Yule spirit reigns

At Christmas time Foothill Campus clubs and groups get swept up in numerous activities in the gay, giving spirit of the season. Many are making the Christmas season meaningful for others who don't have as much to share.

Every year, a club donates and decorates a huge Christmas tree in the Campus Center near the Owl. This tradition goes to the Veterans Club or Freshmen Class. It hangs big and green from the ceiling with tinsel and ornaments.

This year will also be the second annual Christmas party for the underprivileged children in the area. The EOC provides names of families in the Mountain View area and there is food, music and gifts for all.

The International Club collects food and clothing for countries around the world in need. UNICEF Christmas cards are also being sold in the Campus Center for desperate families in poorer countries. These charity drives provide money to buy milk food and clothing, medicine and tools.

There is also a traditional Winter Formal at a big hotel in San Francisco. This year it is the Hilton. Ernie Heckshire and his 15 piece band will play. The theme is "A Christmas Carol" reflecting the Christmas season during Dicken's days.

There is a charity drive collecting everything for the Delano grapestrickers who are in hardship and need now. There will be a Christmas party for the

FC students donate time, effort for children's party

Last evening the ASFC sponsored a Christmas party for about 90 children from the Mountain View-Sunnyvale area. Turkey dinners, donated by the Campus Cafeteria, were given each child, and various forms of recreation followed.

At least 50 Foothill students volunteered their services for supervisory functions, all of whom devoted much time and effort in assuring an organized, successful party.

Streamers of traditional red and green, drawings of Santa's reindeer and snowmen, marked the Campus' attire, while the program of games, story-telling and caroling was carried out. All this preceded the feast held in Foothill's large dining room. More recreation followed before the party came to its climax at 8 p.m.

Miss Roby Whipple, intramural chairman, was in charge of the schedule of events which included the story-telling of Mrs. Cherry Lyon of the Peninsula Story-Telling Guild (a non-profit charity organization in Palo Alto). Said Miss Whipple, "The age of the kids ranged from 5 to 12 years and the games and stories we selected were fun for all."

Several pinatas, constructed by the Foothill Activities Board and student volunteers, were part of the agenda for games last evening, stated Miss Whipple. According to her, the enthusiasm of those involved was tremendous.

Don Manthey, Experiment in Education president, played Santa Claus in the latter part of the evening, while Rich Chapman, ASFC vice-president, and Matt Cusimano, Rally Chairman, played elves. The festivities were coming to a close, to the disappointment of many children.

"Immeasurable gratitude is due those students and club members who helped to provide these children with a brighter Christmas occasion," remarked Miss Whipple. Members of the Activities Board concurred that the event necessitated enormous effort on the part of those who made and delivered refreshments, bussed the children to and from the Campus, and maintained order during the course of the evening.

The Board also wished to acknowledge the Circle K, Vets, and Sinawik clubs, who were said to have given the largest response to the Board, when it first solicited help from the student body.

Due to the ASFC elections being extended over a two day period and since the SENTINEL'S deadline is Tuesday, we are unable to publish the results of the elections of the ASFC and class candidates. Results will be published in the next issue, Jan. 12.

The Foothill Christmas tree rotates in mid-air in the Campus Center offering a merry greeting to everyone.

"The various traditional activities of the students reflect the true meaning of Christmas" said Miss Demitra Georgas, director of student activities.

College hosts classic ballet; two performances Sunday

The Oakland Metropolitan Ballet Company will again be performing Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Ballet" this Sunday in two performances, at 2:30 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. in the Foothill College Auditorium.

The Oakland Metropolitan Ballet Company is a non-profit company which recognizes young artists in training and gives them the opportunity to perform with the mature Oakland Metropolitan Ballet dancers, who perform throughout the year. This performance, sponsored by the Quota Club of Los Altos, will be one of six performances of the "Nutcracker" in the East and West Bay this Christmas Season.

The "Nutcracker" is a fantasy, a Christmas tale of impossible things. The first act begins when the "Nutcracker" is given to Clara at a Christmas party set in Victorian style. The doll is broken by Fritz, Clara's jealous brother, and re-appears as a live prince. Clara and the Prince then travel through a snow flurry to the Land of the Sugar Plum Fairy.

The second act is filled with the thrilling music of the Nutcracker Suite, the Waltz of the Flowers, the Arabian Dance, the Chinese dancers, the reed flute combined with the red-clad ballerina in a Spanish variation, the Russian variation with the swinging Czadskys, the Grand Pas de Deux and Waltz Finale.

Victoria Turner and Tricia Kaye will appear in the role of the Sugar Plum Fairy. Miss Turner is a noted lyric dancer in the East Bay and has performed with the Oakland Metropolitan Ballet since its inception. She will be the Sugar Plum Fairy in the afternoon performance.

Miss Kaye will portray the Sugar Plum Fairy in the evening performance. She has danced the Grand Pas de Deux many times throughout the East Bay and as far as Idaho.

The production is touched with considerable imagination, beautifully costumed by Vern Nerden — choreographer and designer — and the corps of dancers are well trained.

