Queen coronation highlites activities

One of the highlights of the first Homecoming Week on the new campus was the crowning of Homecoming Queen Judy Milner at the Coronation Ball Nov. 17.

Crowning ceremonies were conducted by Professor Snarf, Robert Allen. Judy, who was sponsored by the Circle K Club, wore a wine-colored velvet robe for the occasion and was presented with a rhinestone tiara and a bouquet of roses.

The queen's court was comprised of Barbara Hook, sponsored by the Vet's Club, and Joanne Stephens, the candidate selected by the Freshman Class Council.

The queen and her court, included all the girls who were candidates, appeared for half-time festivities at the Homecoming Game the following night.

San Jose City College Jaguars defeated the Owls 7-6 in the next-to-last game of the season.

Two different talks given by Thomas to FC students

Norman Thomas, six times candidate of the Socialist Party for President of the United States, spoke twice Thursday in the Foothill College auditorium.

HIS FIRST speech, at 11 a.m. was on "America's Need for a New Radicalism." His second, at 8 p.m., on "Prerequisites for Peace," was part of the "Foothill Presents" series, sponsored by the public events board.

Thomas has been an active member of the Socialist Party for over 40 years. He joined during World War I because he believed that the Socialist party was the only organization realistically facing the problems of war and the need for economic change.

In 1932, when Thomas made his second bid for the presidency, he received over 880,000 votes, a record for a Socialist.

Thomas opposed the drift of the United States toward World War II but supported the war effort after Pearl Harbor.

HE HAS BEEN identified with efforts to support the rights of workers to organize and participated in fights for free speech.

Today Thomas is chairman both of the Post-War World Council and the Labor Research Institute.

Friday night was also opening night for "Dark of the Moon" presented by the Foothill Players under the direction of Leslie Abbott. The play was well received by a capacity crowd in the new auditorium.

See page 4 for pictures.

Approximately 40 members of the newly organized Foothill Alumni Association toured the new campus Saturday afternoon and then met in the Owl's Nest for a chicken dinner. Their first business meeting followed the dinner and members voted to draw up a constitution.

THE MILLS Chamber Players, composed of music faculty members from Mills College, presented a program ranging from classics to modern selections Sunday afternoon in the Foothill Little Theatre. The concert was well received by an audience of approximately 250.

Vet's Club and Circle K members staged their annual tug-of-war after Thursday's rally, but neither side won a clear-cut victory.

CIRCLE K members pulled the Vets into the mud twice, the Vets pulled Circle K in once, and the tug of war ended in a muddy free-for-all.

Bob Mutzenberg, head cheerleader who appeared late, wound up face-first in the mud, rah-rah clothes, arm cast and all.

have a sell-out crowd and they promised the dance to be worth waiting for. Tickets may be purchased in the student government building from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Celebration in S.F.

'Frosted Fantasy' set for Dec. 8

"Frosted Fantasy," Foothill's annual winter formal will be held in the Colonial Room of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco next Friday, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Dress for the occasion will include floor length or cocktail length formals for the women and dark suits, dinner jackets or tuxedos for the men.

Orchid corsages can be purchased for the ladies from the Circle K club members in the campus center today through Wednesday. The cost is $3.00 each, with a choice of either a white or lavender orchid. These can be picked up after noon on Friday or at the dance.

TICKETS MAY BE bought either in C-31 or at a table set up in the campus center for sales. Cost per ticket, which will admit one couple, is $4.00.

Approximately 20 members of the ASFC Social Committee have been working on the dance preparations for the past month. John Allan, general chairman, and Miss Demitra Georgas, faculty advisor, along with committee chairmen Miss Lani Hampton, Paul Olsen, Miss Sandy Johnson and Jack Itakura have most of the plans finished. As of "Sentinel" press time, entertainment for the dance had not been planned.

THE ST. FRANCIS Hotel is located on Powell Street across from Union Square in San Francisco. Parking is available at Union Square.

