalism 61. Questions about staff duties can be brought to either editor Harmon or advisor Herman Scheiding.

Ad manager Rich Hartwig also announced that he needs personnel to fill his ad staff. Students interested in this side of newspaper production should sign up for Journalism 63 or see Hartwig in M-24.

Reporters and ad staffers receive two units of credit for working on the SENTINEL.

Registration policy irritates student

Editor:

Our new registration policy, first tried in January of '68, proved itself to be controversial. I'm talking about the early registration privileges granted students "who, at the conclusion of the Fall Semester will have completed 47 units or more," so that they could register January 15.

As a fourth-semester student, I see nothing wrong with the basic idea of allowing continuing students or students who will be transferring to higher levels of education to register early. The setting of the number of completed units at 47 or more, to determine who gets to register early, reflects lack of good judgment in my opinion.

I was caught up in the use of this policy — regardless of what my grades were, how many semesters I had attended, or any other factors, if I was short a few units from the suddenly-known 47 required units for early registration, that was just too bad. I went through all available channels to get an early registration date, but the only factor considered was "How many units will you have completed?"

If Foothill is to continue to use this policy, I would recommend that the number of units required to register early be publicized.

It might be wise for the students, faculty, and administration to evaluate the setting of the "magic number" at 47 or more, as well as the effectiveness of the policy in general.

"We just have to cope with the situation, it's inevitable," he said, "as the population goes up, so will the amount of pilfering."

Paulsen states that those who are caught shoplifting are referred to the Dean of Students.

Food stamps can now aid low-income students

College students with low income can increase their food purchasing power through the use of food coupons, according to R. Dale O'Donnell, supervisor of the Food Stamp Program in Santa Clara County.

Eligibility for the program is determined by household, and students rooming together do not have to be related to qualify. However, they must certify that they purchase and prepare food and eat together. The monthly net income limits are: one person, $160; two persons, $190; three persons, $225, and on a graduated scale to a limit of $565 for a ten person household.

Cost for tuition, books, student fees, supplies, etc. can be deducted to determine net income.

Participants in the Food Stamp Program may obtain coupons at any of the 21 branches of the First National Bank of San Jose.

Most foods, except those identified as imported, can be purchased in over 350 stores that accept the coupons in Santa Clara County.

Applications and detailed information is available for Foothill students at the Santa Clara County Welfare Dept. Building in Palo Alto and San Jose, or call 299-3748.

Tax seminar starts Feb. 6

"Tax Planning for Small Business," a seven-week lecture-discussion seminar, will be offered at Foothill College starting Feb. 6.

Sponsored by the Office of Community Services of Foothill and De Anza Colleges, the seminars will feature as lecturers F. A. Lagomarsino, District Tax Administrator for the State Board of Equalization; Ray G. Schmitt, principal auditor for the San Jose Administrative District; and John H. Dalton, Jr., District Principal Tax Compliance Supervisor for the Board of Equalization.

Also lecturing will be William Jennings, Real Property Analyst for the Santa Clara County Assessor's office; Harold Tillinghast, group supervisor in the Field Audit Branch of the San Francisco District of the Internal Revenue Service; Leslie M. Korpela, manager of a San Jose accounting firm; and Minot W. Tripp partner in the San Francisco law firm of Taylor & Winokur.

The seminar is endorsed by the Chambers of Commerce of Cupertino, Los Altos, Mountain View, Palo Alto and Sunnyvale and is presented with the assistance of the U. S. Business Administration.

There are no prerequisites for the course which has a $35 enrollment fee. Registration for the seminar may be made through the Foothill College Box Office.

Campus comforts to come

A Campus Improvements Committee, headed by Rich Chapman, ASFC president, was formed last semester to instigate action improving the Campus facilities and inadequacies that have been accumulating for a few years.

"It's the little things that count," said Chapman.

The plan to improve the little things, however, has been delayed due to lack of adequate manpower. The opening and building of the De Anza campus has reduced the maintenance staff and has cut down the time for little luxuries. Maintenance men can only work on safety, or necessary operations.

With this drastic slit in the Maintenance Service staff, further improvement will have to await the new budget allowance, said Maurice Galipeaux, manager of plant services.

"We have a good campus here and we want to make it super," said Chapman.