Tickets are $1.50 for children and students with student body cards, $2.50 for adults and $3.50 for reserved seats. They may be obtained at the Foothill College Box Office and in downtown Los Altos.

Miss Victoria Turner dances Sunday afternoon as the Sugar Plum Fairy.

'Carol' dance set for tonight

Tonight, "A Christmas Carol" comes true for all those attending the annual Winter Formal. The tinsel and glitter aura of the Christmas season will envelope the Continental Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel.

The dancers will whirl through the magic of the season from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to the music of Ernie Heckshire and his 15-piece orchestra. The music will suit the long flowing gowns and the elegance of the evening.

Tradition will be upheld with the theme of "A Christmas mood" will be created by the ballroom itself and appropriate decorations. Certainly a memorable evening for Dickens and participants.

Opera receives praise

A very professional Christmas classic "Amahl and the Night Visitors," by Gian Carlo Menotti, is being staged in the College Theatre tonight and tomorrow at night at 8:15.

Foothill directors Doyne Mraz and John Ford upheld the finest tradition of the Christmas season by using not only the whole stage but the entire theatre for the production. The chorus and dancers made their entrances and exits through the aisles of the audience which proved to be very effective by involving the audience in the action.

David Irvine, as Amahl, portrayed the crippled boy quite well. Although his voice was a bit too soft at times, his diction and intonation carried well throughout the audience.

Marge Chaney, who portrayed Amahl's mother, provided a professional touch to the opera. Her forceful soprano voice commands your attention and carries across the mother image.

Thomas Rowe, James Mason, and Ronald Davis portrayed the three kings expertly. The Kings' distinct personalities became apparent upon being questioned by Amahl. King Kasper's slight comedy was well received.

Colin Vogel as the Page, provided a link between the audience and the kings with his professional manner of pantomime. His unusual antics were delightful to watch.

The Village dancers provided gaiety to the play with their multi-colored costumes. Costume designer Mark Daly should be congratulated for such impressive creations. The Villagers' dance was choreographed by Judith Gersen and was well executed.

Mraz and Ford's scenery was simple and direct and reflected the poverty of Amahl and his mother.

Lighting, by Gary Ellinger and Brian Jones, really added a professional touch to the opera and provided the overall effect of a professional play. The use of the slide of the Virgin Mary and the Christ Child projected on the screen before the curtain raised helped to capture the mood of the opera for the audience.

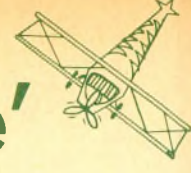

Also establishing the mood of the play was the "Chorale Prelude" sung by the Skyline Chorale and Foothill Singers before the production. These groups sang a series of choral music to establish the Christmas spirit.

David Wilson directed the College orchestra most capably which provided the musical background and basis for the opera. The only noticeable fault found in their performance is that the coordination between the flute and Amahl's "playing."

So, bring your girl or your family to see "Amahl and the Night Visitors" tonight and tomorrow night — and don't forget the kids, even if it is your younger brother.

Are they legal?

The election returns are in, and the winning names are posted in C-31. The SENTINEL congratulates the winners and trusts they will do the jobs to the best of their ability.

However, the SENTINEL feels the students should know what the ASFC Student Council did "behind the scenes." A dilemma faced the Council last Monday: six of the candidates were questioned as to being in accordance with the ASFC Constitution requirements. The Council passed all six petitions, recognizing "extenuating circumstances."

For their group agreement (with only one 'nay' vote) and promptness of action, the SENTINEL congratulates all Council members.

However, the SENTINEL believes the decision was wrong.

All Council members believe that the Constitution is "obsolete;" the SENTINEL agrees, but the present Constitution says that candidates and officers must: (1) carry 12 units at Foothill, (2) have a Foothill accumulated GPA of 2.0 at time of taking office and maintain a 2.0 during term of office, and (3) assume office one week prior to final examinations.

Council members argued that the required Foothill 2.0 GPA forbids freshmen from holding office, which is incongruous with the idea of Freshmen Class Council.

It was pointed out, however, that the words "Foothill accumulated GPA of 2.0" are legal words and cannot be interpreted any other way.

Those candidates affected: Tom Ganes, no Foothill GPA. William Duckhorn, no Foothill GPA.

Ric Cuzner, no Foothill GPA. Miss Karen Burnes, ASFC secretary candidate, has only six units this semester and will only have six units when taking office one week prior to finals.

Miss Ann Haney, another candidate for ASFC secretary, has a Foothill GPA of 1.95.

Matt Cusimano, ASFC presidential candidate, has only a 1.91 GPA. Cusimano has also been holding office illegally for the past three semesters as rally chairman.

Peter Smith, ASFC parliamentarian, argued that the Council 'lacked "foresight" to see the problem regarding qualifications; the SENTINEL pointed out the issue earlier in the semester (Sept. 29). Smith, himself, is in violation of the Constitution as he is not maintaining the required 2.0 during his term of office.