Invitations are being sent out to all members of the faculty and the Board of Trustees to be guests at the dance.

STUDENTS ARE cautioned that anyone who is found to have been drinking before or during the dance and anyone with liquor in his possession will be asked to leave.

C. Garth Dougan, director of activities, said "This dance is one of the highlights of the semester."

Assemblyman Allen reproaches Mosk

Assemblyman Bruce Allen (R-Los Gatos) told Foothill Young Republicans this week that Attorney General Stanley Mosk was "sitting on his hands and is willing to tolerate communists in California."

Allen, who is running for attorney general in next year's election, told 14 members of the YRs and the Foothill Conservatives Club Tuesday that not one bill has been passed that interferes with the activities of the Communist Party in California or that puts a "roadblock" in their way.

ALLEN SAID the reason for the absence of anti-communist legislation was because Attorney General Mosk ruled the legislature and had no authority to interfere with individual rights.

"The Attorney General," Allen said, "has gone way overboard in protecting the constitutional rights of the people who want to destroy our way of life."

The candidate cited the Communist Party newspaper, "Peoples World" which said in its June 24 issue that Mosk's rulings were "very important" to them.

ALLEN SAID Mosk "doesn't look on the communists as a problem and is willing to tolerate them." Allen described Mosk as "anti-anti-Red."

Play review

Players strike sparks in 'Moon'

By LOIS KIRCHNER

The Foothill Players struck sparks in their performance of "Dark of the Moon" presented in the Little Theater Nov. 17, 24 and 25.

WHATEVER THE CAST lacked in professional experience, they more than made up in enthusiasm. The audience was with them from the start and returned what the actors projected across the footlights—enthusiasm.

The dynamic direction of drama coach Leslie Abbott was evident throughout.

RON TAYLOR and Janet Graham starred as the poignant lovers. Ron didn't just play the witch boy, he was the witch boy, with an approach to his role that was both intense and professional. Taylor displayed agility and ability in his part.

As Barbara Allen, Janet was in turn a wanton hussy, a loving wife and a bereft mother. She was in full command of each phase of her role.

THE SCENE portraying the forced unfaithfulness came as a discordant note in the play in that it was a travesty on religion; however, this was a flaw in the play itself, not in the acting or interpretation. This scene would have been more at home and more credible staged in a pagan setting rather than in a "house of God."

Cookie Morris as the Folk Singer, backed by Barry Hunt on the guitar, added appreciably to each scene with melodic prologues.

Phylis Griffin and Melodee Faulstich as witches, together with John Bellah and Linda Bixler as the Conjur Man and Conjur Woman, conjured up some incredibly eerie scenes. In this they were ably assisted by Dave Norman and his lighting crew.

EXCELLENT characterizations were turned in by John Marks, John Allan, Hilda Allen, Tom Bullock and Bob Mabee.

John Davis as Uncle Smelicue and Kathleen Nugent as Miss Metcalf provided lots of laughs.

The folk dancing, modern dancing and singing added much to the play's enjoyment. Some of the vocal solos were a bit weak on voice and technique, but here again, enthusiasm put them across.

IT WAS EVIDENT that a lot of hard work by those on the production staff made possible a smoothly running, effective production.

If this is a sample of what the Foothill Players can do, playgoers in the area have many more pleasant evenings in store for them.

ASSEMBLYMAN SPEAKS—Pete Caldwell, a member of the newly formed Foothill Conservatives, discusses points of Assemblyman Bruce Allen's speech with him in the Owl's Nest. Allen, who will run for attorney-general next year, told a group of students that Attorney-General Mosk was "sitting on his hands and is willing to tolerate Communists." (Photo by Stammer)

Some items to study

Charges of cheating at the polls are not unfamiliar at Foothill. In fact they are more or less expected. They were heard last year at the ASFC election and, of course, this year during the Homecoming election.

Besides this charge, there have been differences of opinion within the Election Board itself as to how the votes should be counted, who should count them and who may be present.

