Newspaper Chooses Temporary Name

The Foothill News has been selected by the journalism class as a temporary name for the college paper. The editorial board plans to select a permanent name following the elections for the school traditions.

Explosion Threatened

Foothill College was threatened with a gas explosion Monday, Oct. 27 at 4:15 p.m. A broken gas line was the cause of alarm.

A ditch digger from Broadway Plumbing was digging a pipe trench for the new snack bar when he snagged a gas line. The accumulation of gas could have resulted in an explosion.

At that time in the afternoon very few classes are in progress, consequently only the home economics room was evacuated.

The line, which was the property of the P. G. & E., was evidently not clearly marked. This resulted in the ditch digger's mistake.

A P. G. & E. emergency crew was called by the school and was soon hard at work fixing the leak. The question now is, did they bring some warning signs with them?

Talking over plans for Foothill College's student government are Judie Mahon, Joanne Linder, Linda Yarka, Doris Jenkins and John Deseck.

Sadie Hawkins Dance Given by Social Committee

The social committee will give its fourth dance of the year on Nov. 7 entitled the Sadie Hawkins dance. It will include a hayride and a dance with sandwiches and music.

The dance will be woman asks man. It will be interesting to see the reaction when the girls do the asking as it seems from the last three dances the guys are too bashful. Students will meet at the school Saturday evening and go on a hayride, then return to the school for the dance. The cost per person is fifty cents. The affair will last from 8:30 to 12:30.

The dress will be blue jeans, cowboy hats or appropriate dress for a Sadie Hawkins dance.

LOUNGE PLANS—Sheri Baldwin, Sue Woodward and Inez Peckler study plans for the new student center to be completed in December.

Student Lounge to be Completed December

The Foothill College student center is scheduled for completion in December. The new building will include a lounge area, covered patio, snack bar and bookstore. The patio and lounge area will also be available for student dances.

James Jones, director of the student center, said that the center will be built in old German-French style with a screened, covered patio. The snack bar is presently operating on a limited basis because of limited space. The snack bar is now selling sandwiches, milk shakes, cold drinks and coffee.

When the new snack bar is completed it will add hot sandwiches, chili, soup and other items to the menu. The snack bar will be under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Wyatt.

The snack bar is now operating in a classroom in the northeast side of the building.

Foothill Officials Visit Jr. Colleges

Five Foothill College officials spent last Thursday p.m. and all day Friday visiting northern California junior colleges. According to Dr. Calvin C. Flint, president, the purpose of the tour was to obtain ideas in the technical and art fields and to hold discussion with junior college officials.

Those who made the trip were Dr. Flint; William Cutler, research and administrative assistant; Aria L. DeHart, dean of students; Dr. Nathan H. Boortz, director of technical education; and Kenneth Orret, instructor in art.

Campuses visited were College of Marin and San Francisco.

ASFC Election Nov. 7; Constitution Passes

An election of Foothill College student body officers will be held on Nov. 7, following passage of the ASFC constitution last Wednesday.

The constitution was accepted by a vote of 162 yes to 23 no.

Major offices up for election next week include president, vice president, secretary, commissioner of finance, commissioner of publications, commissioner of activities.

An assembly is planned for next Wednesday at 11 a.m. At this time students nominated for office will be introduced to the student body. All persons running for office must have petitions filed by Tuesday evening.

The constitution was revised several times before presentation to the student body as a whole.

The codes for the different parts of the constitution have been arranged and will be added as time permits.

There was some disagreement whether the cheer leaders and song leaders mentioned in the constitution would be selected by popular vote or be selected by the screening board. It was decided that the board would select a group of people from all applicants and these in turn would be chosen by the associated student body of Foothill College.

After all elections are held, Article 14 will be dropped from the constitution as it deals only with the ratification of the constitution and officers for this semester.

Several members of the student body will be allowed to run for office as a result of a contradiction in the constitution making it possible for students with 12½ units or less to hold an ASFC office.

This will have to be corrected by the student council when it becomes active. The constitution defines the full-time student as well as one carrying 12½ or more units.

Johnson Conducts Press Workshop

Richard Johnson, instructor in journalism at Foothill College, spoke at the annual meeting of Central California Press Association held Saturday, Oct. 25.

