'Carnival Fantastique'

Welcome dance in Campus Center at 9

"Carnival Fantastique" is the theme set for the welcome dance tonight at 9 p.m. sponsored by the Circle K Club.

The Owl's Nest will be decorated in a roaring 20's theme with over two dozen kegs "for added spirit," according to Paul Olsen and Jack Itakura, entertainment chairmen. The dance floor will be decorated like a huge carnival including cotton candy and a tunnel of love.

Lower rate of dropout for fall

The percentage of day students disqualified during the fall semester just completed was lower than that of fall semester the previous year, according to Dr. A. Robert DeHart, dean of students.

Although 263 students were dropped from school last semester as compared to 192 disqualified the previous fall, this year's ratio was lower because of the increased size of the student body, DeHart said. The percentage was 12.4 percent for fall, 1961, compared to 13.5 percent for fall semester, 1960.

According to DeHart, 624 students (29.3 percent) were placed on probation at the end of last semester, while 234 students (11 percent) who had been on probation were returned to good standing.

At Appreciation Hall

'Blue Angel' film slated tonight

By VIC MASTERSON

The 1939 movie "Blue Angel" starring Marlene Dietrich will be shown tonight in the Appreciation Hall.

This is the film that catapulted Miss Dietrich to fame

Chairman appointed

Dr. H. H. Semans, dean of instruction at Foothill, has announced the recent appointment of Donald H. Ewing as assistant dean of instruction and Donald F. Fraser as chairman of the Language Arts Division.

Fraser and Ewing are presently English instructors at Foothill, with Fraser having joined the staff in 1958 and Ewing in 1961.

George Lamont, radio and TV personality will be the master of ceremonies for the dance and Scott Curtiss will play his rinky-rink piano in the style of the 20's.

The dance will come in full swing when Jim Mesquit and his rock 'n roll band sponsor a twist contest. George Sanchez, Foothill cheerleader, will give a demonstration to get the contest rolling.

Officers of Circle K Club will be introduced during the dance.

A number of door prizes will be given throughout the evening, according to Vic Biondi, entertainment chairman. Biondi said, "I guarantee a good time for everyone, and in behalf of all Circle K members, I invite everyone to attend."

Itakura said, "We hope this will be the biggest dance ever held at Foothill College."

Admission price will be 50c.

Dr. Flint challenges spring freshmen at orientation

Approximately 300 new students enrolled in classes for the spring semester were confronted with a challenge by Dr. Calvin C. Flint, Foothill College president, at the student orientation in the auditorium Jan. 30.

Flint told incoming students, "I challenge you to accept our challenge" with regard to the academic and social standards of the college.

Dr. H. H. Semans, dean of instruction, advised students to take each assignment as it is given and to keep constantly abreast of the material.

Semans also advised students not to "cram" for final exams but to review thoroughly the night before the test, get a good night's rest, and "give it all you've got."

Dr. A. Robert DeHart, dean of students, and ASFC President Bob Brewer encouraged students to take part not only in academic endeavors, but to participate in social activities as well.

ENROLLMENT FIGURES for spring semester took a sharp decline over the fall term due to a 12.4 percent disqualification rate.

Approximately 4,800 students have enrolled for spring semester classes, with 2,200 in day sessions and the remainder at night. This is a drop from the fall semester enrollment total of approximately 5,500. However, this does represent an increase of nearly 25 percent over the 1961 spring semester enrollment of 3,894.

COLLEGE OFFICIALS announced that steps have been taken to alleviate traffic and parking conditions which were a problem fall semester, especially during evening sessions.

Very few day classes have been scheduled before 9 a.m. in order to allow morning rush-hour traffic to ease before Foothill students begin their commute from surrounding communities.

A systematic staggering of beginning and ending times of evening classes has been arranged. This, it is hoped, will spread the arrival and departure of students over a much longer period of time than during fall semester.

Flint to embark on trip East Feb. 15

Dr. Calvin C. Flint, president of Foothill College, will leave for the East Coast Feb. 15 to interview candidates for new instructors to meet the expected increase in enrollment.

There are 11 areas in which 41 instructors are needed, according to Miss Lorraine Anderson, secretary to Dr. Flint, and the greatest need is in the English department where 11 new instructors are needed.

Areas of expansion include biology, health, business, English, technology, language arts, library, P.E. and athletics, physical science, mathematics, social science and counseling.