The SENTINEL believes these six people should not have been allowed to run for office, and believes they should not be allowed to hold office. The SENTINEL urges the students body to make their views known, and ask for the resignation of those not qualified to hold office.

'All you need is love'

By SKY KING
Sentinel Columnist

He walked and rambled over the dusty roads of Galilee, this carpenter's son with the gentle eyes and the burning tongue. Crowds followed after Him, calling His name, seeking miracles; listening to the words of the young teacher from Nazareth.

The message He preached was cloaked in words the common people could understand; a message of hope and joy in an occupied country; a voice of love in a wilderness of fear and hatred; a voice proclaiming humanity in a time when human life was cheap.

He was only thirty-three years old when the forces of insanity caught up with Him, but the power of His words and the dynamics of His ministry have been echoing down the years and have found a answering shout in our own times.

Much is made in our object-oriented culture of the intrinsic value of statistics, numbers, figures, et al, ad nauseum. The established churches are alarmed at the numbers of young people who are proclaiming their disillusionment with the "True Church" (whichever one they happen to belong to) and dropping out of organized religion. Statistics support this, and the churches are desperately trying to regain the confidence and trust of youth. Collection plates, empty platitudes, dogmatism and building funds are not where it's at with young people. We are indeed dropping out.

But what are we dropping into? The answer is as complex as the people involved but it basically deals with commitment — a firm belief in all that is truly good and holy. This commitment is prompting young men and women to abandon the anti-Christian values that our culture emphasizes and make an attempt at living a truly Christian life.

We may not even call ourselves Christians, but our actions speak loudly — quite loudly. We refuse to take the life of another human being, we desire true brotherhood with all men, we seek an end to falseness and rigidity in our lives, we seek a rebirth of the Christian ideal of freedom. These are not negative goals, these are not protests; they are affirmations of the basic Christian tenets of peace, sharing, ad the freedom to love and be loved.

This Christmas, in countries all over the world the birth of Jesus is being celebrated in jeweled temples, while people starve. The birth of the Prince of Peace will, once again, be commemorated on battlefields. Once again men will seek to re-dedicate himself to the ideals for which the Nazarene gave His life.

But in the streets of the cities; on the campuses of the world's colleges and universities; on the communal farms in the high mountains of the west; in countless forms and shapes and sizes, the message is being preached again, "All you need is love."

We are the witnesses of a rebirth, a renaissance, a spiritual reformation that is every bit as powerful as the one that sparked in the 16th Century.

And in the streets, in the forest, in the sit-ins and celebrations; in this, the 1967th year of Our Lord Jesus, the prophecy comes screaming like a thunderbolt across the centuries:

"Behold, I am with you all days Even to the end of the world..."

Soph prez steps aside

An open letter to the sophomore class:

What is going on in the sophomore class council? Many people have expressed surprise that the sophomore class council is capable of achieving something. In fact, before I took office there was serious talk about eliminating the useless appendage known as class government. My experience has proven that there is a place for class government at Foothill. However, it remains to be seen whether or not future sophomore class councils will follow our example.

I would have liked to have had more participation in the class government by the members of the sophomore class. There are over 3,000 sophomores at Foothill, yet I only had a hard core cadre of six students who gave unselfishly of their time. It is almost incredible that the sophomore class council was able to complete its many projects.

During my term I have tried hard to represent the silent center — that body of students too busy pursuing their education to become involved in student government. Having arisen myself from the apathetic mass I am aware of some of the reasons for their apathy. To this end I have tried to make class government more meaningful to the students.

I am largely disengaging myself from student government next semester. I entered student government to make my voice heard and to make the sophomore class council a "get something done" organization. I feel that I have accomplished what I set out to do. Since I have no desire to become a Campus bureaucrat, I am not going to run for re-election. I would like to see others come forward.

Individuals Against the Crime of Silence

A Declaration To Our Fellow Citizens Of The United States, To The Peoples Of The World, And To Future Generations:

- 1 We are appalled and angered by the conduct of our country in Vietnam.
- 2 In the name of liberty, we have unleashed the awesome arsenal of the greatest military power in the world upon a small agricultural nation, killing, burning and mutilating its people. In the name of peace, we are creating a desert. In the name of security, we are inviting world conflagration.
- 3 We, the signers of this declaration, believe this war to be immoral. We believe it to be illegal. We must oppose it.
- 4 At Nuremberg, after World War II, we tried, convicted and executed men for the crime of OBEYING their government, when that government demanded of them crimes against humanity. Millions more, who were not tried, were still guilty of THE CRIME OF SILENCE.
- 5 We have a commitment to the laws and principles we carefully forged in the AMERICAN CONSTITUTION, at the NUREMBERG TRIALS, and in the UNITED NATIONS CHARTER. And our own deep democratic traditions and our dedication to the ideal of human decency among men demand that we speak out.

We Therefore wish to declare our names to the office of the Secretary General of the United Nations, both as permanent witness to our opposition to the war in Vietnam and as a demonstration that the conscience of America is not dead.