The high school conference was open to journalism students attending schools in the northern part of the state as far south as Gonzales and as far north as Booneville. Johnson conducted two initial workshops in the afternoon.

J.C. Heads Confer at Yosemite

The California Junior College Association met in Yosemite this week. The conference began on Tuesday and ran through Thursday.

Mrs. Mary S. Levine, Foothill College trustee, and Dr. Calvin C. Flint, president, attended. Sixty-three public junior college administrators compose the state association.

Students Offered Half Price Ducats

Pebble Beach Sports Car Race will be held at Laguna Seca on Nov. 8 and 9.

The executive board of the racing association passed a motion allowing students to be admitted at a special rate of $1.50, one-half the regular price of $3.00. All students are requested to bring their student body cards to the race.

Editorial

It seems we will have to change the editorial that we had planned after the Rainbow Romp to include the Black Magic Ball.

We had hoped after the different student government committees had met and compared facts that they would do their best to get everyone to come to the dance. Well, we guess they tried their best and we know Mrs. Ruth Bryant did, but something happened and we can't quite figure it out. There were posters in the hall and there were announcements in the daily bulletin, but there was no real response to the notice of the dance until Friday. On the three days before the dance there were 22 tickets sold; on the night of the dance there were 19 tickets sold at the door, thereby paying for the expenses of the dance but not having anything left over for the student fund.

In snooping around the ticket counter as Bill Keys and others were trying to sell tickets we noticed that the most prevalent excuse for not attending the dance was "we're going to Frisco." Now we ask you, couldn't they at least have said San Francisco? We hate to have to write an editorial that will go out to other schools where they will notice our lack of support for school functions and our lack of spirit for our new (old) school. . . .

WHAT THE JOURNALISM CLASS WANTS TO GIVE

The primary purpose of the school paper is to communicate with the student body. This will be done by giving the newspaper a distinct, truthful, thorough, accurate and impartial personality.

The journalism class will do its very best to carry out the following:

News reports shall be free from opinion or biases of any kind. Special articles shall be signed by the writer.

Initiative and responsibility among the students of Foothill College shall be encouraged. The members of the newspaper staff are pledged to promote worthwhile service, both to Foothill College and the community it is a part of.

Sure warrant of public right, not public curiosity, shall be the only reason for invasion of private rights or feelings.

Prompt and complete correction of all mistakes in fact or opinion, whatever the origin, shall be made.

There will be a reasonable amount of humor in the paper, thus making it not merely a dry newsheet. Another aspect of the paper will be the promotion of student-faculty relations.

Gossip will not be printed.

Night Classes Exceed Day

Night classes overwhelm day classes according to Miss Carmelita Geraci, Registrar. The night enrollment consists of 915 students. The day enrollment consists of 668 students.

Evening classes offer the following subjects: art, astronomy, business, chemistry, electronics, engineering, English, French, industrial management, mathematics, music, philosophy and psychology.

The only courses not offered at night are history, journalism, anthropology, economics, geography, orientation, physical education, physics, sociology, Spanish, speech and zoology.

Instructor In Print

An electronics instructor in the evening division, Joseph Roizen, has authored an article scheduled for the November issue of "Radio and Television News".

An experienced teacher in both engineering and electronics, Mr. Roizen is a graduate of Sir George Williams University in Montreal, and has done graduate work at the University of California in Los Angeles. Supervising engineer at General Electric, research engineer in color video tape systems at Ampex Corporation; projects engineer at Paramount Pictures and electronics engineer at Pacific Mercury are among the positions he has held.

Foothill News

is a publication of the Associated Students of Foothill College, published twice monthly, except during examination periods, by journalism students in room 107.

Application for second class mailing permit is pending at Mountain View, California.

DR. CALVIN C. FLINT, president of Foothill College strikes an academic pose at the new site selected for the college. The campus will be located on El Monte and Stonebrook ave. Construction of the school will begin in March of 1959.

Progress Seen Now, More Soon to Come

At present, progress on the appearance of Foothill may seem to be at a stand still, but many plans have been made and soon will be carried out.

