

Shoplifters palm $3,700 from Bookstore last year

The De Anza College Bookstore suffered a loss of approximately $7,500, or 2.3 per cent of what sales would have been from last year's profits. Fifty per cent of the loss was due to shoplifting.

According to Bookstore Manager Bill Minney, it is a generally accepted accounting practice to attribute 50 per cent of the loss to clerical error. Clerical error covers mistakes in the office and bookkeeping procedures, errors in ringing up sales and mispricing of items.

THE OTHER $3,700 can be attributed to nothing but thievery. "The total was higher than anticipated," commented Minney, "but it does approximate the national average compiled by the National Association of College Stores, Inc.

Because of the loss and the added cost of opening a new store, Bookstore net profits totaled only $6,200, or 2 per cent, when, according to Minney, the store should have returned an 11 per cent profit. Otherwise, Minney termed the first year of the store's operation good. Sales totaled $323,000.

Minney predicted that shoplifting from the Bookstore will never be stopped although preventive measures are taken.

"Some people look on it as a game," commented Minney. Students who are caught shoplifting are sent to the Dean of Students, who decides what action should be taken.

DR. CLEMENTS explained

in an interview last spring that he handles each case individually but that the potential hazards are "considerable." A student caught shoplifting may be put on social probation. He may be turned over to the police or removed from school. In addition, the offense may be placed on his record.

"To be thrown out of college because you were caught stealing is a black mark you can never erase. A student would be eliminated from attending practically all four-year colleges," emphasized Dr. Clements.

"It is incredible to jeopardize your future when there is no reason for it. There is no logical reason to steal. There is

De Anza's Le Petit Trianon has been given a temporary reprieve from the wrecker's ball to provide Cupertino City Historian Louis Stocklmeir an opportunity to find interested persons to remove it from the campus and repair it. (La Voz photo by Rick Morgante)

Le Petit Trianon wins delay from wreckers

Le Petit Trianon, the replica of a French mansion which now stands behind the Library, has been given a temporary reprieve from the wrecker's axe.

Scheduled to be torn down at the end of last summer, the building was given a reprieve by the Foothill Junior College District Board of Trustees. The trustees voted to give Cupertino Historian Louis Stocklmeir and an ad hoc committee six more months to locate someone willing to take and repair the building.

WHEN THE LAND for the campus was purchased, Le Petit Trianon looked over lawns and a reflecting pool. When the college was built, the mansion was moved with the intention of restoring it and using it for an art gallery.

This idea was scrapped by the trustees when they learned last spring that it would cost 50 per cent more to bring the building up to school earthquake standards than to build a new gallery.

Stocklmeir said he has found people who would like the Trianon but none of them can pay the $65,000 needed to haul it away.

La Voz hunts new staffers

La Voz has numerous openings for reporters, photographers and advertising staff representatives, according to editor Ellen Bevier.

Journalism 61 includes reporters, columnists, sports writers and photographers. Students interested in the advertising, business and circulation aspects of the paper should enroll in Journalism 63. Both classes are two-unit transfer courses.

Although students with previous experience are preferred, experience is not a prerequisite for the joining the staff. However, prospective editors and reporters should know how to type. Photographers must be able to handle a camera and work in a darkroom.

Further information is available from Miss Bevier or adviser Warren Mack in room L-41.

ording to Stocklmeir, from the San Jose Landmark Committee to pay $15,000 toward moving the mansion to Kelly Park. It would serve as Cupertino's contribution to a proposed Pioneer Village in which each Santa Clara County city would have a historical building.

In pleading with the board to give him more time to raise the money, Stocklmeir said that the old mansion was the most magnificent building Cupertino has ever had.

"It would be sacrilege to destroy it," he said.

THE BOARD VOTED unanimously for the reprieve.

Last summer the fire department was called to the campus to put out a fire started under the old building by vandals.

Delay of the demolition order cancels a $1,400 low bid to demolish it.

ASDAC seeks student government members

Petitions for eleven openings in the ASDAC student government will be due Oct. 7.

Of the 11 positions open, five are seats on the Executive Council of student government. A general election will be held Oct. 14 to fill the seats of two freshman and two sophomore representatives. With a ratio of one representative per 1,000 class members, two representatives from each class will probably be needed, according to Jan Finr., director of activities.