The ASFC Election Code has no provisions for special elections such as the Homecoming Queen election except, "All special elections fall under the jurisdiction of the Election Board and shall be governed as is appropriate for that particular election."

But just what is "appropriate"? We would ask, is it appropriate for students to be members of the election committee who are also members of a club sponsoring a candidate?

The election board, we think, would be wise in prohibiting members assisting in a particular election where they are also connected with a club that is running a candidate.

The question of the legality of proxy votes also should be studied by the election board. As far as our records show, proxy votes have not been cast in the past.

There were, as far as we know, two proxy votes cast, both of which were approved by Miss Demitra Georgas, social activities advisor. Voting by absentee ballot is not restricted by the ASFC constitution. But can a proxy vote be considered absentee?

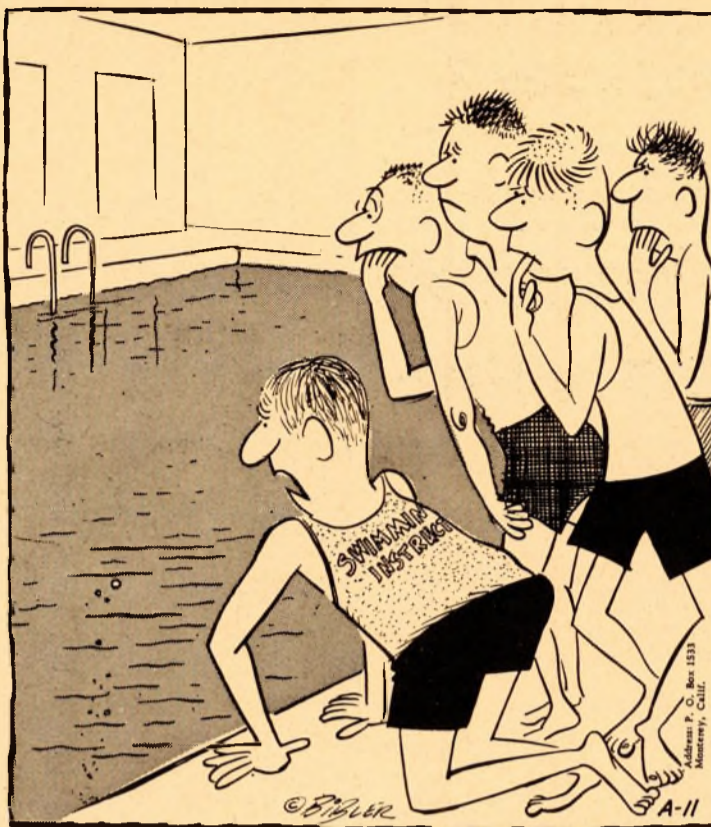

In absentee voting we would think the absent person would receive a ballot and he would then mail it to the college or use some other means of delivery. But a written statement granting one student permission to vote at the polls for another is not an absentee vote.

We believe Miss Georgas was wrong when she approved this action although no doubt acting in good faith. We are not attempting to reprimand her here. But this is a matter for the election board to decide upon.

Finally, we do not think it appropriate for election board members to run the polls when they have conflicting interests.

These three topics deserve the immediate consideration of the election board and we would suggest a meeting be held before the semester's end to iron out this problem so that similar happenings don't occur in the future.

International Assignment

By Larry Stammer

The resumption of diplomatic relations between Brazil and the Soviet Union came as no surprise to Western observers. But the reasoning behind such a move is interesting.

According to reports, the Brazilian government decided for the resumption to prove their "independence" from U.S. domination in their internal affairs.

WAS THIS costly demonstration necessary? Has the United States in recent history ever sent armed forces to Brazil to "restore order"? Has the U.S. ever told Brazil how to run their government? Did the United States tell Brazil in the first place to break relations with Russia in 1947?

The answer to all of these questions is a profound no. But the expediency of the times, one might guess, caused the Brazilian move America has inherited the reputation of "imperialist" in the Western Hemisphere. Some of these accusations are, no doubt, based on experience.