The temporary site has already had extensive work done on reconstruction, wiring, heating and plumbing facilities. Now the stress is on appearance.

Interior repainting is to be done by Foothill's staff of custodians and is already in progress. All the rooms will receive a fresh coat of paint. This work is being done on week-ends.

Floors will be temporarily finished to meet immediate needs. Further work will be done during the year to give them their final surface. Asphalt tile may be used where conditions call for such.

Another fresh coat of paint for the whole exterior is on schedule. Bids for this job were reviewed at the board meeting Oct. 20.

The college gardener, Joe Rodriguez, hopes to receive enough funds to carry out his landscaping plans. Foothill College students will soon have use of a new turf, but further work of this type will be held up until the painters are through and the carpenters have left.

A surface of either blacktop or gravel will solve the parking lot dust problem. First rearrangement of the parking area will be necessary to accommodate the new student center.

The new locker and shower room and the new student center will be connected by a canopy. The two buildings will be related in general construction features.

All in all as much as possible will be done to make Foothill College attractive while keeping in mind the fact it will be used only three years.

New Campus Sight of 115 Acres Selected in Hills

Foothill College has finally selected the site of the new campus. The school is buying 115 acres of land in the Los Altos Hills area bordering on El Monte and Stonebrook avenues. While some people in this area have more or less condemned the college for the location of the property, there were good reasons for the decision.

Library Fights Book Shortage

Why does the college have a shortage of books in the library? The college is not the only one which has no books. Foothill has the money to buy them, and they have been ordered since August 10. A definite drawback is that there has been a trucking strike and generally this time of year is the biggest time for selling books.

The library now has over 1600 books and many periodicals. By the end of the year it hopes to have over 4000 books.

The school will have a picturesque site, and there will be the Junipero Serra Freeway bordering the campus on the south.

Contrary to the beliefs of most people there won't be as much leveling and grading done on the campus as they had expected. The campus is to be built on different levels in much the same way as San Mateo campus at Coyote Point.

The drainage problem does not seem to be too serious according to W. B. Cutler, research and administration assistant for Foothill College, as the rolling hills and nearby creeks make good drainage possible.

The property is being purchased from six parties.

There has been some comment on the fact that the land is too expensive and since the school is paying a fair market value for the land (which is in a sub-division district) the school should have looked elsewhere for its property.

The building on the new school should start in March of 1961 and be ready for the students to enter in September of that year. There is a possibility that more campuses will be added in the future but for now there will be just the Los Altos Hills campus.

Constitution Approved New Lockers New Shower

The Foothill Constitution was presented in tentative form to the Foothill District Board on Oct. 20, 1958. After looking over the constitution, the board approved it.

The persons responsible for developing the constitution are Miss Seavey, Mr. DeHart, Carolyn Barber, Genevieve McKinnon, Linda Yarkey and Judy Yahn.

Article I designated that the name for the college shall be "The Associated Students of Foothill College" — A.S.F.C.

Article IV names the offices which will be held by the students of the college. They are president, vice president, secretary, commissioner of activities, commissioner of publicity, commissioner of finance, social chairman, athletics chairman, rally chairman, activities publicity chairman, news bureau chairman, editor of the magazine, club presidents, sophomore class president and freshman class representatives.

Qualifications: Any A.S.F.C. officer shall be a full time student in good standing at Foothill College, shall have completed at least one full semester of work at Foothill College, shall have an accumulated grade point average of at least 2.0, and carry at least 2.0 grade point average during his nomination or appointment.

Foothill College will soon be the possessor of a new locker room. The locker room, which will be used only for team sports, should be completed within the next two and a half weeks according to Bill Abbey, chairman of the physical education department. The building itself is a modern structure and is located by the basketball courts. It will have individual lockers, showers, office for coach, and equipment room.

Additional locker rooms will be built by next year for the football, basketball and track and field teams.

Flint Terms Self

Partial To Activities

Dr. Calvin C. Flint, president of Foothill College, in a recent interview stated, "You will find I take a deep interest in school activities and student publications. A school paper is the greatest medium for developing student spirit and promoting a strong school activity program."

"Too often college presidents have interest only in their schools' academic and classroom area. In my own case you will not find this true."