On September 23, 1966, a Memorandum of Law was incorporated in the Congressional Record of the 89th Congress of the United States of America, in which eight leading American attorneys, after careful analysis of the position and actions in the Vietnam War, came to the conclusion that we are violating the following article: The Charter of the United Nations, The Geneva Accords of 1948, the United States Constitution.

To Protest - To Object - To Dissent has long been an American tradition. The following are a few among the many who have signed this declaration to be on permanent record.

Footlighters to stage play

Coinciding with the yuletide spirit, the Footlighters will be presenting a play, "The Year Santa Forgot He Was He," for the students of Hollenbeck Grammar School in Cupertino today at 2 p.m.

The play, directed by Karen Money, is about 'the grande old man of Christmas' forgetting who he is because he fell, which resulted in a case of amnesia.

The cast consists of Linda Schallich, Nancy Walker, Dan Wilson, David Cowles, Harry Ferrer, and Bob Barrington.

This is just one activity sponsored by the Drama Club to raise money for a possible trip to Hawaii with the Music department in the spring.

Other activities are the selling of tickets for the one-act plays in January, selling refreshments during the intermissions of "Amahl" and a possible car rally later in the year.

Think snow! Think ski!

By GRAYSON HARMON
Sentinel City Editor

It's a bit awkward at first.

You've never had those heavy boots and long sticks on your feet before. You don't look at all like a skier, much less feel like one.

Already you are beginning to question the wisdom of spending the Christmas holidays learning to ski. You wonder if that ski nut, who persuaded you to try skiing, is really your friend.

You wave goodbye to him as he glides away. "Would a true friend desert me," you think.

Somehow you manage to get from the lodge to the schooling area. You only fall twice.

The instructor tells you how to use the rope tow which takes you up the bunny slope. It's miserable going up, but by some miracle you are still on your feet when you reach the top.

The instructor points to an advanced skier on the upper slopes and says that skiing is a fun and graceful sport. It looks that way; you believe him.

It's really worth it all!

Then your lesson begins. He coaxes you to start down the slope. Immediately you go out of control. As you cross your ski tips and nosedive into an eggbeater fall, you say, "Is this graceful?" And you don't think it's so fun while you climb out of your sitzmark and fill it in.

After an hour and a half you are chagrined. It seems you are paying the instructor only to have him say, "Bend your knees," and then let him watch you when you don't bend.

Your clothes get wet from falling in the snow so much. You curse and wonder if going to the Winter Carnival during semester break is worth all this agony.

You progress slowly, but remember, you are just starting.

Now flash ahead to the new year. During the holidays you learned a lot. You are now the skier on the upper slopes, and you know that skiing really is graceful and rewarding.

Doves, board hit

Editor:

I am writing this letter regarding Bradwell Scott's feature in your Dec. 1 issue. Since the peace demonstrators and Mr. Scott failed to correctly evaluate the position taken by the Marines, I will enlighten them.

If Scott and the Doves had examined the situation they would have found the Marines had no enlistment contracts and didn't try to recruit from those who approached them. This lack of recruiting tactics by the Marines helps to illustrate that they were actually here to further the education of anyone who may have been interested.

Since the broadening of education is the sole purpose of Foothill College, the Marines became a part of this organization.

Equally, the demonstrators, by protesting the presence of the Marines also protested the ideas of a full education and the existence of Foothill. The Dove's failure to see the obvious lent an air of the ridiculous to the protest and weakened any good arguments they may have had.

The protest became even weaker as the peace demonstrators tried to justify their position by engaging in open debate. One peace student used as his excuse a religion he was violating at that very moment, by demonstrating. Another claimed U.S. violation of the Geneva Convention in the arming of medical corpsmen. It only takes a phone call to the Moffett Field Hospital to disprove this silly argument. Then, as another peace advocate tired of the debate, he dismissed his tormentor with "That's your bag, Baby, You tote it."

I therefore will dismiss this subject of protests in the same manner. If the Doves prefer this form of ignorant protest as a show of intelligent thought, I can only say, "That's your bag, Baby, You tote it. It will be easy, because until you can argue with solid facts and a unified purpose, your bag of truths will be empty."

If the Board of Trustees has their way, in their own way they will control a student financial and run (?) publication, the Fairly Free Thinker.

As a student, I feel this is wrong. The Trustees shouldn't have anything to say about student publications. We are supposed to be adults treated as adults.

In America there is freedom of speech, there is no law which states "freedom of speech as long as good taste is expressed."

Taste is left to the speaker, and if Senator Bradley or the Trustees don't like it they don't have to read it or listen to it. If the Trustees want to control a publication, let them start their own, finance their own, and leave ours alone.

Purpose, progress still 2-S deferment criteria

A question as to the draftable status of junior college students has been raised by Gen. Lewis Hershey's interpretation of the Selective Service Act of 1967.

Gen. Hershey's interpretation casts doubt over the status of those students currently enrolled in two-year college programs which are not baccalaureate degree orientated, such as terminal programs or technical studies.

To offset this interpretation, the California Junior College Association (CJCA) is urging all local boards in California to allow males enrolled in institutions of higher learning the opportunity to continue in school as long as they are full time students making normal progress.