Improvements for such things as better traction on the footpaths uphill to the Campus are being considered. The knoll on which Foothill sits, affectionately called "Cardiac Hill," is often the scene of people slipping and sliding unintentionally downhill on their shoes, elbows or buttocks. Installation of steps might save some broken bones.

Also, since the Bay Area is a rich cultural center of a variety of activities, kiosks, or round bulletin boards, would be placed in busy locations around Cam-

New six week courses give insight

Six short courses are now being offered to the public through the Office of Community Services.

"Pursuit of Awareness," instructed by James A. Atchison, will seek to sharpen awareness of such human psychological characteristics as emotion, motivation, social behavior and the learning of perception. It is a four week course using contemporary films as the medium of instruction. It will be held on Sundays from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Foothill College Appreciation Hall.

Although man lives a mechanized and machine-dominated life, he is still a part of the natural world. This is the topic of the course "The Natural World Around Us." A six week course taught by Glen P. Moffat, it explores the intricate ecology of man's natural world. The course is Mondays from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. beginning Jan. 29, in the Fremont High School Auditorium.

The re-education of modern man is the subject for "Man at the Edge of Becoming Human." This six week course explores the dilemma facing modern man in this time of change. The instructor is Dr. William H. Miller, Director of Community Education at College of San Mateo. Sessions will be held Tuesdays from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at Homestead High School Auditorium.

"Past-Port to Travel" will be a search for understanding and pleasure in art. Instructor Robert J. Fairall will use films and slides to make the art forms live. The course will be divided into six great eras of man's artistic endeavors. The course will be held Wednesdays from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at the Fairmeadow School multi-purpose room.

"California Heritage" deals with the early days and people of the San Francisco region. The focus of the course will be on personalities and events. The coordinating instructor is Miss Demitra Georgas. Sessions will be held in the Forum Building at Foothill College.

For the fourteenth consecutive year the Foreign Policy Association, with the cooperation of local community organizations, is offering its Great Decisions group discussion program.

Designed for citizens who want to understand world issues, Great Decisions focuses public discussion on the pros and cons of important foreign policy issues facing the U.S. Beginning Feb. 4 and continuing for eight weeks thereafter, these independent discussion groups will cover eight vital topics of interest involving the foreign policy of our country in 1968.

Great Decisions will use prepared, non-partisan, discussion-provoking materials and a companion series of television programs on National Educational Television (KQED Channel 9) as points of reference.

Those interested in joining or forming a discussion group are invited to phone the Foothill College Box Office, 948-4444, or write Mrs. Barbara Tinsley, 12345 El Monte Road, Los Altos Hills, California 94022.

Foreground is well underway

"Foreground," an annual magazine published by students of Journalism 65, is underway with a new editorial staff this semester.

The structure of the magazine includes four major divisions: Fiction, Essay, Art, and Poetry. Each section has one editor, and usually three or four assistant editors.

Mr. James Mauch, instructor of Journalism 65, and advisor to the publication itself, chose Tim Moffat for editor-in-chief this semester. But editors for the various divisions, although the individuals themselves have been chosen, have not been assigned their special duties. Moreover, they are not likely to be assigned until the semester is well underway, according to Mauch.

Mauch said that "Foreground" bears certain similarities to the "Fairly Free Thinker" because of the nature of its content. Mauch observed further that frequent contributors to FFT also appear regularly in "Foreground." One outstanding example of this is the works of Tim Moffat, whose poems and essays have appeared in both publications.

The magazine operates under a $1200 budget, says Mauch, as opposed to approximately $800 for the FFT.

New KFJC sounds off Join in and firm up with adult fitness

Foothill's radio station, KFJC, begins its semester broadcasting Monday with new air times, a revamped program guide and a seasoned management staff.

KFJC will now be beaming out daily from 7 a.m. until 10 p.m. at 89.7 mc/FM except weekends, to "cover a wider range of educational, controversial and student produced shows," explained Rich Hartwig, program director.

"The expanded air times will also give students more time on the air, and will give them valuable experience, as well as offering the community a wider scope of programming," Hartwig continued.

The management staff intends to live up to KFJC's motto of "We have something for everyone" by introducing several new shows, as well as continuing the favorites from last semester, and continuing the in-school broadcasting to the Santa Clara County schools.