FOOTSIE THE OWL—John Pesek, Sue Woodward and Marlyn Rauenhorst contemplate the downfall of Footsie as mascot. The students belong to the traditions committee.

Committees Seeks School Color, Mascot

John Pesek, traditions committee chairman, reported the results of the first poll on the traditional names suggestions, on October 7, 1958. The names that will be put up to the students to vote on will be: Pacers, Owls, Condors.

James Jones, student affairs and book store director, suggested the Foothill Pacers. A pacer is a horse which has a distinctive gait or rack. Jones suggested building the background of the school around the pacer.

Foothill Owls — Owls is a carryover from the grammar school that was here before. There is a cement statue of an owl in front of the cafeteria. The owl's name is "Footsie."

Foothill Condors — A condor is a large vulture found in the higher regions of the Andes Mountains of South America.

The traditions committee is having the Wilson Sporting Goods Company make up some of the color combinations, so the student body will have some idea of how the color schemes will look together. A few of the color schemes will be: two shades of blue, black and gold, blue and white, black and orange. It will take a couple of weeks before the colors will be made up.

John L. Freemuth has suggested a contest for the school song. One way to do this would be to have the English classes do it for extra credit. Fred Warren, music instructor, said he would compose the music to go with the words.

Dr. Guerra Teaches Language Here On TV

Dr. Manuel Guerra is instructor of the only foreign languages offered this year, French and Spanish.

Dr. Guerra received his B.A. degree with honors at the University of Wisconsin, his M.A. and Ph.D. at the University of Michigan. His post graduate work was done at the University of California and the National University of Mexico.

He is a member of 3 honorary foreign language fraternities, president of the American Association of Spanish and Portuguese Teachers for Northern California, and also is a member of the National Committee of Modern Language Association for teaching foreign languages on television and in elementary schools. In 1947 he was voted "Who's Who in American Education" for teaching children Spanish with new techniques on educational television.

Starting November 3, Dr. Guerra, who has been teaching for thirteen years in the colleges and universities of New York and California, will teach Spanish to 25,000 children on KQED television, San Francisco. Three thousand of these children are in this district.

Dr. Guerra believes that a foreign language should be a living experience in which learning the language can be lots of fun and can take on meaningful values.

Prof. Talks To Language Club

The first meeting of the Foreign Language Club took place on Friday, Oct. 17, 1958 at 7:00 p.m.

Professor Luis Enrique Osorio, lecturer, from Stanford University was the guest speaker.

Professor Osario spoke about politics, race, school systems, religion, customs, and the theatre which he helped to found in Columbia.

During the latter part of the evening elections were held, the results being: president, Genevieve McKinnon; vice president - treasurer, Bill Crothers; secretary, Alba Osorio.

Where should the college place the blame for not having enough books? James C. Jones of the college bookstore explains that the fault lies with not being able to estimate the number of students enrolled in classes.

He states, "We had to revise most orders due to over and under enrollment. By the time the number had been verified and reorders made, the publishing houses were short of books."

In the future the school will have a better idea of the course interest and the number of students expected. This will be done by using this year's enrollment as a model. Where does the blame fall? The blame falls on uncontrolled circumstances due to the newness of our college.

"Black Magic" Theme For Foothill Dance

"Black Magic" was the theme of Foothill's pre-Halloween dance held at the Los Altos social center last Friday, Oct. 25.

The "Blue Sharps" provided the appropriate music. Decorations and lighting were designed to coincide with the theme. This was the first Foothill dance limited to couples only by the sale of bids. Dress was dressy sport.

Dancing began at 8:30 p.m., and continued until 30 minutes after the witching hour.

Flint Tells Standards

According to Dr. Calvin C. Flint, president of Foothill College, the program of F. C. is predicated on the assumption that the college assist young people not only in academic areas but also in their training. The establishment of high academic standards and areas means that the staff of F.C. is instructed to grade strictly and to assign work in all classes which is commensurate with accepted college standards, and which in principle would require two hours of outside work for each hour spent in class.

Dr. Flint feels, however, that it is primarily in the area of developing responsibility on the part of the young person that Foothill College has assumed an obligation to develop these standards, which are not always recognizable as being associated with the requirements of the college.