But the most important reason, as far as this observer can determine, is because of an intense effort from Red China, Russia and Red Cuba.

These three countries have undertaken a relentless campaign of painting the United States as a nation against social reform (although Kennedy's Alliance for Progress disputes this) and of the U.S. interfering with Latin American affairs.

BRAZIL ALSO came under pressure to resume ties from within its own boundaries. The leftward swing brought ex-president Junio Quadros under pressure. He set the political machinery in motion. The finished product came out last week when Premier Tancredo Neves' shaky government made the announcement.

It is also interesting to note that the action was made under strong opposition from the Chamber of Deputies.

Neves has maintained the action does not mean Brazil allowed its "democratic Christian ideals" to flow down the political drain. And he said there would be no concessions made

BUT THIS observer fails to follow the logic of the Brazilian action. As reported in International Assignment in the last edition, Brazil is particularly concerned about Red infiltration. They feared subversives. Red agents, and even Brazilian Communists might be able to slip back into Brazil over the unguarded border of British Guiana which is becoming more Communist oriented too.

A mammoth defense plan was drafted to prevent this.

But now, Brazil, whose political house is far from stable, has renewed relations with Russia. And it is common knowledge that Soviet embassies do more than transmit communications from Moscow to the host country.

AN OBSERVATION made by a local newspaper was a good one when they said if a house is creaking at its foundation, the way to fix it is not by inviting the termites in.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Supporters praised

Editor:

This is not a letter of complaint, but instead one of praise. We would like to take this opportunity to thank everybody that supported our candidates for Professor Snarf and Homecoming Queen (Walter Maus and Barbara Hook.) Both were first runners up.

Also our tug of war was a big success. We only wish that more spirit and enthusiasm had been shown.

A SPECIAL VOTE of thanks should be given to the members of the Circle K, who accepted our challenge for the tug of war. We appreciate the general feeling from that club that the Vets are powerful, and respect them for thinking to attach their end of the rope to a car to attempt to over-rule our "pull."

Homecoming Week

Editor:

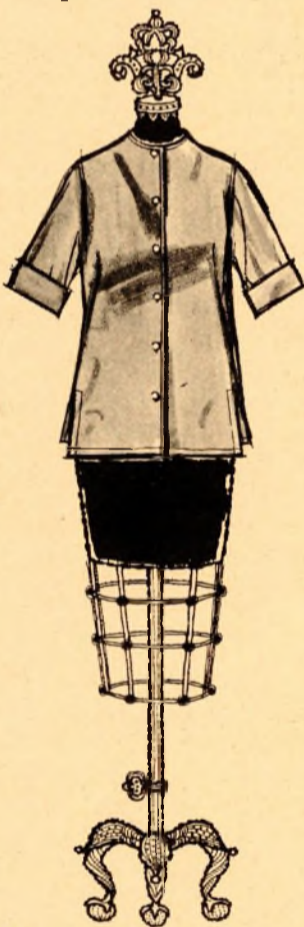

The first Homecoming on Foothill's new campus is now history. We're sure that you will agree that it was a tremendous success. Although many of the activities were unfortunately curtailed, everyone should be commended for their avid interest and support in making it the most successful Homecoming that Foothill College has ever had.

IN SPEAKING of congratulations, all of the clubs and organizations that sponsored candidates for queen and Professor Snarf, are to be especially commended for their interest. Their support resulted in a successful Homecoming.

The Circle K Club would also like to thank the Vet's Club for giving us the opportunity to pull them into the mud and consequently win the tug-o-war. In addition, each club and organization is to be commended for providing some very lovely competition for our queen candidate, Judy Milner, and to the student body for selecting her as their Homecoming Queen for 1961.

In light of the tremendous success of the past Homecoming, all of the student body will agree unanimously with the Circle K Club that next year's Homecoming and all those to follow will be even bigger and better.

