STUDENT VOLUNTEERS HELP—More than 50 day and evening students helped in the on-campus headquarters set up the the Citizens' Committee for Foothill College Bonds.

Checking mailing lists against the registered voters roster, preparing mailings and readying for all-out effort on the Sept. 18 bond voting day has kept the crew busy.

Students await bond vote results

When voters go to the polls Sept. 18 to decide the fate of a second Foothill College campus, a corps of Foothill students will watch with more than casual interest the outcome of the $14 million bond election.

The ASFC Bond Committee, headed by ASFC Pres. Bob Katheiser, and another group directed by Robert Littlefield, president of Foothill Evening College Students Association, have spent long summer hours assisting in the bond drive.

According to Mrs. Ruth M. Durst, secretary to the Citizens' Committee for Foothill College Bonds, much of the "invaluable student effort" has been in helping prepare mailings to voters of the area. Information on the general obligation bond issue has been sent to the College's various technical and advisory committees, alumni and former students, evening students, parents of day students and to friends of the College.

Garth Dougan, director of student activities, said the student committees plan to continue publicizing next week's election now that school has started. A major "all hands, all-out effort" will be telephoning vote reminders on election day.

"STUDENT WORKERS aren't necessarily trying to get out the student vote, since many aren't yet eligible," said Dougan. "The committee members are more interested in twisting the arms of their parents and voting friends to see that they get to the polls."

Working under the general direction of the Citizens' Committee, headed by Superior Court Judge Robert F. Peckham, volunteers have sent out fact sheets, letters, endorsement cards and other material numbering well over 100,000 separate pieces. About 50 student volunteers joined faculty wives, a number of volunteers from the community and members of the College clerical staff who worked evenings without pay.

IF APPROVED Sept. 18, the bond issue will provide funds for the site purchase, architectural planning and construction of a complete second campus on Stevens Creek Road in Cupertino.

The second campus, to serve an additional 4,000 full time day students, will be constructed in stages as needed. Future enrollment figures furnished Foothill Pres. Calvin C. Flint indicate that construction may begin as early as 1966.

ENROLLMENT AT the present El Monte campus is already so high (an estimated 3,200 full time day students) that the need for a second campus is "definitely a possibility for 1967 and a certainty by 1968," he noted.

Dr. Flint has emphasized that approval next week is a must if future Foothill facilities are to be provided in an "orderly manner." Furthermore, state law requires at least two-thirds of those voting must approve the bond measure before it will pass.

Stickers required for student parking

All new and returning students at Foothill must display a parking sticker on their windshields, according to William B. Cutler, assistant business manager.

Students parking is restricted to the four large areas surrounding the campus. Faculty parking is designated in areas behind the engineering building, the Faculty house and the Cusack house. The area allotted to handicapped students is behind the library.

Beyond these rules, Cutler asked that students avoid parking near the fire hydrant and blocking access roads. He warned that students infringing upon these rules are subject to $5 citations by the sheriff's office.

Wider El Monte plans seen stalled

Hope for a widened El Monte Road this year can be forgotten.

This is the latest word on the $667,000 project, according to Dexter Ahlgren, Los Altos city engineer.

"As far as the timing goes, we can't expect the project to be completed much before next fall," said Ahlgren.

FUNDS FOR the project will come from the city of Los Altos, Santa Clara County and the Santa Clara County Expressway bond issue which was passed over a year ago.

Ahlgren said if anyone was to blame it would be Los Altos. In order to get funds from the county bond issue, Los Altos must enter into a contract with the county — which it has not yet done.

City councilmen are expected to resolve the problem of the Foothill Expressway tonight at their regular meeting, which could be a start in clearing a path for the El Monte project. However, if the council delays action any further, said Ahlgren, El Monte widening plans may be postponed even further.

THE MAIN thing to wait for now, he said, is for Los Altos to enter into a contract with the county allowing work to be done within the city and to acquire a right of way.

Widening of El Monte will start at the Fremont avenue intersection and stop at the state freeway interchange (Junipero Serra Freeway).

First day sees record enrollment, 43 more instructors, more courses

Foothill opened its fifth anniversary year today with a record enrollment, 50 per cent more instructors and an expanded curriculum designed to meet the needs of the community.

College officials were expecting a whopping total of 7,200 day and evening students as classes get underway. If last minute registration is an indication, nearly 3,200 will sign for day classes and another 4,000 will elect evening courses before registration closes Friday.