UP A TREE—Paul Olsen, decorations chairman of tonight's welcome dance entitled "Carnival Fantastique" spent early Tuesday with fellow members of the Circle K club placing an 80-foot banner across El Monte Rd. to advertise the dance. The dance, first social event of the spring semester, will be presented in the Campus Center.

Jerry Miller, Foothill Sentinel editor-in-chief announced spring semester staff appointments

new staff appointments for spring semester.

Mrs. Lois Kirchner was appointed city editor; Miss Cindy Kleinhans, feature editor; Miss Diane Antchagno, news editor; and Paul Mumford, copy editor.

All new staff members are journalism majors, except for Mumford, general education, Olsen, art, and Holmes, accounting.

Bill Floyd was reappointed to the post of advertising manager and Phil Angst as circulation manager.

WARREN A. MACK, journalism instructor, serves as advisor to the staff.

The editorial staff meets twice weekly to discuss editorials, columns and newspaper policy.

THE WEST Bay Opera Company will present "Carmen" on Feb. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the college auditorium. Admission will be $2.50 and $1.50 to students.

Ogden Nash will lecture in the auditorium on Feb. 23 at 8 p.m. on "The Portable Nash."

Next paper Feb. 23

Publication date for the next edition of the Foothill Sentinel has been set as Feb. 23, according to editor-in-chief Jerry Miller.

Miller stated that the irregular publication dates for the Sentinel were due to the fact that a training period is set up each semester for new reporters.

PIANIST STEPHEN BISHOP is caught by Foothill Sentinel photographer Norman Starrat in a before, during and after sequence at his recital, Feb. 4 in the Foothill College Appreciation Hall. Bishop was the guest soloist in the opening San Francisco Symphony at Foothill. His recital, sponsored by the public events board, included selections by Mozart, Brahms, Seymour Shifrin and Beethoven.

Store investigation?

The Sentinel has been accused of a disservice to one of the members of the Foothill family, that person being James Jones, manager of the Foothill Bookstore and Campus Center. We would like to take this opportunity to correct that situation.

Last semester the Sentinel carried a news story alleging unfair practice in the bookstore. This was not an attempt at sensationalism, but instead, a case of the reporter assigned to the student council doing his job.

During the council meeting, one of the students reported that he had been approached by several other students regarding unfair prices in the store. He volunteered to head an investigation.

The so-called investigation never got off the ground. There were very few students who showed an interest in such an inquiry. The majority were apparently satisfied with the operation of the Bookstore.

We feel at this time it would be well to bring the readers up to date on facts concerning the Bookstore.

First of all, the Bookstore operation falls under the immediate control of the Campus Center Board, which is made up of both students and faculty. Every phase of the operation must be approved by this board, which keeps a running account of all inventory, prices, personnel, etc.

The Foothill College Bookstore is registered as a non-profit organization. The profits are returned to the inventory or to the ASFC fund. Last year the Bookstore turned over approximately twenty-five percent of its profits to the student body.

As a member of both the National Association of College Bookstores and the California Association of Bookstores, the Foothill Bookstore has achieved the honor of being the number one junior college bookstore in California. Foothill has held this position for the past three years. Even last year, Foothill placed higher than the college bookstore at San Jose State in over-all service to students.

This figure is based on the over-all hours the store serves the students. It also takes into account the accessibility of related items other than textbooks.

Under Jones' management, the Foothill Bookstore was the first to pioneer a completely self-service store.

When Jones first started the Bookstore, there was no inventory at all. He even took money from his own pocket to have enough money in the borrowed cash register to open. He virtually brought the business from a "push-cart" operation to the modern "fish bowl" of today.

As far as the prices being higher than other bookstores, this is justifiable.

Since Foothill is still a relatively small school, the Bookstore cannot order supplies or books in great quantities. Hence their unit cost is higher than it would be if they ordered in larger quantities.

The price charged students is determined by the cost to the store plus a nominal mark-up. Some retail prices are set by publishing distributors.

It is anticipated that as the student body grows and more books are stocked, prices will decrease.

If readers of this paper are still interested in conducting an investigation of the Bookstore, Jones says he will welcome them and talk with them over a cup of coffee. The books are always open to authorized persons.