Chorale ensemble ready Xmas show

Foothill's music council has already begun its Christmas program. The Chorale Ensemble opened the Christmas season by putting on a presentation at the Garden Club, a home for Senior Citizens, last Tuesday.

Their big presentation of the year will be "Chorale for Christmas" to be presented Sunday afternoon Dec. 10 at 3:00 p.m. in the auditorium.

AOC Beat: Koinonia takes on Christmas project

By EILEEN LA FONTAINE
Twenty-seven clubs now fill the roster of the AOC. These range from the Alpha XI Chapter of AGS to the newly formed Foothill Conservatives Club.

THE CONSTITUTION for the Conservatives and the Business Clubs were approved at the Nov. 14 meeting of AOC. Speakers were discussed for the Conservatives at a recent meeting.

A task normally handled by cities is getting support from the Koinonia (Christian Fellowship) Club. In the past, the local cities have had a project to collect and distribute clothing, toys and food to worthy families in this area.

THIS YEAR the Koinonia Club is placing boxes around the campus in the library, student center, art appreciation building and the administration building. Three large boxes will be placed in each spot in hopes that Foothill students will contribute to them. All of the articles and food donated will be taken to Mountain View for distribution in sort of a shopping center for needy families.

The young Democrats Club had their vote reinstated at AOC. Their vote was taken away for failure to comply with attendance regulations.

MANY OF Foothill's clubs have service or money making projects that they work on during the school year to help their treasury along. The Press Club has been this year, as in the past, selling athletic programs at the home games. The money made goes into a spring conference for high school seniors complete with luncheon, speaker, and workshops.

"The Nations Bring Their Carols" is the theme of the Christmas Cantata. It will feature the Skyline Chorale and Ensemble, along with various soloists.

Robert Newton, a former Foothill student, will play the organ. Lynn McCafferty and Susie Piernier have been announced as soloists for the program, according to Cookie Morris, music council publicity chairman.

REFLECTING on the theme, Miss Morris stated, "Traditional and familiar Christmas carols from many different countries will be sung."

The Ensemble is made up of 22 selected choir members. It is one of the new organizations on campus. The members were selected by rigorous auditions.

Other appearances by the Ensemble include the Los Altos Golf and Country Club for the annual Christmas luncheon on Dec. 5. The group was sent a special invitation by Mrs. Kenneth Molovos.

The final appearance is on Dec. 13 when the Ensemble appears at the Fremont Congregational Church at 2:00 p.m.

Conservative group initiated here; dedicated to 'preservation of freedom'

A new club has been formed on Foothill campus. According to the Preamble the purpose of the club is to "foster a better understanding of national affairs, to dedicate ourselves to the preservation of freedom in the United States of America and throughout the world, and to promote libertarian ideals of limited government, economic freedom and individual freedom."

THE NEW CLUB is the Foothill Conservatives. The president of the club, Jack Cox, said that various students have approached him and expressed interest in such an organization.

All students at Foothill College are eligible for membership. Any other person will be accepted as an associate member if they are accepted by the Executive Council of the ASFC.

Bill Long, one of the club's advisors said that it is too early to announce specific future plans of the club because it is just being organized. The club does plan to invite conservatives to speak at the campus.

Proposition passed; Council cut in half

Recent passing of Proposition One to "streamline" the student council and cut out individual club representation in favor of a collective club view has cut the council membership from 40 to 20 people.

THE PROPOSITION, which drew 797 voters for the largest voting turnout in Foothill history, has eliminated 20 people that would ordinarily take part in the Council discussions and voting.

Last semester a similar proposition that allowed three AOC members to attend council meetings failed, but Commissioner of Activities Jim Glynn, who made the original proposal redesigned Proposition One to make it more "flexible" and the motion passed this time with only scattered opposition such as posters.

The new act gives Associated Organization Council five "seats" in the council meetings and the right to expand the number of representatives as new clubs on campus are formed.

