

Hatfield praises FC as unique

Governor Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon praised the Foothill College administration and student body at his press conference at the Hawaiian Gardens,

MARK O. HATFIELD
... governor of Oregon

in San Jose on Saturday. The governor, who spoke at the fund raising dinner told the Foothill Sentinel that the "unique organization of Foothill College offers the students a challenge."

Hatfield said Foothill students "weren't bound by tradition," like many other institutions, and consequently they have a chance to initiate their own programs and traditions.

He compared the A.S.F.C. with pioneers who went west building their own future.

The colorful 38 year old governor reflected on his own college days when he was a member of the Student Council at Stanford University.

He said that the tradition there was set and that A.S.S.U. student body officers had to fight hard to get changes.

Hatfield appeared very interested in the administrative setup at Foothill. He told the Sentinel that Oregon, at the present time, does not have many junior colleges.

He lauded the way in which Foothill is supported by local taxes and bond issues rather than state and federal aid.

Later in the evening Hatfield, who nominated Richard Nixon for the presidency in Chicago, said he was disappointed in the recent Nixon-Kennedy debate. "I don't go for the kid glove type of debate," said Hatfield. "I go for the bareknuckle approach."

"I'd call the debate a 50-50 proposition. If I were a forensics professor instead of a political science professor, I'd have given them both B-minus," he said.

Hatfield, who taught political science at Willamette before taking office as Oregon's chief executive, addressed 700 Nixon-Lodge boosters at the dinner at Hawaiian Gardens.

Hatfield attacked the Democratic "something for nothing" policy as a false gospel. Hatfield also deplored the manner in which the Democrats were alleged to give two speeches on civil rights—one North of the so-called Mason-Dixon line and the other one South.

Retreat to Asilomar

By Bill Minney
A.S.F.C. President

The Student-Faculty Retreat to Asilomar last week-end, was in the opinion of all who attended, a resounding success.

Three faculty members and fourteen students left Foothill on the afternoon of September 30th and arrived at Asilomar near Pacific Grove around dinner time that evening. After dinner everyone adjourned to a small conference room for the first discussion period of the retreat.

"What Price Values" was discussed in the beginning from a psychological point of view, with a brief talk by Miss Patricia Popp as an opening statement and a setting up of ideas off which students could project their own ideas and opinions. "What are we sacrificing for our values?—What alternatives do we eliminate by these sacrifices?—How much personal alienation can one stand by making these sacrifices?"—These were some of the questions raised and discussed during the first part of this topic.

After a short break, the topic was taken up from a sociological point of view. Such things as security, love, war and material values were discussed at great length, after an opening statement by Gale Engle, professor of philosophy.

I was extremely pleased by the fine choice of students representing a good cross-section of Foothill and was most gratified by their unselfish and spontaneous participation.

I feel that the best evaluation of this retreat was made by a new freshman, Pat Meek "to feel that I have progressed a little bit closer to the values I want to have and practice in everyday life."

This statement speaks for itself, and I can only recommend that if you are truly interested be sure to apply for a spot on the next retreat.

Academic council gains members

Three more faculty representatives have been appointed to the Academic Council for this year. They are Mary Mains, Bob Pifferini, and Murray Alexander.

Other council members are O. B. Nerson, John Freemuth, Demitra Georgas, Garth Dougan, Pat Popp, Milt Kielsmier, Mal Maxwell, Glen Bushnell, Bill Harwood, Hubert Semans and chairman Bob DeHart.

The council meets at 10 a.m. Fridays in the studio conference room.

TIME OUT—Three members of the student-faculty retreat to Asilomar take a short break from the discussions. They are, left to right: Bill Minney, Tom Fagundes and Kris Kraus. Many philosophical and psychological views were expressed and absorbed on the subjects of security, love, war and material values. The fourteen students and three faculty members who attended hailed it an outstanding success and hoped another one could be held in the near future.

Bongos for Diablo

Bongos, guitars, and revelry are in order for the rooters but to the Diablo Valley football game. The busses will leave the Foothill campus at 5:30 p.m. Saturday and return about 12:30 a.m.

Students are urged to join the fun and help support the team.

Homecoming week to begin October 10

Mountain View's Mayor, the honorable Charles M. Moore, has proclaimed the week of October 10 through 14, as Foothill Homecoming week.