Hartwig commented that some of the new or returning shows to listen for are:

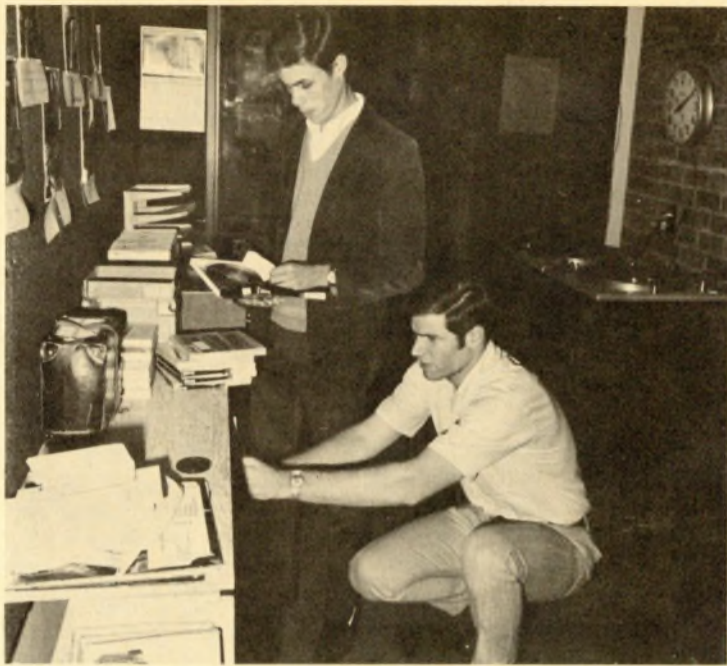

- "A Tribute to . . .," produced by station manager Rick Wagstaff, is described as "a program devoted to the greats of the musical field;"

- "Prospect of a Union," which gives a first hand account of the U.S. through the correspondence of John and Abigail Adams;

- "Limbo," produced by Jim Watt, an experiment in radio;

- "The Old Record Box," consisting of selections from cylinder records produced in the late 1890's to 1929;

- "Of Freedom, Equality, and

KFJC station manager Rick Wagstaff and program director Rich Hartwig prepare tapes for programming.

Democracy," which features lectures from the noted pediatrician Dr. Benjamin Spock;

- "Old 78's," described by Wagstaff as "a nostalgic visit to the great recordings of the past."

- "The V.D. Epidemic," reporter Walter McGraw discusses the various diseases, their times, symptoms, and cures, as well as discussing the public's apathy toward the disease;

- "Jazz Unlimited," returns to the air with contemporary recordings as well as the greats from the past for the many jazz buffs;

- "Seminar: Big Sur," begins the serial with Esalen Institute man Mike Murphy to explore the psychological nature of man and human potential.

FC sophomore is cello soloist

Music scholarship winner, Kelleen West will be featured soloist at the Nova Vista Symphony Orchestra's second concert of the season Friday, Feb. 9, at 8:15 p.m. in the Foothill College Theatre.

Miss West earned a $100 music instruction award at the Nova Vista youth auditions in December. Her cello rendition of Hindemith's Trauermusik will be featured in the Feb. 9 concert. Miss West will also play "Pieces en Concert" by Couperin, a composition for cello and orchestra.

Other works on the program include Brahms' Variations on a Theme of Haydn, Op. 56a, Aaron Copland's Hoe Down from the ballet "Rodeo and John Henry, Johann Strauss' overture to the operetta "Gypsy Baron" and as a special performance not previously announced, the Nova Vista will also be presenting Grieg's "Peer Gynt."

Miss West, a Foothill College

Do you remember the steps to the Samba or the Rumba? Probably not. However, you'll have an opportunity to refresh your memory when the De Anza and Foothill Offices of Community Services begin offering their spring recreation program for adults on Feb. 5.

Guaranteed to tone and firm whether through fitness or sports skills classes, the program is open to all Foothill College District residents 16 years of age or older. It will offer courses in social dancing, tennis, body mechanics and badminton.

Recreation Director Bob Campbell says that all classes will be held at Foothill. Brochures with registration forms are available now by phoning or visiting the box offices of either Foothill or De Anza Colleges.

Because all classes are limited in size, prompt registration is advised by the Office of Community Services. Minimum fees will be charged for all courses.

Car scrubadub

A car wash and wax service will be offered by some of Foothill's Fine Arts students on Saturday, Feb. 3 at Mayfield Mall in Mountain View.