NAMED TO represent the AOC at council meetings during the rest of the semester were freshmen Richard Hedges of the Young Republicans, Mike Roberts of the Freshman Class, Betty Barber of the

San Jose spoils Homecoming, 7-6

San Jose City College put a damper on last week's homecoming activities as they barely edged Foothill, 7-6.

Foothill, trying hard to record their first victory over a San Jose grid team, seemed to lack the spirit that only the week before had beaten a highly favored Hartnell squad. Possibly the win at Salinas took too much out of the team.

THE FIRST HALF was a scoreless battle that saw San Jose drive to the Foothill six yard line in the first quarter. However, Bob Lowery, who later scored Foothill's only touchdown, intercepted a Jag pass to halt the drive.

Just before the half, San Jose again drove deep into Owl territory, but with just seconds to go, San Jose's Cass Jackson's attempt on a field goal failed from the 10 yard line.

The second half saw the Owl offense perk up, as they started a scoring drive on their own 35. Steve Moreno hit Bill Holland with two passes for 33 yards that moved the ball into San Jose turf. Ray Hamm took a handoff from Moreno on the big play, faking an end sweep, and flipping his first pass this season to Lowery, who then went scampering 29 yards for the score.

The six pointer came with six and a half minutes left in the third quarter and covered 30 yards. John Pappas was hurried by a wobbly snap from center on the PAT try and his kick was wide.

THE JAGS didn't waste any time getting back in the ball game as they drove 70 yards in 13 plays to hit pay dirt. A Mike Fatjo to Jackson pass covered the last eleven yards as the slippery Jag speedster got behind the Owl secondary. Jackson then sent his kick from placement through the cross bars to give San Jose the 7-6 lead one minute before the fourth quarter.

San Jose kept ball control in the fourth quarter, the big play coming when the Jag's punter, Joe Perez, picked up a low pass from center, circled his own right end and raced for six yards making the first down by inches. So instead of Foothill taking over on San Jose's 18 yard line, San Jose kept possession of the ball.

Five returnees greet Crampton

Owl five makes '61 debut tonight

By ED SMITH

Chuck Crampton's 1961-62 basketball team will make its debut tonight at 9:15 p.m. in the feature game of Foothill College's Dedication Tournament in the 3,000 seat gymnasium.

Foothill will meet Coalinga at 9:15, while Contra Costa vies with American River in the 7:30 tourney "lid-lifter."

WINNERS MEET tomorrow night at 9:15 for the championship bout, while those two squads who succumb tonight will vie for consolation honors at 7:30.

"In watching the team I just feel that the team will be capable of giving every opponent a real scare," stated Crampton.

Five returnees make up the nucleus of Foothill's 17-member cage squad. Heading the list is six-foot, five-inch center Jerry Hart and guard Tony Perusa (6-0). All Coast Conference center-forward Gary Chiotti (6-4) and forward Ray Hamm (6-0) along with forward Jerry Cassingham (6-2) complete the veteran list.

HIGHLY TOUTED Freshman Sam Bradley from Fremont High is also expected to turn out, but he is only a question mark on Crampton's list until he displays his wares as a basketballer.

FOOTHILL WILL also be the host school for the eight team Coast Conference basketball fest on Dec. 18-20 and will take part in the Allan Hancock Tourney Dec. 27-29 to round out tournament chores.

Crampton further commented on his 1961-62 team that "this should be the finest basketball team in the history of Foothill College." However, Crampton strongly emphasized that "with our schedule (league) it will be harder to win ball games."

OFF TO THE RACES—Halfback Bob Lowery is off to the races after taking a short pass from Ray Hamm midway through the third period for Foothill's lone score against arch-rival San Jose City College. Lowery outran Jaguar defenders, despite the fact that Cas Jackson (25) got a hand on him at the five before stepping into the end zone to complete a 30-yard play. John Pappas missed the extra point and San Jose eventually won, 7-6, to spoil the Owl's Homecoming Game. (Press Photo Bureau)

Owl harriers go after national mark tomorrow at Stanford's Angell Field

By KEN BISHOP

With its '61 season already in the books, Foothill's Coast Conference cross-country champions attempt to rewrite the record books tomorrow afternoon in a special Postal Card Competition meet on Stanford University's Angell Field at 1:30 p.m.