"In order to train the student for his vocational and other responsibilities in later life, it is felt that the college must establish the same kind of standards the person will encounter in his life. For example, the college feels that it must enforce the attendance requirements, expect all assignments to be turned in on time and in a style which is best the student can do."

"The standards are not to be applied in a 'tough manner', Dr. Flint states, "but we feel that we have a responsibility to assist young people and therefore a very personalized check of these strict standards will be applied."

Mesje Peterich, New Foreign Student Here

MIESJE PETERICH

Have you met Miesje Peterich, Foothill's Dutch student? She has been in the United States only 5 weeks from Rotterdam, Holland.

She attended elementary school in Rotterdam and high school at a girls school there also. After 2 years of high school she was transferred to a boarding school in Surrey, England. Miesje then returned to Rotterdam to take a secretarial course.

Miesje came to America with her fiance, Gelyn Jurry, who is attending Stanford on a fellowship in Economics. They will remain here one year before returning to Holland where they will be married.

According to Miesje, some of the students at Foothill have the wrong impression of Holland. She says the schools in Holland are very much the same and they don't wear wooden shoes. She describes the American boys as "Looking funny because of their bald heads" — better known as crew cuts.

"All of the girls look very nice," she thinks, "but the biggest mistake of both men and women is that they all chew gum, which in Holland just isn't done."

Students Forming College Dance Band

When will the college dance band be ready for action? This answer depends on the interest of the students. When completed, the band will be available for school functions and dances sponsored by the community.

Charles Henderson, who plays both alto sax and clarinet, has been appointed student leader of the band. Other members are as follows: Gary Olson and Bill Harper, trumpets; Jerrold Powers and Osamu (Sam) Yamasaki, trombones; Les Wayne, guitar. Piano, drums, string bass, and sax players are still needed.

According to Fred Warren, music instructor, Foothill will have one of the finest bands in the area within the next year.

Rain Bow Romp Held, 200 Students Attend

As a prelude to a full, fall schedule at Foothill College, the social committee gave its second dance of the season entitled "Rainbow Romp" at the Los Altos Social Center Oct. 4.

The decorations committee put in several hours of work and despite accidents were able to present a colorful scheme for the two hundred students who came to the dance.

The hostesses serving refreshments looked as if they could use some of their own refreshments after the first few fast dances.

Mrs. Margaret Shaw and Chuck Finley offered their help at the door, admitting students and pinning some names on them.

Dr. and Mrs. Hubert Semans, Dr. O. B. Nerson and Mrs. Ruth Bryant were the only attending faculty. We hope to see more of the faculty at the future dances. STUDENTS TOO!

Bill Keys and his dog Herkimer kept things at a fast pace while Roz Keith, Los Altos Senior, sang two numbers to the dancers.