Teams of eight students to a car guarantee a hand-rubbed silicone glaze for $12.50, less than half of normal cost. The students have also offered to wash private airplanes at local airfields.

Wash and polish jobs may be arranged by appointment by phoning the Fine Arts Division office at Foothill or the student co-chairman, Judie Davies, 328-6359, or Rusty Nickels, 321-0701.

Another wash-and-polish day is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 24, again at Mayfield Mall through courtesy of Manager Joel B. Goldfus and merchants.

The car washers are members of such performing groups as the College Band, Chorale, and Drama Club. They are attempting to raise $15,000 to underwrite an Easter recess tour of the Hawaiian Islands.

Dirty Bird mixers entertain Owls

The Dirty Bird is coming for Foothill and De Anza students tonight.

The Dirty Bird is the venture of two enterprising Foothill students, Don Dzura and Eric Rosenquist. It will feature Friday night "mixers" for college students in this area.

A mixer, as defined by Dzura, will include dances, with live music, interesting films, and refreshments.

Dzura said the aim of the Dirty Bird will be to have entertainment for students on a regular basis because "there is a big need for a place like this."

Although the Dirty Bird is specifically for Foothill and De Anza students, it is open to other colleges in the area. A current student body card must be presented to gain entrance.

The mixers are scheduled to begin tonight at the American Legion Building at First and Whitney Streets in Los Altos. They will then become a regular Friday night event throughout this semester, according to Dzura.

Admission will be $1.50 per person.

SOLOIST KELLEEN WEST

sophomore from Sunnyvale, has been playing cello for the past ten years and has been under the tutelage of her private music teacher Mrs. Irene Sharp of Palo Alto. Miss West's award money goes to her private music teacher to further her musical education.

She plans to continue her education at San Francisco State College next year and wants eventually to play in a symphony orchestra.

It was the first time a Foothill College student had won the competition, which is open to high school and junior high school students in the area. The awards have been presented for the past four years by the Nova Vista and the now defunct Sunnyvale Orchestra.

FC District plans third campus

Increased enrollment at the Foothill and De Anza Campuses of the Foothill Junior College District has led the Board of Trustees to accelerate plans for building a third Campus in the District.

District Superintendent Dr. Calvin Flint stated that when the District was formed nearly ten years ago, the Board made it clear that it was their desire to keep the Campuses small enough so that education could be individualized.

The Board set the limit of enrollment at 4,000 students, and it has been only in the last two years that the Trustees realized the present facilities would not be able to hold the increased number of students.

Dr. Flint discussed his plan to the Board in order to enact a "permissive override tax" to buy at least 100 acres in Mountain View or Sunnyvale.

The reason Dr. Flint suggested purchasing the land at the present time, is the present increase of land values in the country and such a tax would save time in the land purchase and also save the taxpayer money.

The Board decided positively to seek possible Campus sites in either Mountain View or Sunnyvale.

The override tax would be legal because of the new law, Senate Bill No. 691, which provides for an override tax without voter approval if the District needs cash to match government funds. There is no limit on the amount of money to be raised, but it must be used for either land purchases or construction. Dr. Flint said survey engineers planned ten years ago, when the District was first formed, where the best sites for campuses would be.

The engineers planned for the first Campus to be in the area where Foothill is now located, the second to be in Cupertino, and the third to be in the area of Mountain View or Sunnyvale.

No amount of initial override tax has been set, Dr. Flint said, because no potential sites have been selected.

He indicated that quick purchasing of a chosen site could save up to half of what the price would be if the District went to the voters first for approval of the new tax.

For example, the district bought 100 acres for De Anza Campus eight years ago for $13,500 an acre. A year ago, an adjoining 12 acres were purchased but it cost $40,000 an acre.

On Oct. 31, the Board took an official position on the third campus by sending an application to the State of California for financial aid under the 10-year plan.

Owls lose to Chabot 21-11; host San Mateo tonight

The Owl wrestlers host a powerful College of San Mateo team today at 5 p.m. The Bulldogs, at present, are fourth in GGC wrestling with a 3-4 record. San Mateo has many fine individual wrestlers in Armand Brett in the 115 lb. division, Ken Wright (130 lb.), Steve King (152 lb.), and Tom Phillips in the 167 lb. class.

Earlier this week, Foothill downed West Valley 41-8 in a non-league match at Foothill. This brought their overall record to 15-1-1, their only loss at the hands of Chabot.