THE FIFTH SEAT on the Executive Council is that of Director of Finance. Although usually an elective position, the job will be filled as an appointive office this term because it went unsought in last spring's general election. The finance director serves as ASDAC treasurer.

There are six appointive offices open, three of them responsible to the Director of Activities. These are the Coordinator of Social Affairs, the Activities Publicity Chairman and the Rally Chairman.

Three other offices are open: that of the Coordinator of Public events, who plans and coordinates all educational and cul-

Minister speaks on new morality

The De Anza Public Events Board, which is presenting the Reverend Lester Kinsolving in a free public lecture Oct. 4, provides a program which includes the film, fine arts and exhibits series.

Reverend Kinsolving is a religious columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle and has a radio program on KCBS. He will speak in the Campus Center at 8 p.m. on "The Sexual Revolution and the New Morality."

IN ADDITION TO Reverend Kinsolving, the lecture series will present Reid Buckley speaking on "Can Conservatives be Progressive?" and Jessica Mitford on "The American Way of Death" during the fall quarter, according to Miss Marjorie Hinson, assistant dean of student activities.

The Fine Arts Series, which like the Lecture Series is developed by a committee of students and faculty, will present Jack Aronsen with a program called "Sex Through the Ages" and soprano soloist Carolyn Rhodes Bisel during the coming quarter.

The committee which prepared the Fine Arts Series was headed by Richard Randolph, De Anza music instructor. The Lecture Series committee was headed by Gerald Wood, political science instructor.

THE FILM SERIES, which was headed by George Craven, photography instructor, will have four showings throughout the quarter. The first is Friday night.

The Exhibits Series is handicapped because of De Anza's lack of suitable facilities for shows at this point, but a few exhibits are being planned. Art instructor Gaylord Forbes oversaw that committee.

De Anza is sponsoring the tural activities with the assistance of the Public Events Board, and the offices of Parliament. (Continued on page 5)

Freeway perils DAC

A newly proposed West Valley Freeway route threatens De Anza College.

At a recent meeting of the Foothill Junior College Board of Trustees, it was announced by Supt. Calvin Flint that a recent change in federal freeway standards would relocate the freeway near to the college. The new standards ruling increases the safety of cloverleaves by enlarging their radii.

FLINT PROPOSED an alternate plan that would save the College but take 42 homes.

If the State Highway Department decides against using the alternate plan, the freeway would go through the E. F. Euphrat home on the northwest corner of the campus.

"When we purchased the Euphrat estate for the campus," stated Flint, "we agreed that Mr. Euphrat could live out his life on the part of the campus where his home stood. We were very sincere in that promise."

"IN ADDITION, if the freeway goes through his home, it will also take part of the periphery road and pass right by the classrooms. It seems it will be quite damaging to a properly planned college. We believed that we had firm freeway lines and planned accordingly before we built," explained Flint.

"Though it seems heartless to destroy homes," Board Chairman Mrs. Mary Lou Zoglin commented, "this campus is designed to serve for generations and we cannot allow its integrity to be destroyed."

Once the freeway is built, there is the possibility that the homes could be moved to the other side of it, Flint stated.

Reverend Kinsolving

Public Events series apart from the Foothill series this year. Last year the two schools combined efforts.

The programs were prepared by small committees and then presented to the Public Events Board for approval, according to Miss Hinson. Once the programs have been approved, De Anza along with several other colleges participates in a draw through a mutual booking agency. De Anza's number in the draw determines which of our first choice performers we receive. By using the booking agency, De Anza and the other colleges can get the performers at about half their regular prices.

Tipsy comedy leads film series

"Tight Little Island," an English comedy about what happens when a shipload of whiskey founders on the rocks of a whiskey-starved island in the Hebrides, leads off the De Anza College film series Friday night.

"The Critic," Ernest Pintoff's Academy Award-winning spoof of art films, art exhibits and the people who go to them, and a "Roadrunner" cartoon will also be included in the program. The films will be shown at 8 p.m. in the De Anza College Forum Building.

Admission is free with a student body card, and 75 cents without. The series is recommended for adult viewing.