Aside from the regular

schedule of events planned by the college, the City of Mountain View is also recognizing the Foothill Homecoming.

The City will sponsor a parade on Thursday, October 13, to include the candidates for Homecoming Queen.

The Homecoming schedule is as follows:

October 6—Deadline for club Queen candidates and Prof. Snarf. Meeting to be held to explain rules.

October 7—All photos and fittings for queen candidates and Prof. Snarf must be complete. Queen candidates may start putting up publicity at 5:00 p.m.

October 10—The Homecoming events begin with tug-of-war: Vets vs. Girl's Team, Vets vs. Frosh class. Advance ticket sales for dance begin. Tickets purchased between 10th and 14th will be $1.50 couples and $1.00 stag. Tickets purchased at the dance will be $1.00 per head.

October 14—Voting for queen and Prof. Snarf—9 to 3. Rally on practice field at 11:00. Homecoming dance at Hawaiian Gardens, San Jose, 9:00 to 1:00.

Veterans choose Oct. 'Sweetheart'

The Veterans Club of Foothill College selected Miss Melodee Faulstich, a freshman, as their "Sweetheart of Month," at an informal ceremony Tuesday in the student center court.

The Vets presented Miss Faulstich with an engraved bracelet, and a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The bracelet presented to Miss Faulstich bore the engraved slogan, "Vets Club Sweetheart for October."

Although not intended to be a birthday gift, it could have been just that since the blonde haired Melodee celebrated her 18th birthday Monday.

New coordinating council formed

SACRAMENTO (UP) — A new state agency met in the office of Gov. Edmund G. Brown to take its place in the management of the University of California, the 15 state colleges and the 63 public junior colleges.

The Coordinating Council for Higher Education will act as referee of expansion and curriculum disputes, budget watchdog, standards setter, and legislative advisor.

Public Relations Workshop

Professor C. M. Hulten speaking

Foothill College students are invited to attend a University of California Extension "Public Relations Workshop" at Rickey's Studio Inn, Palo Alto, on Friday, October 14, at a student rate of $7.50.

In the first morning workshop, public relations experts will analyze the purpose, goals audience, and media. During the luncheon, Charles M. Hulten, professor of journalism at the University of California, will speak on "More Than One Voice: The Role of Organization In Democracy."

Afternoon workshops will continue studies on specific problems, followed by a discussion of "The Role of the Mass Media," led by Mr. Hulten, in which Bay Area News-men will participate.

First sophomore constitution--'not really necessary'

Mary Kittoe, recently appointed Sophomore Class President is writing a Sophomore Class Constitution with the assistance of others. This is the first constitution for the class, which has been without one since formation of the college.

With the aid of yet-to-be appointed officers (vice-president and secretary-treasurer), Miss Kittoe will use the Freshman Class and ASFC Constitutions and codes as models. She also said that other schools may be contacted for copies of their constitutions.

Miss Kittoe will appoint these officers to assist her, and is encouraging those interested in an office to see her or put a notice in her box, which is located in the hall, across from the library.

Miss Kittoe reports that the preamble for the constitution has already been written by her and some interested associates, and that they will differ basically from the Freshman Constitution by forming fewer committees.

What does Miss Kittoe think about class government? "With the spirit they have here," she commented, "it doesn't seem that they need it."

of the Division of Mass Communications at Foothill, will lead a workshop.

For further information and registration forms, write University Extension, University of California, 2441 Bancroft Way, Berkeley 4, California.

Hutchinson speaks faculty hour Friday

The first Faculty Hour will be held this Friday at 11:00 in room 112. Dr. Eric Hutchinson, Associate Head of the Chemistry Department at Stanford University, will speak on "The Place of Science in General Education."

Election hassle avoided

We commend A.S.F.C. President Bill Minney, for his efforts to avoid a hassle—which might have resulted over the suppression of the Frosh runoff election results.

The vote counters decided not to post the vote totals. They felt that there was no real purpose in doing so, and that the results might "hurt" the feelings of the losing candidate.

We feel that this action was uncalled for as this could lead to false rumors and distortion of truths, which should rightfully be known to the student body.

We expect the candidates, as college students, to accept the fact gracefully that two people cannot fill one office.

President Minney agreed that such facts should be shown as a matter of course and not as private information.