On January 10, the Owl wrestlers absorbed their first loss of the season at the hands of Chabot College, 21-11. Bernie Olmos, Dick Furuya and Rick Rosenquist were the only wrestlers that won their matches. Furuya registered the only win by a fall, with the rest coming by decisions. Most of the losses Foothill suffered were by close decisions of two or less points. The Owls meet Chabot College at Chabot on February 14, where the GGC wrestling championships may be decided.

In other GGC matches, Foothill downed Contra Costa 35-10 and nearly shut out San Jose City College, 44-5.

Against Contra Costa, Foothill won five out of the eleven matches by falls. The Owl grapplers that came out victorious were Olmos, Slack, Scott Rehm, Don Ahern and Rick Rosenquist. Lynn Taylor came through with an impressive 12-6 win and Howard McCarley battled to a 5-5 draw.

The Owl wrestlers began another streak by demolishing SJCC. The five points SJCC gained were forfeited to them. Furuya, Taylor and Frank Jones won their matches by a fall. Olmos defeated his man by a score of 10-2, and Rich Slack outscored his opponent 20-0. Scott Rehm and Cleve Holt defeated their opponents by decisions.

In their non-league match against West Valley, Foothill gained six wins by falls, most of them coming in the first and second period. The quickest pin by Slack, came in the first round in the time of 1:05. McCarley gained another one of the quick pins, by slapping his opponent to the mat in 1:10 of the first period. Other wrestlers that registered pins were Olmos, Furuya, Noon and Holt. Taylor defeated his man 17-5 and Rehm decided his opponent 15-2.

Co-ed competes for crown

MISS WANDA YOUNG

Foothill College will be a part of the Year of the Monkey Chinese New Year's celebration, through the activities of one of its co-eds.

Wanda Young, 19, a second semester Home Economics major, has been selected by the San Francisco Chinese Chamber of Commerce, to be one of the twenty contestants of Chinese descent.

Winner of the contest will receive a $1000 scholarship, a trip to the Orient, jewelry, and the honor of representing Chinatown for one year.

Wanda, a petite five-foot-two, with brown hair and brown eyes, is presently being inundated by clippings cut from local papers by her relatives and friends.

Chinese New Year's festivities will begin with the Coronation of the Queen in the Masonic Auditorium Feb. 8, followed by the Queen's Ball at the Hotel Fairmont, Feb. 9. The week long celebration will be concluded with the annual parade through downtown San Francisco on Feb. 10. The parade is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Happy year 4666.

New shows on KFJC

• "World Theatre," simply described by Hartwig as the best of recorded drama, spoken word and other resurrections.

Beginning the KFJC broadcast day at 7 a.m. will be a new student produced show — "Music in the Morning" — or Morning Managerie, as the two producers, Hartwig and Dick Milewski prefer to call it.

"Menagerie is sort of a mixture of music and dialogue to help everyone greet the day with a smile, or what have you," explained Hartwig.

International seems to be the by-word of KFJC as they offer weekly lessons in German and Italian, as well as several educational shows originating overseas.

"And then there's 'Radio Unnameable,' which wonders if Brian Conway is really English? His show features the contemporary hits from Europe, co-ordinated by Conway and several ambassadors," Hartwig added.

Another new feature of KFJC will be the Music Makers series, featuring Foothill and De Anza musical groups. Included in the series are student recitals, the Nova Vista Symphony Orchestra, the Master Sinfonia, The Schola Cantorum and other musical events on Campus.

Hartwig stressed that the new shows are in addition to daily news coverage, using KFJC reporters and UPI services, live sports coverage, daily "Calendar" or musical shows, several educational programs and the "best of everything for the students and the community."

KFJC will be operating with a seasoned management staff with student station manager Rick Wagstaff returning to his fall position. Assisting Wagstaff will be Miss Joanna Stein, likewise returning to her fall position as assistant station manager.

Other KFJC management staff members include Hartwig, returning as program director, assisted by Milewski; chief engineer is Jim Burks; news director is Mike Waggoner; sports is taken care of by Ken Ellner; traffic manager is John Wightman; promotion is handled by Paul Hedberg; and the librarian chores will be handled by Jeff Osborn. Instructor Stuart Roe will be overseeing general management for the station.