Turn around, it's midterms

De Anza's adventure with the quarter system begins today and for both faculty and students it may come as a mixed blessing.

For students it will mean more than just programming three times a year. The quarter system will allow students to sample more widely of instructors and courses. They can experiment and escape from that experiment sooner if it fails.

But on the other hand, the speed at which the 12-week quarter will pass (and it will go fast) may find many students turning around to find midterms dead ahead and having recovered (hopefully), finals at their door steps. Midterms will fall around the last week of October. Finals are scheduled to begin Dec. 12.

Instructors teaching on the quarter system for the first time may also find themselves wondering where the time has flown. This may mean cramming what is left of the course into the last week or trying to find something to fill in the blanks. The conversion of many one-semester courses to one-quarter classes may be a part of this difficulty. Instructors have spent a great deal of time revamping their courses, though.

Both students and instructors should have more time to concentrate on each class, however. The number of classes involved in a quarter load is less than that of the semester. A normal semester load is five three-unit classes, while a normal quarter load is three five-unit classes.

There is one unquestioned advantage of the quarter system. If you survive this fall's adventure, you will be able to enjoy the first completely school-free Christmas vacation of your life.

DAC replaces pledge with flag ceremony

This fall, De Anza College will join the ranks of many California junior colleges in the search for a more meaningful way to fulfill the Pledge of Allegiance requirement.

Beginning with the first day of classes, at 7:30 a.m., a student honor guard will raise the flag accompanied by a recording of the national anthem. The students will also give the Pledge of Allegiance, according to Dr. George Willey, dean of instruction.

"WE HOPE THAT everyone in the area will pause and participate."

"We felt that the daily recitation of the pledge in 8 a.m. classes did not serve the objective. We are charged with the responsibility of cultivating patriotism and respect for the flag.

We think this is an important responsibility but we were not sure we were achieving it," explained Dr. Willey.

Several recordings of the national anthem are being taped by student musicians for use in the ceremony. At present, there are plans for a trumpet solo with drum accompaniment and a brass ensemble. It is hoped that the student band and the choir might also make recordings. Live music may be used on special occasions.

"NOT AS MANY people may participate this way, but for those who do, it should be more meaningful," commented Dr. Willey.

At the end of the first quarter a student-faculty-administration committee will meet to review the experiment and determine its success or failure.

Letters to the editor

La Voz welcomes all letters to the editor. Letters may be written on any subject of general interest as long as the rules of good taste and libel are observed. All letters must be signed with the written signature of the author and the student's ASDAC card number or other identification. Shorter letters will be given preference. The author's name will not be printed if he so requests, but the original letter must be signed. Because the law holds the Editorial Board responsible for the contents of La Voz, the editor must reserve the right to delete offensive material. Contact any member of La Voz staff for a further explanation of the letters policy.

Cheerleader tryouts Mon.

Tryouts to fill the position vacated by Kathy Humphrey will be held Sept. 30. Miss Humphrey will be attending the University of Wisconsin this year.

Hopeful cheerleaders should be in the Campus Center at 4 p.m. "prepared to perform," according to Jan Finn, director of activities.

"The candidates should make up a cheer using the 'Dons,' nothing elaborate, just so we can see what they can do," explained Miss Finn.

The Executive Council will do the judging. Applications are not needed.

DAC changes College Hour

College Hour has been changed this year from Monday and Wednesday from 1 to 2 p.m. to Tuesday and Thursday. The time remains the same.

Student Council meetings will be held on Tuesday mornings at 9 o'clock in the council room. The meetings are open to the student body. The Inter-Club Council will meet at 11 a.m. on Mondays.

The Campus Center opens at 7:30 a.m. Monday through Friday and closes at 9:30 every night of the week except Friday. On Fridays the Center, which includes the Winery, closes at 4:30 in the afternoon. The Bookstore opens at 7:30 each morning and closes at 8:30 Monday through Thursday. On Friday it also closes at 4:30.

Library hours are from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday. On Fridays the Library also closes at 4:30 p.m.

Green add-drop cards keys to program change process

During the first few days of each term the counseling area overflows with students attempting to change their programs. Beginning today and continuing through next Tuesday, Oct. 1, changes of program will be permitted utilizing green add/drop cards, according to a counseling division handout.