Five Owl harriers will be running against the clock during a special three-mile race sponsored by Track and Field News in hopes of eclipsing Bakersfield College's five-man three mile total time record of 78:48, set in 1959.

BERT STRINGER, Al Chapman and Jack Parsons are in the running to break Jean Gilule's national junior college three-mile record of 14:51.7 set last season.

The three, who paced the Owls during the dual meet and championship races, have run close to the 15 minute mark on golf course and hilly layouts this fall and should find the return to the flat course a help in lowering respective times.

The Owls will compete against Stanford University and San Jose State varsity teams during tomorrow's race. University of California and Santa Clara Youth Village teams may enter teams and help Foothill's chances of getting a better time.

AT THE RECENT North Coast Championships held on a washboard Vallejo College course, the Owls finished third in the team standings with 89 points behind winning Fresno City College with 78 and San Francisco with 82.

Bert Stringer finished third for the Owls but Vallejo officials hadn't compiled other results at press time.

Experts 'take gas'

Foothill Sentinel sports staff "took gas" in the final week of Coast Conference grid play. All four members dropped three out of four of their predictions.

Foothill enters CSM sports day tomorrow

Sports-minded students from Foothill College will travel up the peninsula to College of San Mateo tomorrow to participate in their second sports day of the semester.

Co-educational volleyball, archery, badminton, bowling, and tennis will be the athletic events held, according to Miss Helen Windham, women's physical education instructor and intramural council advisor.

Over 30 Foothill energetics took part in a sports day at San Francisco City College last week and came home with a bundle of second places Miss Windham reports.

The intramural council sponsors many co-recreational events that will be coming up throughout the year. All events are open to Foothill College students and faculty members.

FC '11' wins 'turkey day' finale over Cabrillo, 26-20

By FRANK ESCOBAR
Foothill closed out its 1961 football season with an exciting 26-20 victory over a visiting Cabrillo eleven, Thanksgiving Day in replay of the game originally scheduled Oct. 28 at College Stadium.

In a game that must have provided as many thrills as many of the other "Turkeyday" games played over the country did, Foothill's victory was not assured until the final gun went off.

FOOTHILL TOOK a 26-20 lead with less than a minute and a half left in the game, but Cabrillo, led by its slinging quarterback Ken Johnson came storming back and were beckoning from the Owl five when the final gun sounded.

Twelve Foothill sophs played their last game, headed by all-leaguers Frankie Aquino and Mike Lowry. Capt. John Escobar, Ray Hamm, Bob Sesich, Rich Thomas, Bill LaChappelle, Joel Primes, Tom Hurley, Wayman Crowder, John Pappas and George French also ended their two-year college careers.

Crowder and Ren Potter teamed up to start the sea-saw battle, hooking up on a 78 yard pass and run play. Pappas booted and the Owls led 7-0 with eight minutes left in the first quarter. The Seahawks came right back and their full-back Jerry Brown went 10 yards, on a draw play for the TD. Johnson's kick tied it all up in the initial stanza.

CROWDER AGAIN figured in an Owl score, this time taking it in himself from the one on a QB sneak. The scoring drive was set up when Ray Lychak recovered a Brown fumble on the 'Hawk 35. A pass for the two-point conversion try failed. Brown made up for his boner, however, this time scoring on a six yard draw play, capping a 72 yard drive. Johnson split the uprights with a boot and Cabrillo led 14-13 with five minutes left in the first half.

The resurgent Owls responded with a touchdown drive themselves. LaChappelle getting his first of two with a six yard plunge. Hamm's 28 yard ramble was the big gainer in the 60 yard march. Another pass attempt for the PAT failed, as Foothill now led, 19-14.