TO MEET the demand, 43 new full time instructors have been hired (see page 2), bringing the administrator-instructor total to 123.

New curriculums have been prepared for majors in additional subjects areas, ranging from dental assisting to transportation.

According to Donald H. Ewing, assistant to the dean of instruction, two of these major areas, law enforcement and purchasing, are entirely new while the rest have been expanded from present fundamental courses (one and two semesters) to a basis for four-semester curriculums.

AREA POLICE officials will teach the law enforcement courses because of the last minute resignation of the instructor hired for the position. The initial class, consisting of 30 men and women, will start on schedule, thanks to local police officers, Ewing said.

The purchasing courses are Fundamentals of Purchasing, Purchasing Practices for Government Contracts and Problems in Purchasing.

Additional courses will be offered in advertising, astronomy, insurance, dental assisting, medical assisting, nursing, music, X-ray technology, real estate, transportation, data processing and engineering and electronics.

Del Courtney band set for first dance

Welcome Dance, Foothill's first big social event, is set for Sept. 21 with music by Del Courtney and his band.

The dance will be held in the Campus Center from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Miss Demitra Georgas, director of social activities, urged students to come stag.

"This is a dance to meet new and old students, so why drag a date?" she asked.

Dress for the dance is dressy sport, which means coat and tie for the men and heels and cotton dresses or sweaters and skirts for the girls.

Admission is 50 cents with student body card and $1 for guests.

Frosh-soph election scheduled Sept. 26

Class elections will be held Sept. 26.

Petitions for student body offices as well as freshman and sophomore class positions are now being accepted, according to Bob Katheiser, student body president.

Offices of sophomore and freshman class president, vice president, secretary and treasurer are open to qualified students, Katheiser said. He added that no deadline has been set as yet for filing petitions.

The position of ASFC vice president was left vacant with the resignation of Jim Craddick. Executive Council will fill the position from petitions submitted by interested students.

Other student body offices to be filled by appointment are activities publicity chairman, athletic chairman, coordinator of public events, coordinator of social affairs and rally chairman.

Petitions may be obtained from Mrs. Jean Thacher in the student government office, Room C-31.

Parking premium seen this semester

Foothill students with a tendency to be late to class were issued a simple warning today: Don't!

Dr. H. H. Semans, dean of instruction, urged students to read and heed College absence and tardy policies. And he emphasized that "the ability to make that first class of the day in a hurry" will require more advance planning this year than in previous years.

"A 50 per cent increase in 8 and 9 o'clock classes and a jump in enrollment will put a premium on 'convenient' parking places," Dr Semans warned. "Students will just have to plan ample time to buck traffic to the campus and time to walk from the most distant parking lot space to their classes."

He foresees at least two difficulties until students adjust to the situation: a number of students docked for late arrival to class and a flurry of $5 parking tickets issued those who parked illegally while trying to reach class on time.

Scholarship memorializes former student

RON ROSE

A Ronald F. Rose Memorial Scholarship fund for pre-dental students is being established in the memory of Ron Rose, Foothill College pre-dental student who was killed in an automobile accident this summer.

Contributions to the memorial fund, established by Rose's mother and his friends, may be made in the college business office.

Rose, a graduate of Palo Alto High School, was a good student at Foothill and had been an honor student at the College of San Mateo, according to Miss Dorothy Anderson, FC counsellor.

Although no exact requirements have been set as yet for the scholarship, the fund will be open to second year pre-dental students at Foothill. The scholarship will be offered for the first time the spring semester of 1963.

PLOTTING AGAIN—Not really, just planning some of the many club and organization activities offered new and returning students to Foothill. Checking the activities calendar are Jeanette Huston, Bob Katheiser, Ron Ross and Miss Demitra Georgas, director of social activities. See story and more photos on page 2. (Norm Starratt photo)

YOU TOO can help sponsor dances, join foreign students in the International Club—or take a bath in the dunk tank as a member of the many clubs and organizations on campus.

Slate early classes because of crowds

The ten o'clock scholar may be a thing of the past at Foothill, beginning this semester.

A glance at the class schedule reveals a 50 per cent increase in the number of 8 and 9 o'clock classes—and chances are that the trend will continue in the future.