Additional information regarding times and dates for all shows is available at the KFJC station, across from M-28.

NO DOZ ANNOUNCES THE EXAM PILL

(If you flunk, at least you'll be awake.)

Sure you've used NoDoz to help you stay awake the night before an exam.

But have you ever thought of taking NoDoz to make yourself a little sharper during the exam itself?

Well, maybe you should.

Let's say you're one of those guys who doesn't have to cram like mad the night before. (Even so, you're probably not getting your usual amount of sleep.)

And let's say the morning of the big exam, you find yourself heading for class, kind of drowsy and unwound and wondering if The Great Brain has deserted you in the night.

What do you do?

You panic, that's what you do.

Or, if you happened to read this ad, you walk coolly over to the water cooler and wash down a couple of NoDoz, the Exam Pill. And before long you're feeling more alert and with it again.

You see, NoDoz helps bring you up to your usual level of alertness, so you don't just sit there in a fog; it's got what it takes to help restore your perception, your recall, and even your ability to solve problems.

In fact, NoDoz contains the strongest stimulant for your mind that you can take without a prescription. Yet it's not habit forming.

Okay, but what about the guy who goofs off all term and has to jam everything in the night before.

Are we saying NoDoz will keep him from flaming out?

Nope.

We're just saying he'll be alert and awake.

As he flunks.

Owl cagers face Merritt tonight

By LANE WALLACE
Sentinel Sports Writer

Coming off what was probably their best game of the season, the Foothill basketball team will open the second round of Golden Gate Conference play here tonight against Merritt. Game time is 8 p.m. An after-game dance will be held in the Auxiliary Gym until 1 a.m.

Tonight's game should be a close one; Merritt edged the Owls 73-72 in an overtime game played in Oakland Jan. 3. Merritt has a 4-2 record, while Foothill is 2-4, not including Tuesday's games.

Last Friday the Owls fell two points short in an effort to upset Chabot, ranked first in the state. The final score was 65-63, marking the second year in a row the Owls have lost to the top team in California by two points. In 1967, CCSF edged Foothill, 59-57. Jeff Frost and Simon O'Hanlon led the Foothill scoring with 22 points each. O'Hanlon connected on nine of ten floor shots for 90 per cent. He also played well on defense, holding Chabot's All-Golden Gate Conference forward Don Crenshaw to 16 points before fouling out with three minutes left. Crenshaw ended with 17 points, his lowest total of the season.

Foothill took their first lead since the opening minute when O'Hanlon scored on a jump shot with 12 minutes remaining to put the Owls ahead, 47-45.

The Owls took their biggest lead of the evening at 55-48 with 7:43 left, but things began to take a turn for the worse when playmaker Jim Nordell fouled out.

The Owls led 63-60 with two minutes left, but Don Crenshaw made a foul shot and Rich Galbraith tipped in Crenshaw's missed free toss to tie the score.

After Foothill was called for not advancing the ball, Galbraith canned a jump shot to give Chabot the lead with 11 seconds left. Mark Keplinger missed the first of a one and one situation with seven seconds remaining. Chabot got the ball and ran out the clock.

Inability at the free throw line in the second half cost the Owls the victory. Jim Forthoffer twice missed the first of one-and-one situations, and Gary Ridgway and Keplinger also missed the first shot on bonus situations. Foothill was able to sink only ten of 19 second half free throws.

Next Tuesday the Owls will meet CCSF in San Francisco.

Owl cager sets record; FC bows to CSM 54-49

Despite a record-breaking performance by Simon O'Hanlon, Foothill's basketball squad lost to College of San Mateo, 54-49, on Jan. 19.

O'Hanlon scored 35 points, establishing a new Foothill College record for one game. The old record of 33 was held by Chuck Deegan, during the 1965-66 season.

O'Hanlon sparked a tremendous Owl comeback. With Foothill trailing 40-19, the red-headed sophomore reeled off 22 straight points to lead the Owls to a 43-43 tie. During the second half, Simon scored on 11 of 15 field goal attempts and five of five foul shots for 27 points.

San Mateo concentrated its defense on Jeff Frost, enabling O'Hanlon to get the ball more often. Most of his baskets came on 15-20 foot jump shots from the side.

O'Hanlon's effort is the top point total in the Golden Gate Conference this season. Jeff Frost, Foothill's leading scorer, has a 32-point game to rank second.