Johnson brought his team back in the ball game as he zeroed in his pass receivers, hitting Jim Yahiro on a 23 yard pass, good for six points with only two seconds left in the first half. Johnson's kick was blocked and the 'Hawks led 20-19 at intermission.

FOOTHILL dominated play in the third quarter, although they could not cross into Cabrillo's end zone. With about five minutes left in the final stanza, Foothill started its drive that eventually decided the tilt. Owl end Bill Holland caught key passes for 19 and 11 yards to put the ball on the Cabrillo 10, Hamm went to the one behind Escobar's blocking and Lacheppelle dove in for the go ahead points. Pappas' kick upped the score to 26-20.

HIT and RUN

By FRANK ESCOBAR

Congratulations to Bill Abbey, Bob Pifferini, Verne Wolfe, and the 1961-62 Foothill football squad. Ending the season with a 6-3 record, the Owls best to date, the big Scarlet and Black gave us fans many thrills and a team to be proud of.

Although ending the year in a tie for fourth place, it can be readily seen that two of those three league losses could have easily been reversed. In the Monterey game, Foothill was only behind by one touchdown with five minutes left in the game; in the San Jose game a measly point made the difference. Only the loss of Diablo Valley was the game where the Owls were soundly out-played.

WHOEVER though we'd get by the two Southern Cal teams? And what can one say over the 21-20 win over then unbeaten Hartnell? H--- of a game! And both games with Cabrillo were nip and tuck and not decided until the last minute or until the lights went out.)

It's interesting to note that Hartnell got a bowl bid, although they ended up with an identical 6-3 record for the season. And didn't we shock them?

All-Conference basketball star, Gary Chiotti, will probably not see much action tonight, if any. Last year's second highest scorer in the Coast Conference, Chiotti suffered a badly sprained ankle in the Cabrillo fracas. However, Gary is taking whirlpool treatments, and if not ready for the Dedication Tourney play, he should be okay for the San Mateo tilt, Dec. 5.

HEAD BASKETBALL coach Chuck Crampton has gone on the line and given Contra Costa top billing for this week-end's cage attraction. And well they might be, for not only do they have three returning lettermen, but Leroy Walker, all-leaguer at Richmond High, bolsters the Comets' lineup. Walker is rated an outstanding prospect. Lack of height could be the Comets big deficit, one man listed at 6-5 and another at 6-4, all the rest around 6 feet.

Not too much is known about American River, except that six sophs are on the squad, they finished third last year in the Golden Valley Conference, and are nicknamed the Beavers.

Coalinga, Foothill's first opponent, lost two games to the Owls last season, both real close ones. The Falcons, coached by Lee Graupman, would sure like to ruin Foothill's first game. There are five sophs on this year's squad, which also seems to lack height. Graupman likes his boys to run though, and they do a great job fast-beaking. Should be a real interesting tourney, and the Owls figure to be as tough as any entered.

IN CLOSING, I'd like to add that my pick as a future champ, lightweight Louis Molina, took a big step in the right direction, stopping 3rd ranked (earlier I stated he was 10th, which was in error) Joe Lopes in the 8th. Also, thanks to C. Lara, who made the win even sweeter for me by building up my low financial status.

Plague of "rubber" checks hits campus

The college bookstore and the student accounts manager, Dorthea Taylor, recently stated that a flurry of "rubber" checks have hit the campus.

Jan McCamman, ASFC commissioner of finance, stated that from 30 to 50 checks have been returned from the banks.

Last Thursday, the student council voted unanimously to charge a $1.50 on returned checks.

Owl spikers prep for March 3 opener

By KEN BISHOP

With a good nucleus of former area high school track stars "in the fold," Foothill's track team begins the 1962 season on March 3 in a two-way meet against the San Jose State Frosh on the Spartan oval.

Verne Wolfe, Foothill track coach, who piloted the Owl cross-country team to five Coast Conference wins and the loop title, has a wealth of material on hand that should rewrite the school record board.

TOP ENROLLEES include