Dr. H. H. Semans, dean of instructions, said the shift away from previous years' "leisurely opening of the school day" was directly attributable to enrollment.

"As enrollment increases we find it necessary to schedule classes at times other than the popular 10 to 3 period," the dean said. "Earlier scheduling is based largely on the rooms and space available."

Dean Semans said "every effort" was made to provide a balanced scheduling in every area, with no division or department carrying the brunt of early class scheduling.

"The exception here is in the physical education class schedule," he said, noting that two 90-minute class meetings—with many 8 to 9:30 classes—has been the established pattern.

Evening students select new board

Selection of new board representatives is first on the list for the Foothill Evening College Student Association (FECSA).

Kenneth Griffin, assistant director of evening college, said most of the representatives will be selected during the first two days of the evening session.

Spring semester officers Bob Littlefield (president), Ray Torley (vice-president), James Gibbs (treasurer) and Helen Starr (secretary) will remain through the fall term.

Installation of new sound equipment in the auditorium and the current bond drive for the new campus in Cupertino are the two main projects FECSA is working on at present, according to Griffin.

Griffin said the sound equipment is here, but they are waiting for students, preferably from electronics classes, to help with the installation.

College hires 43 instructors to fill enrollment, new course demands

A jump in enrollment and expanded course programs have resulted in the addition of 43 new full time instructors to the Foothill faculty this fall.

The figure represents a 50 per cent increase in instructional staff, raising the total certificated personnel from 85 to 123.

As new faculty arrived on campus last week, Dr. H. H. Semans, dean of instruction, reminisced that this was a far cry from previous years and was a good indication of the growth of Foothill.

THE COLLEGE staff was a mere 36 when the doors first opened for the 1958-59 academic year. The total of classroom instructors and administrators jumped to 57 in 1959, then to 69 in 1960. Last year's total was 85.

"This figure doesn't include the additional 170 instructors hired to teach evening classes," Dr Semans said, "although some of these are also on the day faculty."

Not included in the new faculty total is W. Glenn Bushnell, who joins the full time faculty group after serving since 1960 on a part time basis as an evening counselor. Bushnell will instruct business and continue to serve as a counselor.

FOOTHILL COLLEGE

Wanted: one college newspaper editor, preferably with ability, experience and ambition.

And if the Sentinel ran classified ads, another "wanted" items would ask for sub-editors and reporters, according to Warren A. Mack, Sentinel advisor.

Graduation, transfer and grade difficulties cut the hold-over staff to a bare nucleus, Mack said, with the result that nearly all Sentinel positions are "up for grabs." Students interested in receiving college credits as editors and staff members may apply directly to Mack in Room M-24.

An additional five persons will instruct on a less than full time basis.

NEW INSTRUCTORS FOLLOW:

Richard R. Adler, biological science; Robert Baruch, technical theater; Ronald T. Benson, art; Robert A. Bernasconi, English; Mrs. Shirlene Bunnell, physical education; Frederick Cliby, (part time) insurance; George Craven, photography; Barton DePalma, art.

Gwen Evans, English; Mrs. Jo-Deen Goshorn, nursing; Richard Gould, physical education; Dr. Jean Grutzmacher, health and physical education; Malcolm Gutter, economics.

Laurence Harvey, data processing; Robert Kavelman, counselor; Thomas Kosta, physics and mathematics; Ronald Landor (half time) assistant librarian; Dr. Gibb Madsen, counselor; Mrs. Carolyn Keen, English, John Minnick, mathematics; Dr. Herbert Patnoe, music.

Marvin Roberson, physical education; Thora E. Rose, nursing; Norma Schulze, dental assisting; Harold J. Segar, English; William Skyles, English.

Richard Slater, electronics; Jerome Sowul, mathematics; Robert Sprague, electronics; Aaron Sten (part time) music; Dorothy Stevens, chemistry; Eugene Sutter, history and political science; James Terrill, physical education.

Walter Travis, history and political science; Richard Tweedy, English; Dr. Lydia Verbarb, health; William Walker, physical education.

Barbara Webber, nursing; Dr. George Willey, chairman of Mass Communication Division; David E. Williams, English; Donald R. Wittig, assistant librarian; Stephen Worsley, data processing and business.

Julian H. Wulbern, English and German; R. Bryce Young, political science, business and economics.