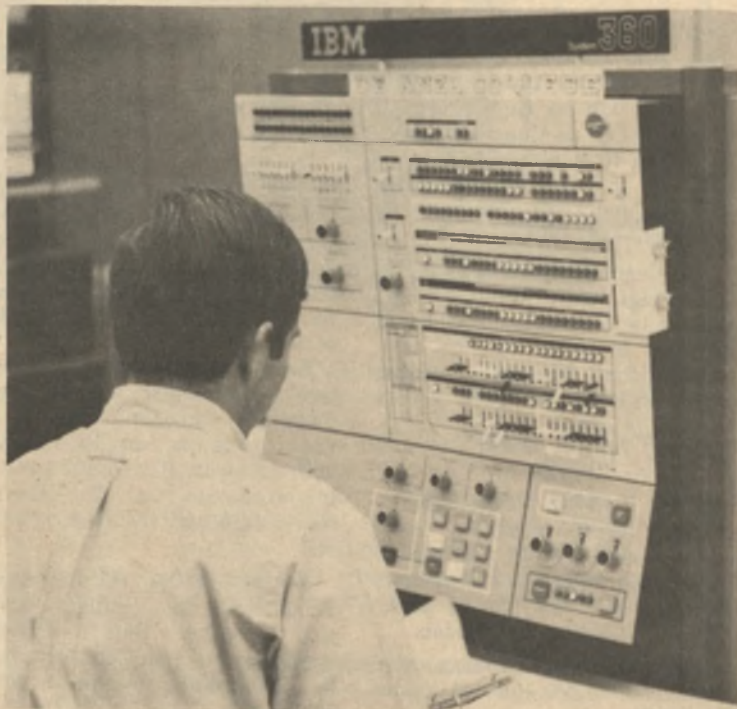

Changes made after the first of October must be accompanied by an academic council petition. The last day to drop a course without penalty for the fall quarter is Nov. 15.

The green cards needed for adding and dropping classes may be obtained from Dr. Shipnuck, assistant dean of students, or Mrs. Lee, counseling secretary, in the Counseling Reception area of the administration building.

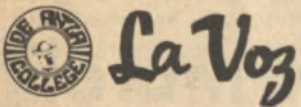

Students should fill out the green card completely and have Dr. Shipnuck sign it. After obtaining the necessary instructor signatures, the student should return the change of program card to the Registrar's Office where he will receive a temporary class card admitting him to class.

Those students who programmed on or after Sept. 19 may take their pink program sheets around for instructor signatures beginning Thursday, Sept. 30, and continuing through Oct. 1.

After the signatures have been obtained, the program sheet should be returned to the Registrar's Office where the student will receive the temporary class cards admitting him to class.

With the acquisition of the IBM Model 40, De Anza's Business and Data Processing Division will provide a new course entitled "Computer Programming for General Education." The course is designed to provide general education students with a knowledge of present and future computer applications.

Financial aids open to students

Students seeking financial aid for the school year 1968-69 have available to them several loans, grants and scholarships, according to Mrs. Claire Davis, student aid specialist.

Full time students in good standing may borrow $25 or less for a 30-day period from De Anza's emergency loan fund. Mrs. Davis stated that loans will be available "for as long as the money lasts."

STUDENTS WHO can show a need may be eligible for an Educational Opportunity Grant. The amount of money granted depends on parental contribution to the student. Annual grants may be received as long as eligibility requirements are met.

Students enrolled in at least eight units may borrow up to $500 from the National Defense Student Loan Fund, money allotted to De Anza by the National Defense Education Act.

Students begin to repay the three per cent loan nine months after graduation. Ten years may be taken to repay the loan. While in the Armed Forces, Peace Corps or VISTA, payments may be deferred. If the borrower becomes a teacher, up to 100 per cent of the loan may not have to be repayed. Mrs. Davis stressed that because this loan is pending further federal legislation, deadline for application is Sept. 30.

STATE GUARANTEED Loans and Federally Insured Loans of up to $1,000 are available to students in good standing. Nine to 12 months after completion of college, payments on the loan begins. Loan payments may be deferred while the borrower is in the Armed Forces, Peace Corps or VISTA. According to Mrs. Davis, the deadline for application of the Federally Insured Loan is Oct. 31.