Jones Tells Book Trouble

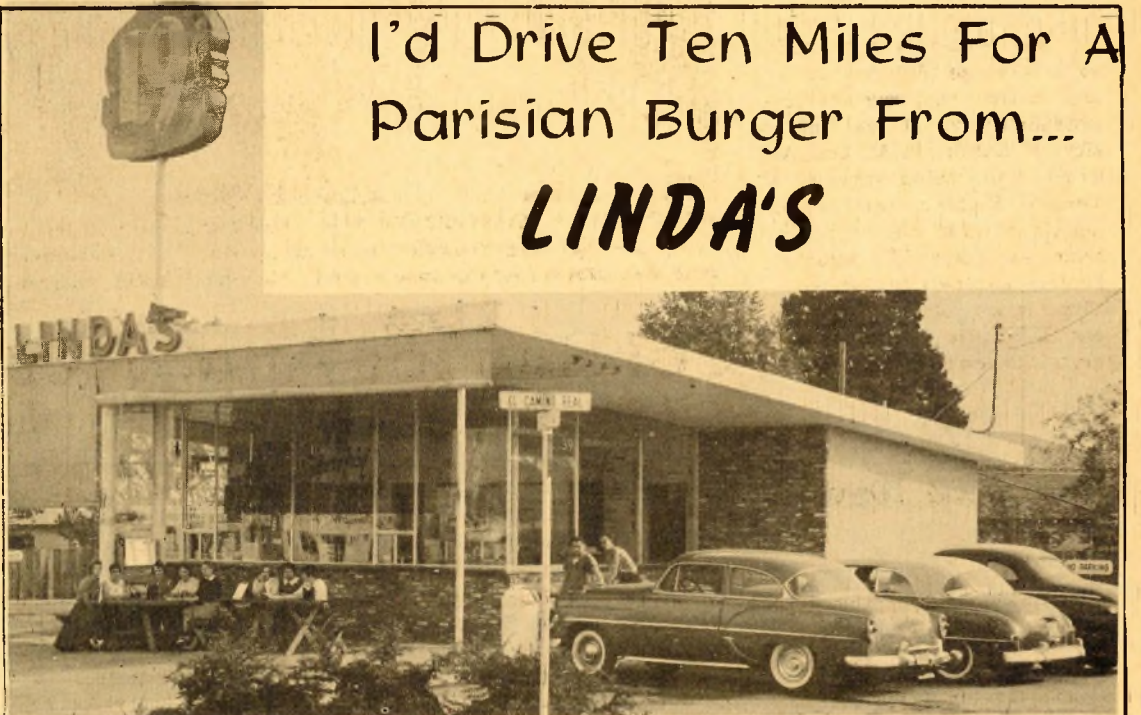

Where should the college place the blame for not having enough books? James C. Jones of the college bookstore explains that the fault lies with not being able to estimate the number of students enrolled in classes.

He states, "We had to revise most orders due to over and under enrollment. By the time the number had been verified and reorders made, the publishing houses were short of books."

In the future the school will have a better idea of the course interest and the number of students expected. This will be done by using this year's enrollment as a model. Where does the blame fall? The blame falls on uncontrolled circumstances due to the newness of our college.

AS I SEE IT

BY BOB SIEBENTHALL

This first year of existence for Foothill College brings up numerous questions regarding the proposed sports program. Perhaps one question might be, "What emphasis is going to be placed on intercollegiate sports?" Coach Bill Abbey has some fine ideas for the development of this part of the college program. He not only wants to expose Foothill to nearly all major and minor sports in the near future, but he wants to be able to field teams against the keenest competition on the coast.

STRONG ATHLETIC SCHEDULE

The caliber of teams Coach Abbey will produce is unknown, but regardless of this he has already scheduled Foothill against several coastal powerhouses in most of the sports planned for next year. In football this includes Hartnell, which participated in the Junior Rose Bowl classic in 1952. This contest is the junior college version of THE Rose Bowl Game. The affair pits one of the best eastern or the usually strong West Pasasouthern teams against the strongest squad in the west.

Foothill will also clash with Dena City College. The Pasadena tilt will be played in the Rose Bowl. With the exception of one date to be filled, the football schedule for the 1959 grid season is as follows:

- Sept. 25—to be filled—here
 - *Oct. 3—Vallejo—here
 - *Oct. 10—Diablo Valley—here
 - *Oct. 17—Monterey—there
 - Oct. 24—open
 - Oct. 31—San Jose State Frosh—here
 - *Nov. 7—Menlo—there
 - *Nov. 14—Hartnell—there
 - *Nov. 21—San Jose City—here
 - Nov. 27—Pasadena City—there
- * Denotes Conference Games

Some men are wondering when football practice will begin for the first season. Coach Abbey expects it to start during the early part of September. There will be no spring training session as this is contrary to junior college regulations.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The paper doesn't claim that it can answer all questions submitted regarding the athletic program, but if any students have such questions they are welcome to turn them in to anyone on the staff in the news room (107). The staff will try its best to obtain an answer and print it in the next issue of the paper.

PIGSKIN PROGNOSIS

Those who have a knack for selecting winners of football games are offered an opportunity to test this skill. Ten games will be posted on the board of the news room. The list will consist of major college contests on the coast, one professional encounter, and games of the Coast Conference, the league that Foothill will join next year. Just drop the predictions in the sports basket in the above mentioned room.