MAT SPORT SET

Foothill will enter conference competition in wrestling for the first time this year, with Bob Walker hired to coach a sport fast-growing in popularity.

FC clubs set Fan-Fair

Kicking off the new season for Foothill College clubs is a Fan-Fair set for Friday, Sept. 21 in the Campus Center from 9 to 4. Included in the festivities are a social hour with refreshments.

Club representatives will be on hand to explain their activities and purposes to prospective members, according to Miss Demitra Georgas, director of social activities.

STUDENTS INTERESED in fellowship, fun, service, varied activities and in broadening their interest will find a wide variety of clubs to choose from in the approximately 30 groups making up the Associated Organizations Council.

There are clubs for those interested in politics, sports, music, religion, vocations and special interests.

FOOTHILL'S POLITICAL clubs were especially active last semester, bringing a number of well-known speakers to the campus. Young Democrats, Young Republicans and Foothill Conservatives made up the political roster, joined late in the spring by the Foothill Associated Students Party. FASP is primarily concerned with student government.

Students interested in other countries and in foreign languages may join the International club, the Eulenspiegel, Les Hiboux or Los Hispanistas groups.

DIFFERENT RELIGIOUS beliefs are represented in the Christian Science, Deseret, Koinonia and Newman clubs.

Also on the list are philosophy, photography, physical science, social science and press clubs.

Active service groups include the Circle K's (sponsored by Kiwanis clubs) and the Veterans' Club.

ART, JAZZ, Business, Footlighter and Future Teachers clubs are also represented in AOC, along with a local chapter of Alpha Gamma Sigma, California junior college honor society.

Eleven o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays has been designated as "college hour" when clubs meet and schedule their activities. Clubs may start meeting the first week of school if members wish, Miss Georgas said.

She added that AOC Night is planned for Nov. 9 in the Campus Center. This will be a social event with dancing open to all club members and their guests.

KFJC sets Oct. 1 tentative return date

Station manager John Davis has set Oct. 1 as a tentative date when Foothill College's FM station, KFJC, will return to the airways.

Optimistic, but a little worried, Davis said although members of last semester's staff have returned, much of the work may be in the hands of new students.

Auditions, Davis, said, will be set up shortly after the fall term begins.

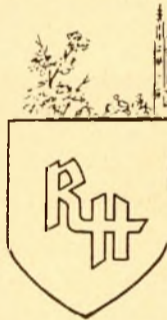

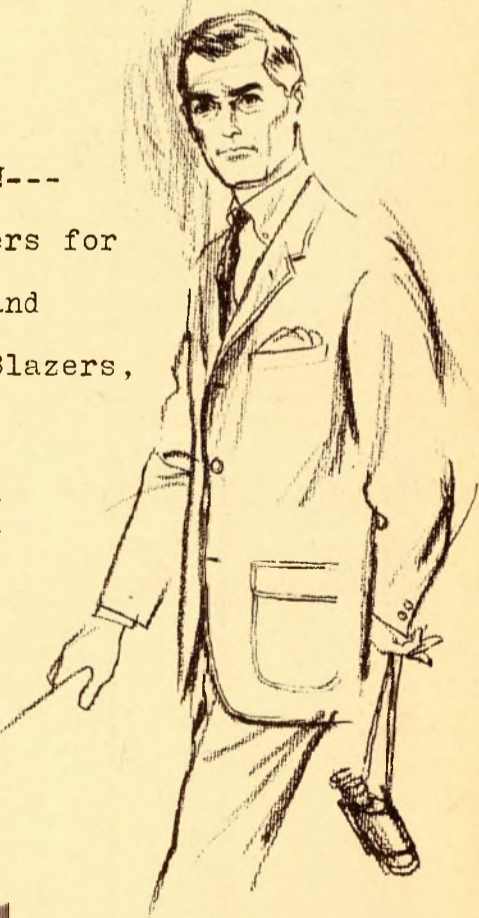

As far as this year's programming is concerned, Davis said broadcast hours (6:30-10:15) may stay the same. It all depends, however, on the quantity and quality of the staff.

Davis, Bill Bowen, production manager, and Jan Huston, traffic manager, make up the small staff nucleus.

Davis said the station will receive two to four hours of programs from the National Association of Educational Broadcasters each week. KFJC joined the association last year.

Operating on a frequency of 89.7 megs. and a power output of 10 watts, KFJC will serve surrounding communities in the college district and other bay area cities.