Mrs. Davis noted that a small art loan fund has been established for second-year students enrolled in art, drama or music.

She encourages all students interested in scholarships to check the bulletin board in the counseling reception area.

For more information regarding financial aid students should see Mrs. Davis in Adm. 8S.

Estate planning seminar slated

In response to the expression of a community need for an Estate Planning program, the Office of Community Services of De Anza and Foothill Colleges will offer this professional seminar.

The seven-week seminar will be conducted on the De Anza Campus Oct. 10 through Nov. 21.

The objectives of the seminar are to inform the community on the most practical and economical way to arrange for disposition of property.

The seminars to be presented are, "The Nature of Estate Planning," "Your Estate Under California Community Property Law," "Taxes — Their Impact on Your Estate," "The Role of Insurance in Estate Planning," "The Nature of Trusts," "Your Banker's Role in Estate Planning," "The Role of Your Attorney — Estate Planning Coordinator."

To facilitate group discussion of information presented, enrollment will be limited to 45 persons. Meetings will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the De Anza College Campus Card Room. The registration fee is $35.

Construction of De Anza's new $363,000 pistol range begins. Located near the athletic field, it is scheduled for completion in June, 1969. The range will be used for law enforcement and recreational purposes. (La Voz photo by Rick Morgante)

Gun range underway

The De Anza College Pistol Range, now under construction at the west side of the athletic field, may be the only such range in the Bay Area to qualify for international competition, according to Earl Lewis, law enforcement instructor.

The range, which is set into the rise of earth sloping up from the track level, is scheduled for completion in June, 1969, at a cost of $363,000. Part of the mound the range makes may later be used as a foundation for bleacher seats.

THE STRUCTURE itself includes two firing ranges, both with five firing lanes separated by a classroom, two central control operations, an armory and storage facilities.

"The range is considered a community project, not just a De Anza project," stated Lewis.

The range will be used primarily by De Anza Law Enforcement students, although law enforcement agencies within the Foothill Junior College District will have second priority.

HOWEVER, THE range will also be used for recreational shooting organized by De Anza and by recognized shooting clubs, and for intercollegiate and police agency shooting matches.

For law enforcement training, one of the outstanding features of the range is that indoor and outdoor lighting conditions will be simulated to afford training under a variety of life situations. For example, mercury vapor lights will simulate street light conditions.

Both ranges will use slides and 16mm or 8mm films of law enforcement situations in which the student will be called upon to make judgment on how and when to use his weapon.

IN ADDITION TO the visual images, the distractions of traffic sounds, people talking, sirens howling, and even women screaming will be used to simulate real life conditions further.

In the future, plans are to provide each lane in the range with a fixed-focus, closed-circuit television so that the range control officer can then check firing technique as well as review any possible safety hazards.

District shows variety in fall short courses

Six new short courses offered to residents of the Foothill College District will cover varied topics ranging from a second chance for life, heart and kidney transplants, to the problems of Mexican-Americans in the community.

The opening short course is "Pursuit of Awareness II," a sequel to a spring offering using contemporary films as the medium of instruction. Meeting on alternate Sundays for four weeks at Foothill, the course begins Sunday, Oct. 6. Foothill Psychology instructor James Atchison is instructor.

THE HOURS OF all of the the courses are 7 to 10 p.m.

The second course, beginning Oct. 7, which offers a brief historical overview of Imperial China is titled "The Sleeping Dragon Awakens — the Road from Confucius and Chien Lung to Sun Yat Sen and Mao Tse Tung." Meeting in four weekly sessions at Fremont High School, the course is presented by Dr. David M. Maynard, career diplomat and Foothill political science instructor.

"New Frontiers in Science and Their Social Implications," which opens Oct. 15, will cover recent scientific breakthroughs. Coordinated by Glen P. Moffat, Foothill biology instructor, the course will meet in the De Anza College Planetarium for six evening meetings.

"Man, the Manipulator," beginning Oct. 16, will deal with personal relationships with others in six evening sessions in the Foothill College Forum Building. Dr. William H. Miller is lecturer.