The names of those who predict all 10 games correctly will appear in the next issue of the paper. There will be no prizes — who has money? The sports staff will join in by selecting their choices of the same 10 battles.

The picks for this week-end:

San Jose C.C. over Diablo Val.
 Monterey over Vallejo J.C.
 Hartnell over Menlo
 Stanford over Southern Cal.
 California over Oregon State
 C.O.P. over Boston College
 Washington St. over UCLA

Bowling Takes Lead In Intramural

P.E. Directors Are Abbey, Windham

Bowling is Foothill's first intramural sport. It will be held on Tuesday afternoons from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m.

Bowling will carry on through November and December at the Sunnyvale Bowling Alley. The cost per week will be $1.20 per person for three games. There will be men's, women's and mixed teams competing for trophies, bracelets and other awards.

Students may also accumulate intramural points for all after school activities.

Miss Helen Windham, director of the after school intramural program, will have activities to meet the interests of most students as far as facilities will allow.

Some of the activities this semester will be volleyball, basketball, horseshoes and deck tennis. There will be competition with other schools in team and individual sports, play days, sports days, clinics, and tournaments in the future.

Students nominated for after school intramural officers are: president, Bill Keyes and Ray Babb; vice president, Vic Benight, Jim Johnson and Harvey Bandy; secretary of records and correspondence, Jerry Buzzell and Bob Reading; treasurer, Jim Brady, Bill Jones and Louie Mateo.

Women's intramural nominees include: president, Carole Ann Kosek and Marie Fiore; vice president, Dani Mossolani and Nita Carrillo; secretary of records and correspondence, Kay Henderson and Molley Robinson; treasurer, Cecil Kuntz, Sandy Killian and Bessy Davis.

The first after-school intramurals will be held November 6, 1958, at 3:30. All students are urged to come out, get acquainted and play volleyball.

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL is one of the few athletic activities currently in progress.

Intercollegiate Sports Scheduled For '59-'60

Intercollegiate sports activity for the 1959-60 season will consist of a well-rounded schedule including football, basketball, golf, tennis, baseball, and track and field.

Because student body funds will not be sufficient, Dr. Calvin Flint, president of Foothill, has asked that the district initially finance the athletic program. He said all athletic equipment will probably cost the district $20,000 for the first year. Replacements and additions will run from $8,000 to $10,000 each year.

Bill Abbey, who will coach the football team, said that it now costs approximately $150 to equip each football player alone.

Coach Abbey has scheduled nine games for the Foothill gridlers when they open their first season next fall. The opening date is yet to be filled. The final game will be a trip by air to Pasadena City College in Southern California. The game will be played in the Rose Bowl.

The overall program includes nine football contests, 15 basketball dates, 14 golf tournaments, 15 tennis engagements, 16 baseball games, and 12 track and field meets. Swimming is yet to be arranged.

To be eligible for varsity sports a student must carry a minimum of 10 units. He can participate for two years at junior college, but his eligibility is void as soon as he has attended six semesters or receives an Associate of Arts degree. In all cases he must maintain a "C" grade average.

Home games in all sports will be played on one of the surrounding high schools. The school at which the games are to be played has not been decided.

Coaches Are Always Making Decisions

This is a true story about a fellow who is in his last year at college and this is the final football game of the year.

He seldom ever got into past games but this being his last year he is determined to get in and be a hero.

The following scene is in this time and age but in the old Shakespearean language. Gordy Smitzburger is the player.

Gordy — O come now dear coach. Letest me enter thy game.

Coach — Stay silent Smitzburger. Ye bothereth me.

Gordy — But coach, thou never letest me enter a game.

Coach — Ah! But thy time shall come. Patient be!

Gordy — (to himself) Humph! Patient be sayeth he. I hath been patient for four years.

(At this time the waterboy runs up to the coach)

Water boy — Hither, sir coach! Speak to you, I must! (The water boy excitedly tells the coach something).

Coach — Smitzburger!!

Gordy — O happy day! This beith my great chance to be worshipped.

Coach — Smitzburger! Goeth in yonder . . .

Gordy — Aye, sir coach!

Coach — Galahad hath torn his pantaloons. Goeth there in and giveth him yourn.