Several programs from the Canadian Broadcasting Company will also be featured as in the past, according to Davis.

EDUCATION

PRESERVATION

These are the main objectives behind the Foothill Conservatives chapter of Young Americans for Freedom (YAF). This is a club you should investigate thoroughly before joining any club at Foothill. The Foothill Conservatives believe in . . .

EDUCATION -- educating its members so that they will be more able to understand the significance of the happenings in their state, country and the world today.

ACTION -- action involving, not only on-campus social and cultural events, but action involving issues pertaining to the security and freedom of the free world.

PRESERVATION -- combining education and action to help preserve YOUR American Freedom.

INVESTIGATE AND JOIN THE FOOTHILL CONSERVATIVES chapter of Young Americans for Freedom.

CONTACT: Jack Cox at UN 7-3363 or William Sargent at DA 3-5423 for further information.

Again this year, the Foothill Conservatives will be in the spotlight of on-campus events with the sponsoring of many famous and interesting speakers. The first two of these will be . . .

DR. FRED SCHWARZ

Dr. Fred Schwarz will be speaking in the Foothill College gym this Thursday, September 13 at 11 a.m.

Harry Von Zell will be the second speaker sponsored by the Foothill Conservatives. He will be speaking in the Foothill College gym on Thursday, October 11. Watch for further announcements.

Green grididders meet Santa Monica

Ken's Korner

Bill Abbey's Owl grididders will have several things in their favor going into the Sept. 22 season lid-popper at Santa Monica City College.

In the first three seasons of play, Abbey's crew has yet to fail on opening night. In 1959 it was a 26-20 win at Shasta JC that enabled the Owls to post a 5-4 season mark.

IN 1960 a 20-6 opening win over Shasta was one of the few bright spots in a losing 3-5-1 season. Last year it was the same story with the Owls rallying to beat Orange Coast 14-7 in their Foothill Stadium debut in a 6-3 season.

Against Southern competition, the Owls have a 2-1 mark, scoring the rare double over Orange Coast and Mt. San Antonio, 24-21, after a 36-0 setback by the latter team in 1960.

Santa Monica's claim to fame is a 34-3 record over the past four seasons, the three defeats administered by Bakerfield's Renegades in a yearly battle for a spot in the Junior Rose Bowl. The S M Corsairs were the seventh-best JC team in the country last season on the JC-Grid Wire rankings from Pasadena.

THERE'LL BE some familiar faces in uniform Saturday night when San Jose State's Spartans open their 11-game schedule against Utah State in San Jose.

Bill Munson from Lodi, Foothill's first quarterback, will be calling signals for the Utags while Mike Nichols, JC All-American honorable mention end in 1960, and Bill Holland, top Owl pass receiver last season (12 for 236 yards) will be in the lineup for the Spartans, along with Ray Lychak, first string quarterback in 1961.

SPEAKING OF Munson, his five Foothill career passing records are in danger of falling into the hands of Steve Moreno.

On the line are passing yardage (976), attempts (88), completions (69), average per gain (14.1) and touchdown passes (6). Moreno will have the advantage of a second season to beef up his Foothill performance after completing 32 of 88 in 1961 for 600 yards, a 19.7 average and four touchdowns.

Monson's total is all the more amazing in that he accomplished it one season before transferring to the Utah school where he sat out his soph year.

BOB BENSON, ranked JC All-American in seven events last spring as a member of Foothill's State JC champion swim team, has "gone north for the winter."

Benson with a pending JC record of 4:25.0 in the now extinct 440-yard freestyle, is entering Oregon University this fall. But his Foothill teammates haven't seen the last of the blond flash. The Owls are scheduled to meet the Duck varsity early in the spring.

While swim Coach Nort Thornton Jr. bemoans the loss of Benson, top scorer on the 1961 water polo squad with 61 goals, he's come up with a dandy replacement in Jerry Macedo, former Santa Clara High great and transfer from USC. Thornton, coach of Benson at Los Altos High, reports Macedo topped Benson in the 400-free all but one time the pair met in their senior year.

Foothill College football squad opens its 1962 season a week from Saturday night, meeting perennial Metropolitan Conference power Santa Monica City College at Corsair Stadium at 8 p.m. in Santa Monica.