THE MEXICAN-American and the Community will be studied in "Crisis in Brown and White." The course will be led by Jose Colman, De Anza Spanish and English instructor, and John C. Lovas, assistant chairman of Foothill language arts division, who have studied the disadvantaged Chicano during the past year.

"The enjoyments of the Opera" is the last short course. Taught by De Anza instructor in English and speech, Wayne Shrope, the course will begin Oct. 18 in the Foothill College Choral Building.

Brochures on dates and minimal fees are available in the De Anza and Foothill College box offices.

Adult fitness featured

The by-word of the '60's being physical fitness, the Foothill Junior College District offers an adult recreation program open to district residents 16 years and over.

At De Anza, eight-session fitness classes for men will begin Monday, Sept. 30, or Thursday, Oct. 3. Women may sign up for eight-session classes in body mechanics and figure control which begin Sept. 30 or Oct. 3. All classes meet from 7 to 9 p.m. in the gym.

Similar 12-week sessions for men and women open at Foothill on Oct. 1 and 3 and Oct. 7 and 10 for women. The hours are from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the gym.

Foothill will also offer Scuba classes in the Olympic-sized pool which open on Oct. 22. The class will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. All equipment is supplied by the College as part of the instructional fee.

A single badminton class, meeting for 10 Monday sessions from 7 to 9 p.m., will open Oct. 7 at Foothill.

Brochures listing offerings and fees and incorporating enrollment forms are available from the De Anza and Foothill College box offices.

DAC takes roll daily as usual

A recent bill signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to eliminate attendance record taking in California junior colleges will have no effect on the roll procedures of De Anza College.

Dr. George Willey, dean of instruction said he feels that De Anza students learn best by participating fully in classes. If roll were not taken, it might prove to be an incentive not to do so.

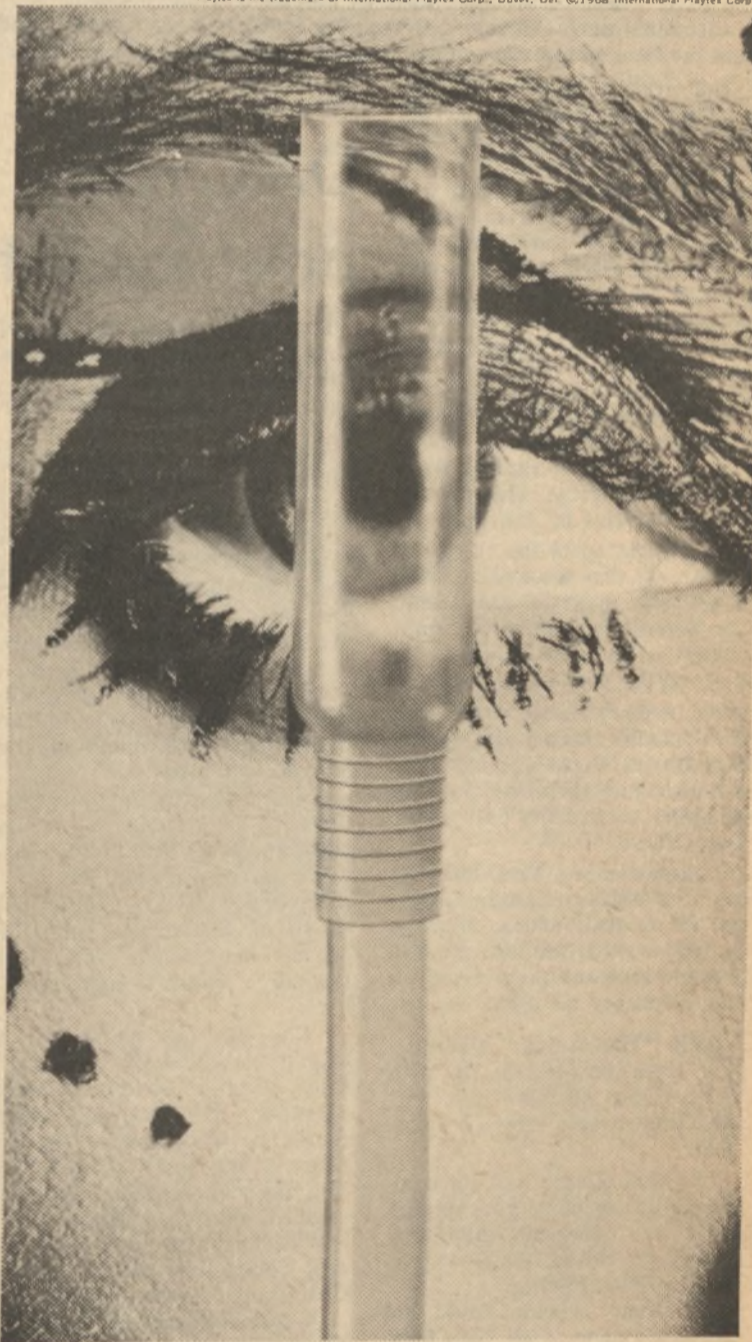

The new law permits attendance in other junior colleges to be computed on a percentage of enrollments. The system will be similar to that used by state colleges.

Students park 'white', yellow stalls off-limits

Students are reminded by Joseph Silva, district campus police supervisor that only stalls marked with white lines are authorized student parking. All yellow marked stalls are for staff and special parking permit holders only.

Silva added that all vehicle owners should remember to lock their vehicles before going to class.

Saturday evening, students will have their choice of attending Grauman's Chinese Theatre or visiting a television show. Students will also have free time to do as they please, according to Miss Helen Windham, Co-Rec director.

Because of bus arrangements, only 41 students may go on the trip. The cost is $36, which includes bus transportation, two nights lodging at the Knickerbocker Hotel, dinner at the Pea Soup Anderson Restaurant, transportation to Disneyland, the entrance fee and tickets for 10 rides, and the tour of Universal City. All other meals will be paid for by the student himself.

The deadline for sign-ups for the trip is Oct. 1. The cost of the trip must be paid at that time also. Students can sign up with and pay Sherry Boyce in the student activities office.

Miss Windham commented that because of all the new peo-

NO OFFENSE was the story of De Anza's season opener against Foothill Saturday night. Bryan Stevens (41) aimed for a block downfield, but Don halfback Ron Salas was derailed by Owl linebacker Tim Bolton (54) in this typical scene. Foothill gained revenge for last season's loss by eking out a 10-0 win. (Press Photo Bureau)

Owls take bitter battle

Don gridders seek their first win this season when they face American River this Saturday. American River will have the advantage by playing on home ground.

De Anza meets American River after losing to district rival Foothill last Saturday night. The Owls beat the Dons 10 to 0. The only TD of the game came in the first quarter off a razzle-dazzle play.

Quarterback Paul Bautista started around right end but instead of keeping the ball, flipped it out to Terry Roselli, a halfback who continued right, but threw a pass to slot man Bob Davis for one yard and six points. The extra point was put through the up-rights by Jim Volarvich. The TD came on a fourth down and capped a 47 yard drive.

THE OWLS FINAL points came off a field goal by Volarvich in the fourth quarter from the seven yard line. This capped a 34 yard drive by the Owls.

The bright spots for the Dons came when they were on defense which was most of the game. The defense first came to prominence when they stopped the Owls on the Dons four yard line.

Don defenders recovered three Owl fumbles during the game. Bob Busick, Jerry Johnson and Bill Harrigan all picked up Owl mistakes to give the ball to the Don offense.

Dyke Johnson a Don defender kept the Owls from adding a second TD to their score. Johnson pulled down a Bautista pass in the end zone and played well in the secondary all night.

John Maniscalco, Harrigan and Vince Mock led the De Anza defense line. All three men pursued and covered the short pass well.

The Don offense had its trouble getting together and playing as a unit. The one man who moved the ball for the Dons was kicked Brian Pitcher.

QB Keith Tatsuda could not move the team at all. The inexperienced line repeatedly allowed the Owl defenders to get to Tatsuda and his ball carriers.

The Don line just couldn't manage to block the Owl rushers. The main difference in the two teams was experience or the lack of it.

DAC joins new circuit

Beginning its second year of athletic competition, De Anza still features freshness by competing in a brand new athletic league.

The league has been christened Camino-Norte and is comprised of seven schools. Competing J.C.'s are Contra Costa out of the Golden Gate league, Marin and Santa Rosa from the Golden Valley league. Canada, one of the two new San Mateo campuses, begins its maiden season this year. De Anza, Solano West Valley all from the Coast Conference, round out the league.

Canada won't compete in football this year, but plans on sending a basketball and wrestling team into competition.

Camino-Norte was formed because of the number of new schools being built. The ideal size for a league is eight members.

"The growing pains of a league can be very difficult," said Athletic Director Chuck Crampton of De Anza. "Ours should be smooth, however because of the ability of Bill Wilson, the new league's commissioner," said Crampton.

Wilson is associated with Solano College and was last year's Conference Commissioner.

"I feel both leagues would be about equal if put on paper. The new league is a solid one as was last year's. They are very comparable," Crampton said.

DAC will be competing in ten intercollegiate sports again. Crampton is looking forward to a very successful athletic year in the new league.

George Spear, temporary head water polo coach, looks for the conference crown. He feels the Dons have the depth and power to take the conference and the Nor-Cal championships. Spear is sitting in for Art Lambert who is at the Olympics.

Depth gives Dons edge

With five returning lettermen and a host of talented frosh, temporary Head Coach George Spear sees the Dons as the team to beat in Northern California.

Spear, who is replacing Art Lambert until his return from the Olympics in November, feels he has the depth and ability to take the conference and Nor-Cal championships. He sees his main problem as "team unity".

"It may take two or three weeks for the team to work together" Spear said.

West Valley looks to be the Don's competition in conference play with Foothill battling for Nor-Cal honors, according to Spear.

The turn out was good but Spear would like to see more men come out and participate.

Spear feels that the conference matches are the easiest ones on the team's schedule. He sees tough matches against U.C.L.A., U.C.I. (University of California at Irvine) and Stanford.

Bowling, tag football top intramurals slate

Bowling, touch football, wrestling, swimming, diving, volleyball, badminton and weight lifting will be offered to DAC students this quarter by the intramural department headed by Miss Helen Windham.

They start the year with a bowling tournament. The starting date is Oct. 9 at 4:15 p.m. at Futurama Bowl on Stevens Creek. The tourney ends Dec. 4 with the presentation of trophies.

THE TROPHIES, being donated by the Futurama Bowl, will be awarded to high game man and woman, high series man and woman, first and second place teams and most improved man and woman.

Touch football for men will also be offered this year. Competition will begin in the middle of October and end when a winner is determined. The teams can have 10 men but only six will play at a time.

Students will form their own teams and register them in Miss Windham's office (PE 51A). No members of the school's football team will be allowed to participate. Only members of the first-place team will receive trophies.

OTHER ACTIVITIES slated for the first quarter are wrestling, swimming and diving and a sports day at Foothill College in October. November will see a volleyball tournament, badminton tournament and a sports day at Chabot College on the 23rd. A weight lifting tournament is the only activity scheduled for December.

The intramural department has available booklets and other information on all of the programs. To sign up for any of the intramural activities, go to P.E. 51-A or B in the pool area.

Grid preview

Injuries have plagued the Don grid camp and cost the team several good players.

Head Coach Bob Pifferini feels the loss of Brad Arba, a starter for the Dons last season, and the loss of Rich Cummings, a promising freshman, can only hurt the team.

Pifferini is faced with inexperience in the ranks for the second year. The Don's mentor has only five experienced players to work with.

The head coach looks for a balanced league with the exception of Contra Costa. Pifferini sees them as the team to beat. The Dons take on Contra Costa in their first conference match.

Foothill heads the list of a tough practice schedule for the Dons. American River, Monterey and Cabrillo round out the pre-season activities. Pifferini feels that if the team can fare well in the pre-season games they should do well in conference play.

WHY RUPERT NEVER EATS AT THE NEW TANGENT

He hates people.

Live music and entertainment make him nervous.

Hamburgers with lots of good things on them never agree with him, and the thought of southern fried chicken leaves him cold. Pizza (especially our real Italian-made pizza) is the last thing he'd ever eat.

He's the only one we know who won't.

He's Hubert's pet goldfish; Hubert is the cook.