At our insistence the results of this past elected were posted and we have been assured by Minney that such suppression will not be attempted again.

Again we commend Minney and the student government officers for showing the maturity and cooperation befitting our government leaders.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

I am not disparaging our tremendous increase in enrollment this year, but I do wish to complain about something that is directly attributable to this increase, and that is the congestion in the halls and on the steps.

Actually I must concede that not much can be done in the halls as the classes are located off them so what I really want to say is: Can't something be done to keep the steps leading into the buildings clear of the human driftwood that piles up with each successive tide as the bells ring? It is very nice for the girls to visit with each other, but I think they should find a better place to go, away from a spot where they not only annoy others with their inconsiderations but also, in my opinion they prove to be a danger to others as a boulder in the road is to a car.

Please see what can be done about this. Some official action can perhaps be taken or perhaps the matter can be taken up in the student council.

Thank you,
David Baldwin

International Assignment

By Larry Stammer

The latest from the international grapevine has it that our friend, Khrushchev wants to meet with President Eisenhower and "bury the hatchet."

Dawning his wings and halo and quoting the Holy Bible (which he doesn't believe in) Khrushchev has told the world via the U.N. that the Soviet Union wants peace and international cooperation.

One Asian statesman, who saw Mr. K in Moscow and talked with him again in New York, revealed that the Russian leader had told him privately "he wanted to bury the hatchet" and begin new talks with the President while at the U.N.

But his desire to meet Ike is purely a selfish one. Firstly, K has to prove to his restless Red Chinese ally that the road to world communism is not through war but by other means which would be just as effective but less violent.

Another reason why Khrushchev must meet with the President is to let the folks back home know that he is making an "honest" effort to disarm so that the Soviet's energy can be directed to producing more consumer goods.

Well now, that's real hypocrisy in action. Wonder what the "home folks" thought about K's "honest" effort to increase production of domestic goods after K broke his play toy (the Paris Summit Conference) and got spanked by the U.N. on his rather large buttocks in the Congo or after tossing verbal mud at Eisenhower and other U.S. leaders.

Certainly with that kind of war talk, the Reds couldn't start making lipstick and put that in the warheads of their rockets.

A real pro sabateur, that's comrade K. Somebody once said Hitler acted as if he had been invented by Dostevski. Without pushing any analogy, the same might be said of Khrushchev.

It is the fervent hope of the smaller powers, of the new African nations, and the Asian neutrals, is that Ike and K will find a way to resume personal contact in order to lessen world tensions.

In the light of the unhappy events that have since taken place, can the world be so naive to think that another talk in the "spirit of Camp David" would help. Personal summit talks seem to be the latest rage. Anything and everything can be solved at a table.

During Camp David, the world reverted into a psychotic state, a complete loss of reality, and believed that good times were ahead. But gradually the world came out of its coma as Khrushchev began the pushing and shoving again.

In light of this, a summit is very far away. But perhaps one thing did come from the Camp David talks.

If you will notice, the initials of Camp David are CD. Perhaps through some stroke of fate or just luck, CD also means Civil Defense.

This failure of Camp David points out the fact that the Red goals don't change. The world has learned once and for all that "Camp David talks" will not work when one party is a fanatic. When statesmen talk about Camp David it might be a good idea to remember what happened and how rockets and bombs still may fall. Then let the statesmen talk about civil defense.

No there won't be a talk between the two leaders because the U.S. is not a fool. Khrushchev is. But if we do talk to this fool, let's make sure that he is not similarly occupied.

Good, as well as average reporters make mistakes one or more times in their journalistic career and this columnist is no exception. In last week's column (Sept.30) we really put our size 13½ shoe in the mouth.

Peggy Wyatt, Commissioner of Communications and one of Foothill College's devoted leaders, was somewhat disturbed (to put it mildly) by last week's item on the fact that Executive Council was against the rooter's train to the Cabrillo College football game on October 21st in Santa Cruz. After reviewing our column more closely, we came to the astonishing and sorrowful conclusion that we had made a statement we shouldn't have. Unknown to us, Miss Wyatt is a rabid supporter of the rooter's train project. We brought out the point that the Executive Council, namely Bill Minney (President), Liz Maxwell (Commissioner of Activities) and Miss Wyatt, stated the bad points of the project in that it would cost each person in the neighborhood of five dollars and that the ride would take two hours which would be useless to those who were just interested in going to the game.

In all seriousness, we beg Miss Wyatt to accept our humble apology and will make a sincere effort in the future to keep things straight.

Next on the list of goodies again concerns your truly and Editor-in-Chief, Larry B. Stammer (Rep. Calif.). The morning of Foothill's first game, Mr. Stammer and I purchased a gallon jug of root beer to cool our sweated brows. It took a great deal of effort, but we managed to down three-fourths of the contents. The concession stand at Mountain View High School was not open, because the painters painted it early Saturday morning, so Mr. S. pulled the jug out of the car and brought it to the game. Immediately upon opening the bottle, a Mountain View policeman quickly picked the bottle up and tasted the contents with a suspicious look. Disappointed at the taste, "Marshal Dillon" hobbled off to find something else to get his sticky hands into.

The first halftime show of the season went off smooth as silk, but if it hadn't been for one brave photographer, the whole episode might very well have gone up in smoke. If you attended the game, you will remember the point in the skit where all four of the hillbillies jammed their way into the out-house. For a long moment nothing happened, until a curious photographer tip-toed over to the door and opened it. By some misfortune, the door had locked behind the four rally clubbers which brought a student halt to their plans. But things went on without a ruffle and the shirt-sleeve crowd of nearly two thousand went on suspecting nothing.

Whether you are of voting age or not, you will have a chance to cast your ballot for the man of your choice come November. The Foothill Sentinel is planning to set up a poll as a public service and in order to get some idea just who the students and faculty feel will win the presidency.

'Spicy' halftime show draws praise; what will come next?

By Ed Smith
City Editor

Four shably dressed rogues strolled across the football field at Mountain View High School two weeks back attired in the garb befitting the Jones boys of Backwoods, Tennessee—but they brought with them a message, although it must have wandered off during the 15 minute fracas between halves of Foothill College's opening football game with Shasta College.

Bob Ray, Arvid North, Norm Eliason and Jerry Collins erased the tension of the game from the minds of a shirt sleeve crowd of nearly 2,000 and replaced it, instead, with a quarter hour of sheer laughter for both the young and old, broad and narrow minded. Although there wasn't a theme for the skit, we, for no real reason at all, would like to entitle it "The Abominable Outhouse."

Moments after the gun sounded the end of the first half and tired football players jogged toward the dressing rooms, our quartet of mischievous hillbillies roared onto the scene in a powerful 1932 Ford. It was, however, not what they were riding in that caught the immediate attention of the crowd, but rather what was on the trailer their car was pulling. "It's an outhouse," cried someone from the Shasta rooting section and sure enough that is exactly what it was.

After going through the ritual of unloading the "telephone booth of happiness," the four barefooted contessas brought the rafters down with their hilarious ad-lib antics.

Hard work and a great deal of time went into the production of their short skit. Besides the four gents who braved the harrassment of the crowd, there are many other behind the scenes that must be commended. Mr. Garth Dougan, counselor and history instructor, and Miss Demitra Georgas, counselor and history instructor, also devoted a great deal of their time to advising the 25 member club.

Besides putting on halftime shows, the Rally Club handles the rallies as well as many other school functions.

UP WE GO—Doing a little tote that barge, lift that bale type of exercise, our quartet of shably dressed gents unload the outhouse with as much care as a mother gives to her young ones—but for a different purpose.

"NOMADS" . . . that's the title Foothill's athletic teams went by last year and it's bound to stick again this year.

The football squad was the only Owl team in the 1959-60 school year that practiced at home, and there wasn't one team that had a scheduled home game on the Foothill campus.

Home fields for Foothill's 1960-61 teams will be similar to last year's . . . dotted all over the countryside. Therefore the name "Nomads" will continue to stand for Foothill's bohemian athletes.

THE LAST HOOT: Things

are tough all over, especially after being beaten 36-0. When asked what he thought was the turning point in the Mt. San Antonio game, the Owls' head coach Bill Abbey reflected and said, "When we suited up." When asked what he was going to stress in practice, coach Abbey simply replied, "football."

Coast conference head

John Freemuth starts new role

Coast Conference commissioner John Freemuth, counselor and mathematics instructor at Foothill, is starting his first year as a junior college sports head.

Experienced in the coaching and administrative end of sports, Freemuth was appointed to succeed Karl Drexel of Diablo Valley College who had to retire because of ill health.

Freemuth coached most the major and minor sports over a 20-year span in Illinois. Coming to California, he served as athletic representative to the Coast Conference from Monterey Peninsula College and then from Foothill until his appointment as commissioner on June 3.

Presiding over league meetings, ruling on protests, appointing committees and reviewing the eligibility of players are some of Freemuth's inherited duties.

Freemuth also will be responsible for the functioning of the conference in eight major and minor sports.

Owls open league against DV Vikings

Hoping to duplicate last year's opening league win over Diablo Valley, Foothill's Owl eleven travels to Concord tomorrow night to play the Vikings in the 1960 Coast Conference inaugural.

After being pommelled 36-0 by a strong representative of the "Big South," Mt. San Antonio, coach Bill Abbey's Owls would like nothing better than to erase last Saturday's mar-ring defeat with an opening league win against Diablo Valley tomorrow night.

On the other hand, the win-less Vikings would like to post their first win in '60 by turning the tables on the Owls in the league opener and in front of the homefolk of the "Green and White."

The Vikings, under the direction of head coach Sam DeVito and assistant coach Jack Carhart Jr., were edged out in their first two preseason games by Santa Rosa, 22-20, and by Contra Costa 12-6.

The two preseason losses, especially the Contra Costa encounter, don't tell the whole story.

The Comets of Contra Costa, who had an overall 7-2 season and finished third in the Big Eight Conference in 1959, are rumored to have an inside chance of going to the Junior Rose Bowl in Pasadena. The fact that the Vikings were a three to four touchdown underdog and were beaten by only six points proves that DeVito's squad is no easy pushover.

The opening day turnout of more than 60 was the largest in the Diablo's ten years of competition.

Coach DeVito believes this year's squad is much stronger than last year's, but still has a lot of room for improvement as far as timing goes.

"Compared with last season, we're ahead of schedule. We have better balance and depth, and we have two units which are about equal in performance."

In '59 the Vikings, who finished in last place in the conference with an 0-6 mark and had an overall 1-8 mark, were upended 13-2 by the Owls in the league opener.

The Vikings' '59 debut was ruined by a stout Owl defense, which held Diablo Valley to 29 yards rushing and 82 yards passing, and by Bill Munson, who picked off three passes and passed for 93 yards.

With only seven returning lettermen, the Vikings are short on experience. Last year's line, which was rough but lacked depth, is completely gone.

The Vikings lost their potent passing attack with the deparcontest with little resistance.

Although Foothill never saw the "promised land," they did penetrate the MSAC two mid-way through the fourth period, but a would-be touchdown went down the drain with an untimely fumble.

The Mounties, headed by a line averaging 220 pounds per man and a lightning fast back-field, ran rampant over the Owls in the second half scoring two touchdowns in each of the final two periods.

Halfbacks Vic Alvarez and Larry Degraw, who led the Mounties in total yards gained with 94 and 83 respectively, both romped to two touchdowns in each of the final two periods.

ture of quarterback Rich Isola and his leading pass receiver, Rich McLaughlin.

Top flight end, Jim Gonsalves, is back, but the rest of the Viking attack rests mainly on the freshmen. Left half, Harold Shanks, a '58 East-West 20-30 player, quarterbacks Wayne Re, All League prep, and Steve Wilcox. '59 20-30 player, and fullback Bill Davis are the Vikes' big guns.

Coach Abbey's Owls, who placed fifth in the conference in '59 with a 2-4 record, looked to be in good shape for the Vikings.

Despite being white-washed by Mt. San Antonio for the second time in the school's short two year history, Foothill didn't look completely dead against the big and hungry Mountaineers.

Off the two-game performance, Aquino is the top rusher with 120 yards and a 5.7 average. Ranking behind Aquino are fullback Doug Schoenwetter with 95 yards in 24 attempts and Chadwell with 92 yards in 21 carries.

In the passing department, Crowder leads with six completions in ten tries for 46 yards followed by Terrance Ogden with one for five and 18 yards. 6 foot 2 Mike Nichols is the top receiver with four receptions for 40 yards.

So far the Owls' rushing attack has completely outweighed the passing offense, 366 yards to 77. The Owls led the opponents in total offensive plays, 123-113, but trail in total offense, 610-443.