Reassurance is offered the two-year students from Maj. Henry Carlson, chief of the Manpower Division of the Selective Service System State headquarters in Sacramento, who said that the position of California is "to favor continued student classification so that... students who show a sincere desire and purpose, who meet the minimum requirements, will be deferred. This is our policy, and we see no glimmer of change."

Retreat talk-time

The final retreat of the first semester will be an administration-faculty-student conference held on Jan. 5-6 at Asilomar.

This retreat is being financed by the Foothill College District and was set up to allow the faculty and administration to talk with student leaders about responsibility, student publications and other topics.

De Anza will also be having a similar retreat at Asilomar at this time and will be joining Foothill.

Any student who desires to attend may sign up in C-31 or see Miss Georgas or Richard Henning.

HOUSE OF HONDA

What is Christmas?

By DAVE FULLER
Sentinel Staff Writer

The SENTINEL asked several Foothill students, "What does Christmas mean to you?" Regardless of their reasons, whether it was religion, sentiment, or anti-commercialism, each was eager to communicate his ideas. Some answers:

Geoff Wichert: Christmas is when you tear down all the various protests against the war in Vietnam to put up peace signs saying, "Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men." It is the one time of the year when I don't like people. That's because I love people and I don't like to see their hypocrisy. I will never like Christmas and will always like it.

Robert Estrada: It is exploited too much.

In personal sense, it should be more of a family thing with people making their presents and cooking, cakes and cookies. This would mean a lot more than going out and buying a Whitman Sampler.

Sue Diller: Christmas seems more to me than being happy—it is warmth. It isn't a holiday. It's a feeling. I don't know why it should be at any one time of the year. The majority of people feel there can be peace on earth. Why not be friends?

David Peebles: I think Christmas has totally lost its religious meaning. It is becoming one of the glaring highpoints of our hypocrisy.

Ron Samfeld: I'm not even a Christian! I'm an outsider looking in. Christmas brings family and friends together and in a society like ours where families are split up so much this is good. Christmas is just a different day when everything is quiet like a morgue. It even puts the activists to rest.

Ron Quesenberry: Christmas is, more or less, a stereotype. It is a time to go home—a release from tensions. It is a time for sentimentality. You can look back on your childhood. I went up in the hills with my room-mates the other day to cut a Christmas tree. We really got excited. It's funny to think that a bunch of guys in their twenties could get so excited over Christmas.

Pete Smith: Christmas has gone beyond the point of just being Christ's birthday. It has grown into more of an overall religious thing. The idea is that you should practice it all year long.

Ann Haney: It doesn't have anything to do with religion for me. It is one of the few times that people let their defenses down and they are themselves. They become emotionally involved in things—little things. They get teary eyed—at least I do. I love Christmas like the best, stuffed-as-full-as-you-can Teddy Bear. I LOVE Christmas.

VISTA visits FC, Jan. 2-5

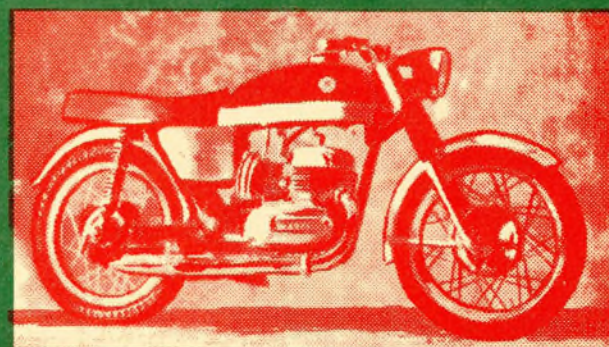

Representatives from Volunteers in Service to America, VISTA, will be recruiting on Campus the week on Jan. 2-5. The representatives are being sponsored by the Experiment in Education.

The two representatives that will be on Campus to answer questions are Miss Pat Weber and Rich Bray, both students of Foothill College. Miss Weber and Bray worked on VISTA's summer associate program last summer. This involved working side by side with Job Corps, another combat arm in the nation's war on poverty.

Miss Weber worked on the Summer Associate program in Oregon this past summer. She worked with the Job Corps teaching, reading, counseling and organizing special projects for the Corps members.

The Summer Associate program includes two weeks training and then two months work.

The demand for VISTA Volunteers is great. A total of 17,931 Volunteers has been requested to serve on 1,450 projects in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and the U. S. territories.

Planetarium to show new Christmas Star pageant

What was the Christmas Star? Are you interested in finding out? Pre-Yule showings of "The Christmas Star," a Christmas pageant, continue tonight in the College Planetarium. The program is also scheduled for the week of Dec. 18-22.

Frank W. Cole, coordinator of Community Science Services for the Foothill College District, says the programs now scheduled for next week are an extension of those originally planned because of the increasing popularity of the Christmas pageant.

Though "The Christmas Star" is being given for the sixth consecutive year, former viewers are assured by Cole that it has a revised narration and all new slides and recordings. The purpose of the program is to explain to the audience the astrological viewpoint of the Star. It is not the intent of the lecture to show any religious connotations, according to Cole.

The 1967 program is written, produced and directed by Cole, utilizing Christmas Star projectors created by Paul Trejo, former director of the planetarium and now chairman of the division of Engineering and Technology at De Anza.

Cole credits Bart DePalma, Foothill art instructor, who painted the Bethlehem scene from which a panorama was made; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Shrope who contributed scriptural readings, and Shelly Noon, photographer.

Musical selections used in the pageant are from "The Glorious Sounds of Christmas," Columbia album by Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra and Temple University Choir; "This Is the Caroling Season" by Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians, Capitol Records; "In A Monastery Garden," New London Symphony; "The Great Songs of Christmas" volumes by Eileen Farrell and also the Mormon Tabernacle Choir; and the "Heart of Christmas," Sergio Franchi, RCA Victor, among others.

According to the Foothill District Office of Community services, "The Christmas Star" gives an opportunity to explore the byways of science, history, religion, and philosophy. It is highly recommended for all-family viewing.

"The Christmas Star" begins at 7:30 p.m. and tickets will be sold only at the door prior to showings. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children through twelve and Foothill District students.

FC students to sit-in Five Foothill students are among those planning a mass non-violent sit-in at the Oakland Induction Center from Dec. 18-20.

The protest, organized by the Civil Action Day Committee, will be against the draft and will try to persuade inductees not to go into the induction center.

A turnout of 200-300 persons sitting-in is expected with about 1000 others staging legal demonstrations.

The protest has been scheduled during the forthcoming vacation so that those arrested will be out of jail by the time classes resume. According to Tom Coats, President of the Foothill Constitutionalists, persons sitting-in could receive 10 days imprisonment for disturbing the peace.

Asked if he could get sentenced to more than 10 days in jail, Coats replied, "Yes, but it's the risk I'll have to take."

Last October, 20 Foothill students participated at a mass protest at the Oakland Induction Center.

Spirit comes to FC

Music and drama students show some traditional Christmas spirit by playing Christmas carols in the Campus Center Mall earlier this week. They are promoting a contest for a trip to Disneyland, the idea of which is to raise funds for the music-drama department trip to Hawaii this spring.

Contrasting moods on film series fare tonight

The thirteenth segment of the Community Film Series will offer films expressing both humor and something serious to think about tonight at showings at 7 and 9:30 p.m. The Appreciation Hall of the College will be the site of tonight's program.

"Duck Soup" presents the Marx Brothers in one of their most famous films. This film is a political farce about the land of the spree and the home of the knave.

The Marx Brothers are famous throughout the movie world as a comedy team unique in both personality and style of humor.

Each of the brothers were different in actions and words.

Groucho was the one most closely linked with society and in their films; he was the one who attacked society most directly and successfully.

Harpo will be remembered by many as the quiet one. Harpo's silence was not because of some disability but rather because he could see people as they really were and developed his own little game to play with society.

Chico, the third brother, was the link between Harpo and Groucho. He was simple like Harpo and verbal like Groucho. Chico acted as the pivot man in their films.

The fourth brother Zeppo, was the least known of the brothers. His part in the films was restricted mostly to the playing of the romantic leads.

Also scheduled to be shown on tonight's program is a film entitled "The Hole." In this film, John and Faith Hubley explore the possibility of a nuclear war.

Admission is 75 cents for the general public and free to students.

FC announces winning seal

Foothill College District has a new seal. The new seal was picked at the Foothill College District Board meeting held Dec. 4, culminating a two month contest held at Foothill and De Anza Colleges.

Winning artist was Miss Margaret Jackson, Foothill College staff member, who won $50.

The winning seal is a large circle with pyramids radiating outwards, while inside the circle the words Foothill Junior College District encompasses a torch with a red base and yellow flame. On either side of the torch is the date of the inception of the College District.

Miss Jackson, although excited about winning, stated, "Just because I won, it doesn't necessarily mean they will use it."

Miss Gretchen Shafer, second place winner, won $10 with her black circle with gold lettering.

A brilliant color scheme of red, yellow, and black, featuring the hills of Foothill and the bust of De Anza, won Garth Hansen third place and $10.

Placing fourth, Pat Osborn, designer of the De Anza College seal, won five dollars.

Foothill cage classic to open next Wednesday

By LANE WALLACE
Sentinel Staff Writer

The Foothill North-South Basketball Classic, featuring eight top JC teams, will open its sixth annual three-day run on Wednesday, Dec. 20 in the Foothill gym.

"This is an opportunity to see some of the highest caliber Junior College basketball," said Foothill coach Jerry Cole.

Although the Owls are off to a flying start with a 5-1 record, they will be the underdog when they face Santa Monica City College at 9 p.m. Wednesday.

The visiting Corsairs boast one of the top Southern California former prep cagers in 6-8 center Sid Wicks. Wicks has been tossing in 27 points a game in early season play, as his team has compiled a record of 2-2.

However, the defense-minded Owls have been winning steadily and will give Santa Monica a battle. If the Owls can keep Wicks under control, they can win and advance into the semifinals.

Long Beach City College, defending tournament champions for two seasons, will be looking for their third straight title in the tournament when they meet West Valley College at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Long Beach has an exciting, fast breaking offense that has been scoring at a phenomenal leading players for Long Beach.

West Valley pulled a major upset by beating a powerful Contra Costa team last week. Guards Kirk Ladine and Bob Roehl are the top players for West Valley.

Wednesday's 5 p.m. game will feature the only returning All-Tournament selection, Don Jones of Merced. Merced will be playing San Jose City College. Jones is an exciting player who specializes in scoring from long range.

San Jose lacks height, but they have a fast-moving team. Freshman Everett Breaux, who played for San Jose High's title team last year, leads the Jags in scoring.

The 3:00 p.m. game will feature Chabot's All-Golden Gate Conference forward, Don Crenshaw, who has been playing outstanding basketball in early season play. Chabot is rated by Cole as the top Northern team in the tourney.

Jeff Frost, at present Foothill's top scorer, leads the Owls against Monterey Peninsula College tonight.

Cagers to host MPC tonight

Foothill's surprising basketball squad will close their pre-tournament slate tonight in a game against Monterey Peninsula in the Foothill gym. Game time is at 8 p.m.

The Owls take an impressive 5-1 record into tonight's game, not including Wednesday's game with West Valley.

In last week's action, the Owls scored victories over Napa, 56-42, Cabrillo, 41-40, and De Anza, 29-26. The Owls suffered a let-down after their win over district rival De Anza and lost to Hartnell, 53-47.

Jeff Frost led the Owls in scoring in each of the games, with a high of 28 in the loss to Hartnell. Frost has popped for 118 points on the season for a 19.7 average.

Forward Simon O'Hanlon ranks second in scoring to Frost with 75 points and a 12.5 average.

Since Foothill does not have the height to match other schools, Coach Jerry Cole has emphasized defense and a shot-selective offense, and his squad has come through in fine style.

The Owl defense, led by Frost, O'Hanlon, centers Mark Kepingler, and guards Jim Nordell and Kris Larsen spark the defense which yields an average of only 42.3 points per game.

Foothill places first in Sports Day held at DVC

Foothill placed first in overall team honors at the All-College Sports Day held at Diablo Valley College two weeks ago. Runner-ups to the Owls were City College of San Francisco and Chabot.

Foothill had first places in badminton and archery. In badminton, Foothill made a clean sweep. The volleyball and tennis teams met with cold foggy air and had to settle for less than first place. The volleyball team had been expected to win.

The gamely Foothill students, of which 25 turned out for Sports Day, apparently had a very enjoyable and satisfying time, according to Miss Whipple, Director of Intramurals.

The next Sports Day is scheduled for the beginning of Spring Semester. It is hoped that an even larger group of students will represent Foothill, not only at activities such as Sports Day, but the various campus activities as well.

Last Friday the best intramural basketball teams from Foothill and De Anza vied for a perpetual trophy to be awarded to the winner. The Foothill all-stars won the game in overtime 64-60.

In other intramural action, the Lakers cinched the Intramural Basketball League with a 7-0 record. In addition, throughout this week there has been competition in weight lifting and in table tennis.

Students are urged to sign-up for the Annual Winter Carnival at Squaw Valley on Jan. 24, 25 and 26. All those interested students and who have $31.50 can sign up immediately at C-31.

Owl wrestlers to meet Bulldogs today at CSM

The Foothill wrestling team travels to the College of San Mateo for its second GGC match today. The meet begins at 4 p.m. Tomorrow, the Owls travel to Fresno City College to meet Bakersfield and Fresno in a three-way match.

On Dec. 8, the Owl grapplers defeated West Valley College by the score of 26-15. This was the second straight win for the Owls. Don Ahern (191), and Scott Rehm (160) both pinned their opponents. Bernie Olmos (123) and Dick Furuya (130) won their matches by decisions.

On Saturday, Coach Noon and his wrestling squad traveled to Sacramento to meet American River and Sacramento City College. They defeated SCC 30-9 and tied ARC 20-20.

Alan Ida started off against SCC by decisioning his man 6-2. Bernie Olmos, going after his third dual meet win, decisioned his opponent 6-0. Dick Furuya, Rich Slack and Don Ahern won their matches by falls. Scott Rehm, Larry Noon, and Rick Rosenquist all won their matches by decisions.

Foothill then ran into a streak of bad luck against ARC. Ida, who won his first match, suffered a nose injury and was forced to forfeit his match. Ida will be out for three weeks. Foothill was now down by five points, but Olmos gained a fall to even the score at 5-5.

In the previous dual matches, Foothill depended on the lower weights to gain the much needed points. Against ARC it was the upper weights that came through with points.

Rehm and Ahern came through with decisions, and Noon pinned his opponent. This made the score 16-20 with the Owls down by four points. Foothill needed a pin by Rosenquist, who tried, but could only gain a decision. The official awarded one point to Foothill on a technical violation against ARC, making the final score 20-20.

The wrestling record stands at 3-0-1 (not including DVC meet).

The wrestlers that are undefeated in dual meet competition thus far are Olmos, Noon and Rosenquist.

Bernie Olmos (top) one of three Owl wrestlers undefeated in dual meet competition, works over his opponent in a recent match.

Grappler Bernie Olmos unbeaten

Bernie Olmos hails from Mountain View High, where he accounted for many wrestling titles. Bernie's sophomore year at Mountain View began his long string of victories, which up to now still remains unblemished.

In his sophomore year, he placed second in the league and first in Northern California.

In his junior year, Olmos placed first in the league and first in Northern California. He won the most valuable wrestler award in two tournaments and was awarded the trophy for most pins.

During his senior year, Olmos won his third straight Northern California title and was awarded the Mel Rush Memorial trophy for the most valuable wrestler in the state.

Now at Foothill, Olmos is undefeated in his first two matches.

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY

Yuletide is almost upon us. Let's stop wasting time in classes and get on with our Christmas shopping. Following are a number of gift suggestions, all easily obtainable at your nearest war surplus boutique.

First, a most unusual gift idea, brand new this year and certain to please everyone on your list—a gift certificate from the American Veterinary Medicine Association! Each certificate is accompanied by this charming poem:

*Merry Christmas, north and south,
Does your cow have hoof and mouth?*

*And your dog, fidele semper,
Here's a cure for his distemper.*

*Little kitten, cute and squirmy,
Bring her in. I think she's wormy.*

To bunnies, turtles, parrots green, Joyeux Noel! Heureux Vaccine!

Are you wondering what to give that extra-special man on your list? Stop wondering. Give him that extra-special shaving combination, Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades and Burma Shave. Each gift is accompanied by this charming poem:

*Christmas merry, New Year bonny,
From your friendly blade Personny.*

*You will have the ladies fawning,
If you're shaving with Persawning.*

*Injector style or double edges,
Both are made by good Persedges.*

*And Burma-Shave in plain or menthol,
Leaves your face as smooth as renthol.*

(NOTE: As everyone knows, renthol is the smoothest substance ever discovered. You may not know, however, that renthol is named after its inventor, Ralph Waldo Renthol, who developed it by crossing a swan with a ball bearing.)

(Interestingly enough, Mr. Renthol did not start out to be an inventor. Until age 50 he was a Western Union boy. Then fate took a hand. One day while delivering a singing telegram to a girl named Claudia Sigafos, Ralph noted to his surprise that the telegram was signed "Claudia Sigafos!" She had sent herself a birthday greeting!

(When pressed to explain, Claudia told Ralph a heart-rending tale. It seems that when she was only six weeks old, her parents were killed in an avalanche. The infant Claudia was found by a pair of kindly caribou who raised her as their own. They taught her all they knew—like how to rub bark off a tree and which lichens are better than other lichens—but in time they saw that this was not enough. When Claudia reached age 18, they entered her in Bennington.

(Unused to people, Claudia lived a lonely life—so lonely, in fact, that she was reduced to sending herself birthday greetings, as we have seen.

(Ralph, deeply touched, married Claudia and tried his best to make her mingle with people. It didn't work. They went nowhere, saw no one, except for an annual Christmas visit to Claudia's foster parents, Buck and Doe. To while away his long, lonely hours, Ralph finally built a work bench and started to futz around with inventions, as we have seen.

(It is pleasant to report that the story of Ralph and Claudia ends happily. After the birth of their two children, Donder and Blitzen, Claudia joined the PTA and soon overcame her fear of people. Ralph joined the Elks.)

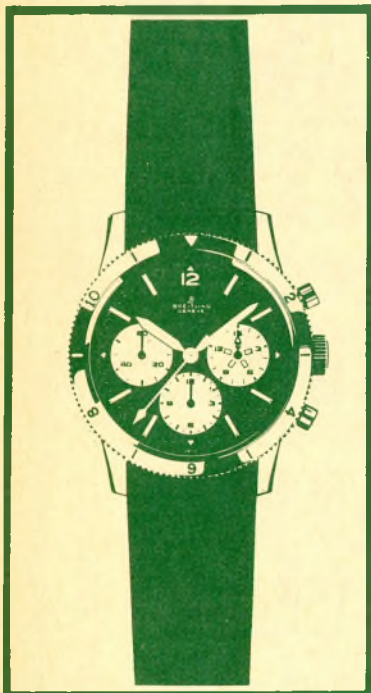

But I digress. Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night! Ho-ho-ho!

YOUR CO-PILOT FOR LIFE!

This chronograph with stainless steel waterproof case has been especially designed for pilots. It is shock resistant and antimagnetic.

The central chronographic hand, which indicates seconds and 1/5th of second, is connected with two recorders: a minute recorder, up to 15 minutes (at the 3 o'clock position) and an hour recorder, up to 12 hours (at the 6 o'clock position).

The turning bezel with its 12 divisions indicates the time simultaneously in two or more time zones as well as making it possible to fix a time to remember (departure or arrival time).

This chronograph is all right for "Yachting"