Flint, Brewer welcome students

TO ALL NEW STUDENTS

Foothill College extends you a welcome and a challenge.

You will find a friendly atmosphere at Foothill, and we sincerely invite you to become a part of the Foothill family. And you will also find a challenge at Foothill—a challenge to excellence and a challenge to take advantage of everything Foothill has to offer.

What you get out of Foothill is entirely up to you. We cannot force you to acquire an education, but we can set an environment in which you will have an opportunity for obtaining an education which will be of life-long value.

SO THIS IS our challenge to you — get everything you can out of Foothill. Avail yourself of the invitation by faculty members to obtain individual assistance; review every program Foothill offers and be sure you are enrolled in the one which is most fitted to your need; select a student activity aligned to your interest and participate in it to the fullest.

This is our challenge. We hope you will accept it—and good luck!

Calvin C. Flint
President

Bob Brewer
ASFC President

It's the old push cart they used last year. Mr. Jones has it around for good luck!

Editor Unchained

By Jerry Miller.

A lot of you readers are probably wondering what this paper will be like now that there is a new editor, as well as a relatively new staff. The policy of the Sentinel will not change. We will still bring you the campus news in depth. While I am editor of this paper, I will try to live up to the Sentinel's motto, "Guardian of Truth."

TO MAKE this paper exactly what you readers want, we must know what you think of each issue. Please feel free to drop a letter into the Letter to the Editor box at any time, regarding anything that may be of interest to our readers, whether it be of praise or criticism.

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank my staff for getting this first issue out on time. Without their valuable assistance and especially the many extra hours of time that my sports editor, Ed Smith, has given, you would not be reading this paper now.

Now you may be puzzled as to the function of this column. The "unchained" part is self explanatory. It indicates my "freedom" and therefore, "anything goes." In other words, I will discuss anything that I feel needs mentioning.

ENOUGH OF the necessary items of explanation.

The supposed "end of the world" that was predicted for last week-end has come and gone, and we're still here. Perhaps that threat was responsible for some of the confusion around here, but I'm more inclined to think the beginning of the semester is responsible for the confusion.

Mr. Wagner was talking about the hot blooded Mediterraneans to one of his Political Science classes, but instead it came out "hot bedded Mediterraneans." Then in a Psych 1A class, Mr. Mannen was talking about the various text books that mentioned Freud, but it came out instead "the various sex books . . ." And then Mrs. Tansey stated that she was "going to make you all human by the end of the course." Does she imply the art appreciation students aren't human now?

IT SEEMS that the clubs would be slightly more organized by this time, but there were only four representatives at the A.O.C. meeting this week. I've noticed that one club is active already, and they are also interested in having the male students looking well groomed. The Vet's Club was busy handing out tubes of a well known hair cream. They were helping to conduct a survey for that company.

Ginzberg praises Foothill program in Jan. 26 speech

By DUNCAN LLOYD

Dr. Eli Ginzberg, Columbia University sociologist and economist, praised the educational program at Foothill College and California in general as "previews of things to come" in an address Jan. 26 in the Foothill Little Theater.

Dr. Ginzberg, who is director of the Conservation of Human Resources project and director of staff studies of the National Manpower Council, said, "Our nation has only recently become aware that investment in people is more valuable than investment in capital goods."

GINZBERG POINTED out areas in our society in which more educational investment in people would be profitable.

He recommended increased remedial work for slow learners in early elementary school "so they do not have to be taught in graduate school what they should have learned in elementary."

He expressed disagreement with Secretary of Labor Goldberg's campaign against "drop-outs" at the age of 15 and above. "Many children at this age are unable to get anything more out of school and need a job environment along with some supplemental education. . . . Chaining them to their desks is unwarranted and contributes to their frustration and delinquency," he said.

ACCORDING TO Ginzberg, "once-in-a-lifetime training" is no longer feasible for professional men and technicians.

For example, he said an engineer who does not keep learning and investing in training will lose 10 percent of his worth yearly and will be "useless" in eight years.

He suggested that one of the major problems women workers face is re-entering the labor market after their children are in school. Their need is to find something "commensurate with their ability and which will help to fully develop their personalities," he said.

GINZBERG STRESSED the importance of building bridges from one educational level to another so no group is left behind or cut off from continuing education. He recommended increased adult and vocational educational programs.

He also recommended that education be regarded as valuable not only for advantages in obtaining jobs, but for development of the individual personality.

Foothill to send two students, two advisors to CNPA

Two journalism students and two faculty members from FC will fly to Coronado Island, near San Diego, today to participate in a convention for California Newspaper Publishers Association (CNPA).

The 74th annual convention will be attended by Jerry Miller, the newly appointed Editor-in-Chief of the Sentinel, and Bill Floyd, the advertising manager of the Sentinel. The faculty members are Warren A. Mack, newspaper advisor, and Ervin L. Harlacher, director of Community Services at Foothill.

Travel and convention expenses for Miller and Floyd are being donated by the Sunnyvale Daily Standard, Palo Alto Times and the Los Altos News.

Invitation extended to Foothill co-eds to enter Miss Santa Clara Pageant

Foothill College co-eds have been invited to enter the competition in the 1962 "Miss Santa Clara" pageant by Miss Lorraine Woodside, assistant production director of the pageant.

PAM ACKERSON

This contest will be an official preliminary competition for the Miss California-Miss America pageants, Miss Woodside said.

Miss Santa Clara for 1961 is Foothill co-ed Pam Ackerson, 18-year old freshman education major from Santa Clara, who was a homecoming queen candidate last semester.

Contest rules state that entrants in the 1962 contest must be residents of Santa Clara, must be 18 years old by Sept. 1, 1962 and not older than 26; must be single and of good character.

The top three finalists "Miss Talent," and "Miss Congeniality" will receive trophies.

Contestants are judged on character, poise, charm, intelligence, beauty and talent.

In addition to receiving a scholarship award, Miss Ackerson has appeared at local store openings and was named "Miss Santa Clara Fire Department." She will give the fashion commentary for the 1962 pageant at Santa Clara High School April 14.

Anyone interested in entering the contest may contact Miss Ackerson by telephone at 241-6528 for further information

Graphic art prints donated to Foothill

Six prize winning graphic art prints have been given to Foothill College as the beginning of a permanent collection to be known as the "Gallery House Collection of Prints."

The six prints are from the Annual Printmaker's Exhibition held recently at Gallery House in Ladera. Dennis Beall, curator of the Achenbach Collection of Graphic Arts, served as juror. Beall also gave a graphic arts lecture at Foothill in November as part of the public events program at the college.

The entire Printmaker's show has been on display in the college library since Jan. 15. The prints include: "Early Show" serigraph by Kenneth Auvil of Los Gatos. The print, judged "Best in the Show," was donated by Mrs. Russell Varian of Cupertino and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ginzton of Los Altos Hills.

"Song of Death," a woodcut by Robert Baxter was donated to the college by Fairchild Semi-Conductor of Mountain View. "Lake Merced" etching by Gordon Cook is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Philbrick of Los Altos Hills. "For H. A. from San Francisco's Burning" by Laurel Johnson was presented by an anonymous donor.

DeHart gains degree

Foothill College's dean of students, A. Robert DeHart may now be addressed as Dr. DeHart.

He received his doctor's degree in education at Stanford University. Title of his dissertation: "Admission Policies For Junior Colleges."

Curriculum set for night school

A total of 128 fully accredited college courses will be offered in the evening college during the spring semester, according to Dr. William B. Harwood, director of Foothill evening college.

Among the 48 new evening courses being offered are, Anthropology 2B, Patterns of Culture; Data Processing 62C, Computer Coding and Programming, Third Course; English 44, Masterpieces of Literature; Journalism 21A, News Writing and Reporting; Geography 2, Regional Geography and Music 2, Introduction to Music Literature.

Dr. Harwood said that approximately 3,500 students are expected to enroll in evening courses for the spring semester; however only 2,582 had enrolled by Jan. 30.

Second FC foster child

Parentless Korean boy adopted by FC students

A parentless 13-year old Korean boy, Lee Hae Jo, has been adopted by Foothill College under the Foster Parent Plan.

Lee Hae, who lives with his two brothers, a sister and their aged, and completely dependent grandfather in a tiny two room house in the squalid conditions that mark the slum areas on the outskirts of Seoul, is the second child to be adopted by the college.

JEAN-LUC TREMEL, 10, from France was the first child to be adopted by Foothill last year.

Until the outbreak of the Korean War, Lee Hae's father was considered a fairly prosperous man. His business was a growing one and the family lived comfortably in a big house in the heart of Seoul. The parents had settled there some 30 years ago.

With the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950, however, the family had to abandon all they owned to flee the Communists. Together with thousands of other terrified refugees they remained in Suwon for two years struggling for day-to-day survival.

FOOD SUPPLIES rapidly diminished, shelter was almost impossible to find and employment was nearly non-existent.

When the war was over, the family returned to Seoul, but constant anxiety and tension were too much for the child's mother. Her health failed and she died in 1953.

Lee Hae's father sold their large home a few years ago and tried to start up another workshop for making varnish. He managed fairly well, until one of the workers at his shop broke a bottle of gasoline on the stove. It exploded and Lee Hae's father was killed along with two other employees.

WITH THE $180.00 Foothill College will pay annually for his support, Lee Hae will be able to remain in school and lead a fairly prosperous life with his brothers, Hae In (20) and Hae Sun (14½) and their sister Hae Kyong (23).

Student council loses officer; WUS sends request

At the first student council meeting of the spring semester, Bob Brewer, ASFC president, informed other members that he had received a request from Diablo Valley College to take part in the World University Service (WUS) orientation session at the University of California this Saturday in Berkeley.

In the past, student council members have looked into the WUS but have come back with unfavorable opinions. The biggest question mark that WUS has caused Foothill College student government is lack of financial records. Barry Hunt, commissioner of activities, has stated that this college would like to know where the money goes before participating.

In other student council news, Foothill College representatives were informed of the up-and-coming regional conference of the California State Junior College Student Government Association (CJCSGA) in Vallejo. The executive council will attend the State Conference scheduled for March 29-31 in Los Angeles.

Student council was jolted Thursday with the announcement that Eileen LaFontaine, commissioner of communications, was disqualified from her post for academic deficiency.

Full-scale program for students, faculty on tap for spring term

With the spring semester just one and one half weeks old the Intramural council is already prepared to meet every request for sports activities for student and faculty alike.

The calendar for spring includes Monday bowling leagues from 4:00-6:00 in the afternoons women's basketball leagues, table tennis and a men's free throw contest for the months of February and March.

April and May has been set aside for co-ed and men's volleyball, badminton and track with swimming, diving and softball and touch football slated for May and June. The latter two activities are pending the availability of field space.

According to Miss Helen Windham, advisor to the intramural council and head of the women's physical education department, the various divisions (for example the engineering or philosophy departments) will be able to enter teams along with organized campus clubs and independent teams.

Information concerning entrance, times and places for the events will be available in footprints, on the bulletin board and in the intramurals office in the physical education department.

Fall semester roundup

Bowling, badminton, volleyball highlight fall intramurals schedule

Fall semester 1961-62 proved very successful to the intramural's program, according to intramural council advisor Miss Helen Windham.

A team comprised of Jackie Hauseman, Bob Karren and Ken Heintz copped the Wednesday afternoon bowling league title at Camino Bowl, with Karren coming out on top in high game totals.

WOMEN'S HIGH game went to Edie Vecqueray, while Dana Young and Carol Finley topped the list in men's and women's high series.

A spring semester league on Mondays from 4:00-6:00 in the afternoon is also planned for the Camino Bowl for independent teams, clubs and division teams.

Kelly Moss won the men's singles competition in the intramural badminton tournament with Althie Hamm prevailing in the women's division.

MEN'S DOUBLES laurels

Bartunek, Hopkins head intramural council in spring

Becky Bartunek and Phil Hopkins were elected to serve as women's and men's co-ordinators of activities for the spring semester on the intramural council.

Miss Bartunek has been active in intramurals in many capacities and has taken part in its activities. Along with Althie Hamm, Miss Bartunek won the women's doubles competition in badminton recently.

PHIL HOPKINS has served as treasurer for the intramurals council and has taken part in its activities—especially bowling. One of the better bowlers that participate in the intramural programs, Hopkins has moved into the men's co-ordinator spot vacated by Doug Stout.

Other officers for the spring semester include Greg Moix (treasurer); Betty Menacho (secretary); members at large Pat Bentley and Sandy Mezger and intramurals chairman, Barbara Hujus.

MISS HELEN WINDHAM, director of women's physical education, acts as the intramural council advisor.

Editor's Notes

By ED SMITH
Sports Editor

As sports editor of the Foothill Sentinel for the spring semester, I hope that the students and faculty will play a major role in making the intramurals program at Foothill College a success.

I wish to thank Miss Helen Windham and Becky Bartunek for their help in publishing the "intramurals panorama." Their interest and work in publicizing a program such as the intramural council offers should be a hint to students and faculty alike that they should participate. The time and work spent in planning such a large scale program with student and instructor in mind is one to be proud of, but it cannot be a success without support and participation on your part.

There is something planned for everyone.

Owl '5' invades Concord tonight; meet Diablo Valley

Foothill College's basketball squad takes to the road tonight when the Owls invade Concord for a Coast Conference battle with Diablo Valley at 8 p.m.

CHARLIE KARP'S slowly sinking Diablo Valley crew will be led by guard Sam Coston and forward Tom Nichols.

Foothill has met Diablo twice. The first meeting in the Coast Conference Tournament saw the Owl quintet post a 73-62 decision to advance into the tourney finals.

However, the second meeting was a narrow 48-47 win for Foothill in the league opener.

Foothill hoopsters edge Menlo, Hartnell; lose to San Jose CC

Foothill won two out of three assignments in Coast Conference basketball during the past three weeks while the Sentinel was not being published due to final examinations.

The Owls took Menlo College to the cleaners, 53-46; lost a crucial battle on its home court to San Jose City College 75-58, but bounced back to defeat Hartnell last Friday in Salinas, 78-72.

WHILE THE Owls were defeating Hartnell, San Jose had its nine game win streak cut short by seventh place Monterey Peninsula College, 57-52.

SPORTS

A La Carte

By Ed Smith

Foothill College may have kissed the Coast Conference basketball championship goodbye for 1962.

San Jose City College put a damper on the Owl's chances of bringing home the hardware Jan. 30 when the Jaguars exploded in the second half to post a 75-58 win and knock Foothill from its share of the top rung on the ladder.

Jim Padgett's San Joseans also have bolstered their squad with the talents of Dave Bruening of St. Francis High School of Mountain View and 6'6½" center Clarence White. White will add strength to the already powerful rebounding department headed by Eddie Sims. Sims grabbed off 17 rebounds against Foothill.

Following the San Jose-Foothill tilt, both Chuck Crampton of Foothill and San Jose's Jim Padgett agreed that it will be a cold day in July before someone will come close to beating the Jags.

Professional golfers may be in for a surprise someday soon when they find themselves playing in an empty gallery. This observation was noted by many sports writers following the Bing Crosby tournament in Carmel.

Several of the pro duffers were disturbed over several spectators who supposedly were to blame for their poor showing.

The "big namers" claimed that the constant clicking of shutters or talking while they tried to line up shots were definite factors against their game. However, the pros should be reminded that those shutter bugs and chatter boxes pay for their prize money and without them there wouldn't be any big money tournaments. Once they start knocking the source of their income, they'll find that they're walking on mighty thin ice.

LEFTOVERS—Ken Schramm and Bob Reem hung up their uniforms for the year and will have to be content to watch Foothill College's basketball performances from the stands. Same goes for San Jose City College's Jim Fair and Dick Dole of Diablo Valley. All were disqualified for academic deficiency.

Thornton has problem?

FC swim team talent-packed

By DAVE NEWHOUSE

Coach Nort Thornton's biggest problem this season will be trying to decide which members of his swimming team will compete in forthcoming meets and who will not. The depth on the 1962 Foothill College aquatic edition is that strong.

"It presents a problem for any coach to decide between athletes who's performances are almost identical," moans Thornton. "Our breaststroke men; Benny Bendel, Chris Hunt and John Matriciano are only a second apart in difference of best times."

FREESTYLE ARTIST Bob Benson, leads a team that is predominantly all freshman. Only two sophomores, Rich Belding and Matriciano are on the squad.

Bill Burch and Lou Jamison, an ex-marine, Art Snyder and Belding will vie for other berths in freestyle events.

IN THE backstroke, Mike Hewitt has this season already surpassed the winning time recorded last year at the Coast Conference finale. Bert Desmond and Bruce Baum have also appeared impressive in practice sessions.

Nick Roberts will handle the 50-yard freestyle and handy-

Foothill swimmers win at Stanford

Foothill College captured four of nine events to win the first Stanford University Invitation swimming relays Saturday with a score of 55 points.

Trailing the Owls in scoring were the Stanford frosh (50), Stanford varsity (46), San Jose State (32) and University of California (19).

Foothill prevailed in the 400-yard freestyle relay with a time of 3:27.7, the 300-yard backstroke in 2:59.1, 200-yard freestyle relay in 1:33.7 and the diving.

Peace Corps representative to speak in appreciation hall Tues.

Peter Grothe, field representative of the United States Peace Corps, will be speaking here in the Appreciation Hall February 13 at 11 a.m. His talk, titled "You and the Peace Corps," will describe the workings of the organization, and the opportunities available for Foothill College students.

Grothe, a resident of Los Altos Hills, has indicated that his talk deals with "a first-hand account of a new dimension in American foreign policy, including opportunities for students in the Peace Corps."

GROTHER'S ARRIVAL coincides with a nationwide information program conducted by the Peace Corps to explain the purpose of the new agency and the opportunities it offers for overseas service in the newly developing nations.

Grothe has served the past five months as Deputy Director of the United Nations branch of the Peace Corps. He represented the U.S. Peace Corps at a conference in Paris. He worked in 1960 as foreign relations advisor to Senator Hubert Humphrey and at that time drafted the original Peace Corps legislation.

GROTHER ORIGINALLY suggested to then Senator Kennedy that he introduce the Peace Corps concept in the campaign.

Grothe is author of the book, To Win the Minds of Men, a study of the Communist propaganda war in East Germany.

Sentinel business manager post open

The position of business manager of the Foothill Sentinel was announced by editor-in-chief Jerry Miller to be open for anyone interested in business and working on the college newspaper.

Applications should be turned in to Miller or Warren Mack, Sentinel advisor.

KFJC-FM on the air for spring

Station manager outlines plans

Foothill College's 10-watt FM radio station KFJC began regular programming for the spring semester Monday.

Programming hours, as announced by newly appointed station manager John Burt, will be 6:00-9:30 p.m. on Monday through Friday. This, however, excludes the final examination weeks and holidays when the station will not broadcast.

BURT STATED that in addition to many of last semester's returning programs, there are plans to air a special music appreciation program from 6:00-7:00 p.m. daily, which will feature directed listening selections in conjunction with Foothill College's music appreciation course.

Wider and better radio coverage of Foothill's sporting events beginning Tuesday night at 7:45 p.m. with the Foothill-Vallejo JC basketball game will serve to further enhance KFJC's already well-rounded program schedule, according to Burt.

STAFF POSITIONS on KFJC are still open to students interested in radio. Positions include announcers, engineers, personnel for programming, special events, news and sports departments.

Some of the returning program highlights include: All America Wants To Know; Dave Spence Show; Campus Capers; Sports Scene; Uncle Tom's Cabin; Up and Down Broadway; All Time Favorites; World of Music; along with several programs from foreign countries.

Communications officers okay'd

Jerry Miller, freshman public relations major, was appointed editor-in-chief of the Foothill Sentinel for the spring semester 1962 at a recent meeting of the Board of Communications.

Also appointed were Ken Bishop, freshman journalism major, to the post of general news bureau chairman, and John Burt, station manager of KFJC. Burt is a sophomore broadcasting major.

Miller has served as a reporter during the fall semester on the Foothill Sentinel and steps into the position formerly held by Larry Stammer.

John Burt, program director for the fall, takes over from Vic Biondi.

SNOW ON CAMPUS—A freak snow storm in the area made it doubly hard for skiing enthusiasts to concentrate on final exams. The snowfall, estimated at about two inches, was the heaviest since the late 1800's.

THERE'S A MAN
He's between 24 and 40; he's doing well. His present employers like him. He can look forward to slow, steady advancement through the years. And there's plenty of security. But, secretly, he isn't satisfied. He knows he's capable of doing better. There's an opening coming up in our organization which would be most attractive to such a man. We're in no particular hurry to fill it—but we're very interested in talking to men who feel they might meet our high standards. Tell us your business experience, age, marital status. We will get in touch with you and arrange a meeting to talk it over.
If you're interested, drop a letter to John Parker at P.O. Box 368, San Jose, or if you prefer, phone CY 3-8978.
Our present staff knows of this advertisement. Your call will be treated in strictest confidence.