The contest will be Foothill's fourth against a Southern school in four seasons of action and a prelude to next year's meeting with Bakersfield JC, third-ranked in country JC grid circles last fall.

"NEW FACES of 1962" best describes the state of Head Coach Bill Abbey's chargers. Only seven men from last year's 55-man team have returned to pre-season drills after ineligibility, transfer and graduation took their respective tolls.

Returnees from the squad which finished in a fourth-place tie in the old Coast Conference include linemen Brent Berry, John Twelvetrees, John Buck, Rusty Hubbard and Gary Chiotti. From the backfield are quarterback Steve Moreno and halfback Rich LaChapelle.

Bright newcomers appear to be Fremont High grads LeRoy Foster and John Travis, a pair of halfbacks.

TRAVIS GARNERED "back of the year" honors in the North-SCVAL last season and is equally capable on defense. Foster, who sat out last season, graduated in 1960 and along with Travis and Chiotti his impressed in early drills.

Santa Monica lost its chief offensive threat in soph quarterback Rand Carter, second-team JC All-American, now at San Jose State after completing his two-year eligibility.

The Owls, entering the infant Golden Gate Conference, have also welcomed back Doug Schoenwetter, one of the top rushers on the 1960 squad.

REJOINING ABBEY, veteran of JC and service gridiron circles, is assistant Coach Bob Pifferini, former San Jose State star lineman, and Bill Walker, ex-Camden High grid boss, who coached the Cougars to a 6-0 mark and the West-SCVAL title last fall.

Foothill opens its league schedule Oct. 5 at San Jose City College.

Long-winded Owls meet DVC Oct. 5

Jim Terrill's Foothill cross-country squad opens its Golden Gate Conference season October 5 when it travels to meet Diablo Valley College in Concord.

Undeclared in dual-meet competition last season under Verne Wolfe, the Owl squad won the Coast Conference Finals at Monterey and finished third in the Nor-Cal events at Vallejo.

Terrill, freshman cross-country and track coach at Stanford last year, succeeded Wolfe this summer after Wolfe accepted what is regarded as the country's top track coaching job at USC.

The 1962 Schedule:
Oct. 5 at Diablo Valley, Oct 12 at San Jose CC, Oct. 19 City College of San Francisco, Oct 23 at College of San Mateo.

Nov. 2 Oakland City College, Nov. 9 Golden Gate Conference meet at Stanford Golf Course, Nov. 16 Northern California Championships at Sierra College.

THAT MAN AGAIN—Gary Chiotti (left), last year's outstanding Owl athlete, completes his athletic career here this football season and is expected to continue as a crashing defensive end after losing a season because of injuries. John Travis (right), Fremont High grad named "back of the year" in the North-SCVAL, is battling for a first string spot in early season workouts.

Poloists set action

Hoping to begin where they left off last season, Foothill's water polo squad opens its season schedule Sept. 28-29 in the Bakersfield JC invitational tourney.

Coach Nort Thornton Jr., reporting a signup of 47 hopefuls, invites all swimmers and team candidates to report to a "must" meeting this morning at 11 in Room L-32.

THORNTON'S SQUAD took the Bakersfield event and the Northern California JC title last fall, finishing the season at 15-9.

This year Foothill will host the State JC championships Nov. 30-Dec. 1.

Foothill will field both varsity and frosh teams this season.

The 1962 Varsity Schedule:

'Family Plan' ticket offered Foothill fans

Owl sports fans were alerted last month to a new concept in building Foothill athletic followers—offering a "family plan," full-year ticket at a bargain price.

For $5 the ASFC-sponsored family plan ticket will admit to all regularly scheduled home sports events (except tournaments) any two adults and up to three children 15 and under.

Deadline for the ticket sale is a week from Friday, Sept. 21, with the first home game Sept. 28.

Garth Dougan, student activities director who spearheaded the plan, noted that at five bucks a family for admission to all home football and basketball games, plus the rest of the sports slate, the purpose is "obviously not to make money."

Dougan said application and checks for $5 should be sent to ASFC Family Plan Tickets at the College address before the Sept. 21 deadline.

All applications for family plan tickets must be made by mail since these tickets will not be available either at the College box office or at the gate at the time of the event.

1961 CCJC finish

Foothill, Diablo Valley and San Jose City College leave the old Coast Conference this year to vie in the new Golden Gate Conference. Last year's final standings in the old conference:
