KFJC to warm up for 'The Iceman'

KFJC resumed broadcasting this year with a faculty discussion of "The Iceman Cometh" by Eugene O'Neil, preceding the presentation of the play on television.

It will take place Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, a spokesman for the station said this week.

Les Abbott, drama; Gale Engle, philosophy; and Nagan McNeil English, will take part in the discussion, moderated by Dr. George Willey, Mass Communications chairman.

THE FOLLOWING evening at 9:30 Ross Barnett, governor of Mississippi, speaks on tape about states' rights. A discussion will follow this program with political science faculty members.

The Barnett tape was provided by the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

Each evening from 8 to 9 is in accordance with assignments for the students of Royal Stanton's music appreciation class. More information will appear in the Sentinel and Footprints.

KFJC IS RUN entirely by students under the direction of Dr. Willey. Station hours are from 7 to 10 p.m. each weeknight.

The transmitting antenna which gave engineers trouble last year has been rectified by being completely rebuilt by students. Raising of the antenna on Skyline Blvd. took place a week ago. Station officials have been testing all week, and all is ready to go, they report.

JAMES J. WADSWORTH, former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, will start off the 1962-63 Weigh and Consider lecture series tonight at 8:45 p.m. in the Auditorium, with his talk on "Challenges to the United Nations."

Foothill to be host as Journalists meet

On October 20 Foothill College will play host to the Annual Fall Northern Regional Conference of the Journalism Association of Junior Colleges.

Robert Eunsin, chief of the Associated Press Bureau in San Francisco will address the delegates at 10 a.m.

Following the address, delegates entered in the on-the-spot writing competition in sports, news and editorial writing will compete from 10:40 to 12:15.

News and feature photography and advertisement-business problems are the topics for morning panels.

Afternoon panels are entitled:

"Telling Your Story" (campus coverage) and "Packaging Your Product" (makeup-display).

Book prizes will be awarded to the first three places in the on-the-spot competition and advance competition. Awards of books will be given appropriate to the field entered.

Awards have been donated by the Sacramento chapter of the Newspaper Guild.

The 1962-63 state conference will be held in Southern California. This is the first year the JAJC will hold its conference separate from the California Intercollegiate Press Association—association for four year schools.

Festival week set Monday; Homecoming's no more

Football Festival Week, in previous years called Homecoming Week, begins next Monday, Oct. 15.

Reason for the change, said Miss Demitra Georgas, director of social activities, is that we do not have an alumni large enough to warrant a homecoming. "In a junior college, there isn't much to come home to," she added.

HIGHLIGHTING THE Festival Week, ending Oct. 20 in a foot-game with College of San Mateo, is the Football Festival dance Friday night in the Campus Center.

The dance, sponsored by the Vet's Club, will feature the crowning of the Football Festival Queen by Dr. Calvin C. Flint and the announcement of the Professor Snarf contest winner.

MONDAY IS THE deadline for clubs to file names of their queen candidates and Professor Snarf entries. Professor Snarf voting will continue through Friday of Festival Week at a penny a vote in the Campus Center. The money will be used to support two foster children adopted last year by the ASFC.

Monday is also the day for clubs to begin campaigning for their queen and Prof. Snarf candidates.

Activities will be void Tuesday and Wednesday of Festival Week, said Miss Georgas, but Thursday a special rally will be held in the Gym, during the College Hour, followed by a tug-of-war contest planned by the Vet's Club. No club meetings will be held during the College Hour.

THE RALLY WILL begin at 11:00 a.m. with a routine by the pom-pom girls, said Ron Ross, rally chairman. Following the routine will be a "Casey" skit featuring Ken Foster, Steve Smith, Jack Coons, Lucky Halverson and Mike Williams. The skit will be a takeoff on a TV commercial.

After the skit, Ross will present Coach Abbey and his Foothill gridders. Professor Snarf candidates will be introduced as well as queen candidates (including late entries). A short "boy-girl" skit will precede a singing group, scheduled for rally entertainment. "Then" Ross said, "everybody will move to the lower 'dusty' parking lot where the Vet's Club will challenge another club to a tug-of-war over a mud-hole."

THE RALLY COMMITTEE also has entertainment scheduled to be held before the game, Saturday, Ross added.

On Friday, Oct. 19, voting for Festival Queen will be held in the Campus Center. The Queen will reign over the dance that night and at Saturday's game.

Miss Georgas reminded students that although these are not labeled Homecoming activities the Football Festival events include the same type held in previous years.

She added that in following years, "the Football Festival will be bigger and better" as it continues. "We hope the Festival will initiate a new tradition," she said.

Festival activities were planned through the combined efforts of AOC, the Rally Committee the Social Committee and Student Government.

Festival dance features crowning; free flowers, song fest also on tap

The Foothill Festival Dance, sponsored by the Veteran's Club will be held in the Campus Center on Friday, Oct. 19 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. This dance precedes the Homecoming Game with the College of San Mateo on Saturday, Oct. 20.

All girls attending the dance will receive a flower. Special features at the dance will include a song fest in the Owl's Nest besides the dance band in the cafeteria.

The new "Foothill Combo," led by Herbert D. Patnoe, music instructor, will play at the dance. Plans also include professional instructors to teach the twist.

Highlighting the fete will be the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, by Dr. Calvin C. Flint, and the introduction of Professor Snarf. The Queen will reign over the dance as well as over Saturday's game.

This is the first dance entitled Festival Dance after a change from Homecoming Week to Football Festival Week.

Attire for the dance is dressy-dress for the girls and coat and tie for the fellows. Bids are priced at $1.25.

FC-Diablo rooters' tickets on sale today

Tickets for Saturday night's rooster buses to the Foothill-Diablo Valley football game in Concord remain on sale in the Campus Center until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The buses will leave Parking Lot B at 6 o'clock Saturday night and return following the game.

Campus Center Cafeteria opening due on Monday

Foothill's cafeteria in the Campus Center is expected to begin regular operation Monday, Oct. 8, James C. Jones, Campus Center director, announced this week.

Delayed opening was due to the late arrival of equipment.

The cafeteria will operate between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily Jones added, and will serve a variety of food selections—an economy plate, a choice plate and a hot sandwich plus a variety of salads and desserts.

The dining area of the cafeteria will not be used as a lounge or study area after 2:00 p.m.

Hot beef and turkey sandwiches will be available in the coffee shop between 5 and 8 p.m. for evening students.

He urged students to dispose of paper cups and extra waste in the nearby trash cans in order to keep bees away from the eating area.

Ice skating party set for Oct. 15; Belmont

Foothill faculty members and their families, as well as both day and evening students, may attend an ice skating party on Monday, October 15 in Belmont.

The party will be held at the Bel-Arena Skate Rink located at 815 Old County Road.

No admission fee will be charged faculty members and students. Skate rentals will be 35 cents.

For more information about the party contact Miss Helen Windham in the intramural office.

Larry, Carol unique in their departments

BY CINDY KLEINHANS

A female police major and a male nursing major. Neither of them feels out of place attending classes filled mainly with members of the opposite sex.

This is the position of Carol Nyquist, future policewoman, and Larry Jennings, male nurse.

CAROL, A TALL (5'10"), slender, serious looking girl of 18 years, is the only girl enrolled in the new law enforcement program at Foothill. She attends law classes with approximately 35 male students.

Carol said she decided to become a policewoman after being inspired by the late Dr. Douglas Kelley, a former head of the criminology department at the University of California in Berkeley. Dr. Kelley, a friend of Carol's, also did a TV series, "The Criminal Man," on an educational television station.

Another thing that sparked Carol's interest in law enforcement, she said, was her experience in working with the police as a cashier, at dances and other events, for the Los Altos Youth Club.

CAROL JOKINGLY added, "My size might be to my advantage. Law enforcement seems to be about the only thing I can do with my height." In a more serious manner, Carol summed up her reason for becoming a police woman as purely "interest and association."

Carol is a 1962 graduate of Los Altos high school where she majored in journalism and public speaking. She will attend Foothill for two years and continue her education at San Jose State. While at State she plans to take additional law enforcement courses along with courses in her planned minor, psychology.

A GOOD DEAL of Carol's free time is occupied with her work in the Civil Air Patrol where she serves as a Public Information Officer in the Palo Alto squadron of C.A.P. She has been with the organization for two years.

Carol commented, for interested girls, that to get into the program requires filling out a five page application request plus an appearance before a selection board for questioning. To get into the program next year requires application in the summer of 1963.

Larry Jennings enjoys being the only male student in his first-year nursing classes at Foothill. Jennings, a tall Nordic looking man of 25 years, reported that although this is his first year of taking actual nursing courses here, last year he took other courses needed before graduating from nursing.

JENNINGS HAS eight years of nursing experience behind him. He has served as a hospital corpsman in the U.S. Navy for 4½ years and was a float orderly at Palo Alto Hospital for 1½ years. He explained that in the Navy he was qualified to do minor surgical repair, as an example of his nursing experience.

Although the Navy considers him as qualified as an R.N., Jennings said, the state of California will not consider him as such until he receives an A.A. degree from a recognized college.

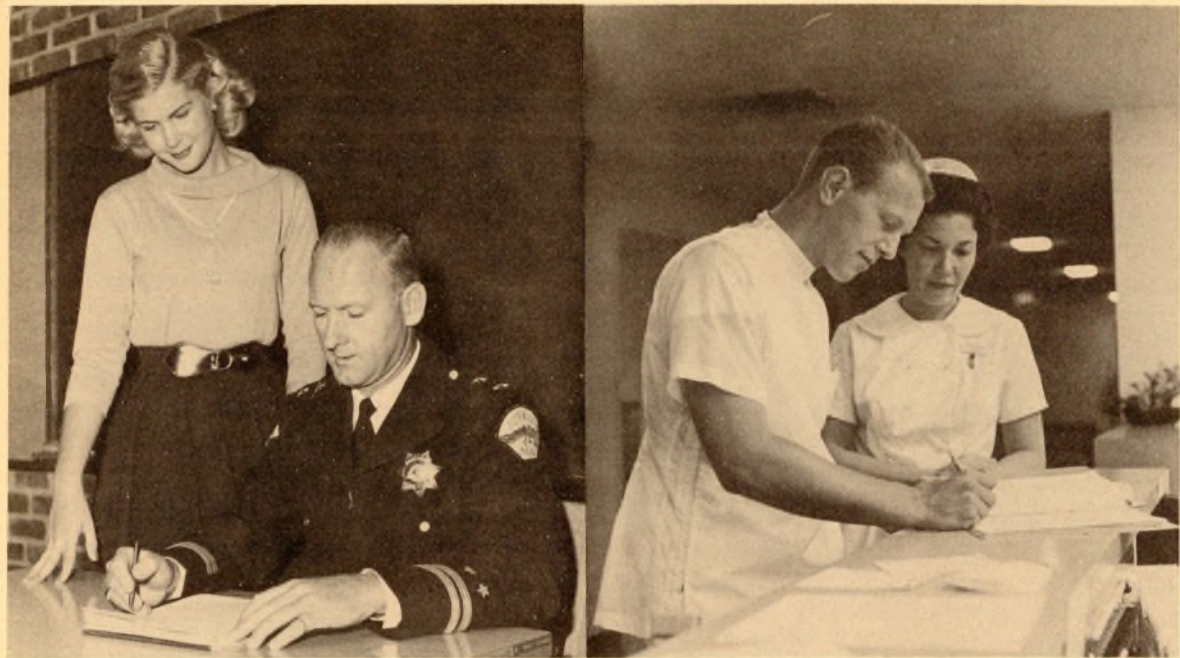

How did Jennings happen to become interested in nursing? "I like medicine and working with people," he explained and added that there is presently a great need for male nurses. Jennings added he has already had several job offers.

"AFTER I GRADUATE from nursing, I want to become an anesthetist R.N. which requires 18 months at medical school," Jennings said. He feels that his previous nursing experience will be a help to him when he becomes an R.N. "I've done much more, while in the Navy, than most R.N.'s will ever do," he explained.

Aside from nursing, Jennings has a variety of outside interests including his 23 year old wife Judy, a secretary and model. His other interests include amateur gun repair.

Jennings sets aside two days out of the month to go parachuting since he is a professional parachutist.

ACTIVE IN. student government, Jennings is the originator of the Foothill Association Student Party (F.A.S.P.) which began functioning last spring semester.

CAROL NYQUIST and Larry Jennings, both tall and both stand out in their respective classes, law enforcement and nursing, being the only members of their sex in these classes. Above, Carol listens to instructor, Chief of Police Ronald Renshaw of the Los Altos Police Department. Larry Jennings is seen consulting Miss Norma Schulze head of Foothill's nursing education department.

Students analyze Brown's address

Governor Edmund G. (Pat) Brown may have gathered some new votes in his speech last week at Foothill College, but perhaps he didn't fare so well among members of a non-partisan group which analyzed the mechanics of his speech.

Ten Foothill students and faculty met Thursday, Oct. 4, to discuss the governor's address. Conducted by Fred McClure, Foothill speech instructor, as an experiment for speech-minded students, the discussion was a critical analysis of the mechanics of the speech rather than a criticism of the beliefs expressed by Gov. Brown.

Students felt that Gov. Brown's "hidden agenda was to get a few votes," noting that he strayed from the announced topic, "California's Future Education."

The consensus was that the governor was "specific in telling what the past has been, but un-specific about the future."

Students apply early for Christmas jobs at placement office

Students are already checking the employment office for Christmas vacation jobs, according to Mrs. Norma Johnson, head of the placement office.

A number of students have already been sent out for interviews and have successfully secured jobs well ahead of time.

Many of the students are trying to avoid the last minute rush by securing jobs almost three months ahead of Christmas vacation.

Mrs. Johnson said that most jobs available at this time of the year are sales jobs for men and women.

She also urged that all students interested in Christmas jobs should register at the placement office well ahead of time.

Dean's spring honor roll discloses 172 full-time students, 147 part-time

The Dean's Honor Roll for the spring semester of 1962 was released this week by Dean of Students Dr. A. Robert DeHart.

The honor roll lists those students who have a Grade Point Average of 3.0 or better. This is for students carrying 12 or more units in any given semester, or accumulated over a period of several semesters, for part-time students.

THERE ARE 172 full-time and 147 part-time students on the spring honor roll.

Of the full time students now on the honor roll, eighty-three have been on it two semesters, four have been on three semesters and two have been on it four consecutive semesters.

Topping the spring "roll" are 11 full-time and 16 part-time students who have averaged above 3.5 GPA for an "A." Only two of these, Norma Allardice and Edith Goth, have been on the "A honor roll" in two semesters.

IN ADDITION to getting their names on the honor roll, all students with a "B" average or better are entitled to temporary possession of an AGS pin and membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma.

Any AGS members who are eligible and who have a 3.3 or better GPA upon graduating from Foothill may become permanent members. They will also be eligible for a scholarship, according to Miss Ruth Ann Fish, faculty advisor to the AGS group.

Miss Fish said that all eligible students were notified at the beginning of the semester. For all practical purposes membership in the organization was closed as of Oct. 3 for this semester.

Searle seeks election

Reed Searle (Dem.), candidate for State Assembly, 22nd District, spoke at a coffee hour hosted by the Young Democrats during the college hour, Oct. 4.

In his talk, Searle emphasized that his primary purposes were 1) to get elected, and 2) get elected with a specific goal.

Students, faculty head for Asilomar today; first retreat of year

Some 14 students and two faculty members will leave today at 3 p.m. for this year's first Student-Faculty Retreat at Asilomar near Monterey.

The topic chosen for this weekend's discussion is "Prejudice — What? Why? You?" All retreat topics are chosen by student committees who also choose attending faculty members.

Once at Asilomar, students and faculty will form informal discussion groups, ideal for natural, direct discussion, according to Malcolm Maxwell, faculty advisor to the retreat.

Five more retreats are scheduled for this year (1962-63), Maxwell said. Any students interested in attending future retreats can do so by contacting Mrs. Mickey Corbett in the Counseling office. Upcoming retreats will be announced in advance.

Rule proves effective

"Rules are made to live by,"—an adage which is both trite and true. Take the Foothill College Library rules, for instance. Any library which follows the "open stack system" requires a book check before leaving the library and ours is no exception. This rule, designed to protect patrons of the Foothill Library, proved highly effective last week.

A student (not from Foothill) was caught after a cross-campus chase with his hands in the literary cookie jar. His briefcase yielded four "borrowed books," none of which were checked out through library procedure. At least one of these books was a reference source of considerable importance to many Foothill students.

This rule is on the books and, fortunately, is rigidly enforced for the benefit of Library patrons—at least 90 per cent of whom are Foothill students.

Library patrons are aware that this is no isolated incident. The last two years on the old campus saw approximately $2,000 worth of books missing at the end of each school year. Last year with the library control system on the new campus, the loss was less than $1,000 even though Library circulation and usage had almost doubled.

Miss Betty Martin, Foothill librarian, said. "We try to make the Library as free as possible but obviously some sort of control system has to be used."

Pres. Calvin C. Flint this week reminded students that Foothill's Library does not have wire cages and turnstiles as protection against theft. "We have here an open stack system which makes it convenient for students," Dr. Flint said, "and there aren't many libraries left that operate as we do."

What's so funny?

Foothill College: Home of the Flintstones."

The Cupertino Courier seems to think these remarks are hilariously funny, judging by their inclusion in a joke column in their issue of October 4. They were two of 21 subtle and not so subtle swipes at education in "Stupid Parents' Guide to Educational Terminology," that issue's chapter of "Top This One" by one Mr. Tiny Westphal

- Among the others:
"Curriculum: Back Disorder from slouching at desk. Leads to a slipped disc.
Extra-curricular: A really sore back.
School Spirit: Spending money.
Liberal Arts: Finger painting.
Terminal student: Don't know which end is up."

The Courier has previously supported Foothill activities and broad rulings, in both editorial and news coverage. Of this we approve. But what purpose does this "Stupid Parents' Guide" serve?

Harmless tomfoolery? Perhaps, but Mr. Westphal could certainly have found a better subject to make the butt of his jokes.

Certainly we're aware of the support the Cupertino Courier has given Foothill College. We'll just try a little harder to appreciate the Couriers' sense of humor, in the future.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Editor:
When a college organization as a whole willingly disobeys the Code of Conduct, is witnessed doing so by hundreds of ASFC members, and no one objects, something is definitely wrong.

We refer to the Owl Band playing "Three Blind Mice" when referees at the SJCC game called penalties against Foothill gridders. Granted, the tune was in the name of school spirit and was certainly clever considering the circumstances, but the fact remains it was in direct violation of the Code of Conduct, paragraph three under "sportsmanship".

"I will consider the officials as the final authorities to make decisions and will accept their decisions without demonstration."

I'm not saying the band should stop playing "Three Blind Mice," but if they don't the Code of Conduct should be changed to permit such demonstration.

The Code was adopted by ASFC Student Council and President's Cabinet and approved by the Board of Trustees, and any infraction, no matter how insignificant, would no doubt prompt other infractions, leading ultimately to complete disregard for the Code.

State Board of Education to discuss three new junior colleges in county

Petitions to form three new junior college districts in Santa Clara County went before the State Board of Education yesterday as it began a three-day session in Oceanside.

If all three petitions are approved by the board, Santa Clara will become the first of California counties to complete the required master plan for junior college district organization.

New districts to be established under the master plan include:

1. A Westside junior college unit to be formed of the high school districts of Los Gatos, Campbell and Santa Clara.
2. A combination of the East Side Union High School District joined to a junior college unit to be separated from the San Jose Unified system.
3. A two-county district combining San Benito Union High

NROTC program for Jr. standing

Foothill students who will qualify for junior standing in college by summer are qualified to enter a special Junior College Transferee program leading to a commission in the Navy or Marine Corps Reserve.

U.S. Navy is conducting a special session at the University of California, Berkeley, during summer, 1963, the Sentinel learned this week.

The program will be completely subsidized, including room and board, tuition and pay, and successful completion will prepare the student for entry into the Contract NROTC program at the junior level in one of the 52 NROTC universities.

This would lead to a commission in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps Reserve, concurrent with receipt of the baccalaureate degree.

Full details are contained in brochures available in the counseling office or may be obtained directly from the Professor of Naval Science, room 47, Harmon Gym, University of California, Berkeley 4, California.

School District with Santa Clara's south county high school districts of Live Oaks and Gilroy.

Completing the master plan for Santa Clara county is the existing Foothill Junior College composed of Palo Alto Unified, Fremont and Mountain View-Los Altos high school district.

French Club elects new officers to lead club for fall semester

Members of Foothill's French Club, Les Hiboux, last week elected their officers for 1962-63.

Nancy Lewis was elected to head the club in the combined position of president and vice-president.

Mike Reed will work under Miss Lewis in the position of secretary-treasurer while Kathy Hess will serve as activities chairman.

Only French is spoken at the club's weekly meetings which feature French speakers from on and off campus. The meetings feature these speakers on alternate weeks of the month.

On the club's agenda this semester are trips to French plays and films, inter-club activities and French Club gatherings at members' homes.

Foothill's Campus exceeds 122 acres in area.

Foothill was designed for 4,000 full time day students and has parking facilities for 3,000 cars.

Architects for the Foothill campus were Ernest J. Kump and Masten & Hurd.

New FC librarian joins staff after varied background

When is a librarian not a librarian?

When he's a professional singer, electrical engineer at General Electric, working on the first atomic bomb project or teaching physics.

DON WITTIG, Foothill's new circulation librarian, has held all of these jobs before coming here to join the FC library staff.

Wittig graduated from Pratt Institute in New York and was sent to Oak Ridge, Tenn. to work on the government's first atomic experiments. He then moved to Indianapolis, Ind., where he taught physics at Butler University.

His other jobs included work for GE in New York. While there, Wittig did graduate work in music at Syracuse University and took up professional singing.

HE SANG in earnest for four years and then met his future wife. They made their home in Denver, Colo., after their marriage and lived there until last summer when they moved to California.

One of Wittig's first impressions of the state was concerning the weather. He said, "Denver calls itself the climate capital of the United States, but this must be the climate capital of the Universe."

As circulation librarian, Wittig's duties consist of seeing that all students get a chance at all books, especially reference. He commented, "Of course there is a certain amount of policing, but only a small percentage of students are making this necessary."

Foothill hosts GG president's confab

Foothill will host the Golden Gate Conference President's Council to be held Oct. 13.

According to ASFC president Bob Katheiser, student government advisors and student body presidents and vice presidents from each of the schools in the new GGC have been invited along with the presidents of each school.

The visitors will be taken on a campus tour from 5-6 p.m. and dine in the student center from 6-7 o'clock before taking part in a discussion on the Oct. 20 Northern Region California Student Government Association meeting at Hartnell College in Salinas.

Katheiser, vice president Roger Hite and advisor Garth Dougan are the major Foothill representatives.

Foothill harriers put 7-game skein on line in meet with San Jose Jags

A seven-meet win streak will be squarely on the line Friday when Foothill College's cross-country squad meets a strong San Jose City College team at San Jose's Hillview Golf Course at 3:30 p.m.

Both squads won their Golden Gate Conference openers last week with Foothill smashing Diablo Valley 20-42 in Concord and San Jose tripping a surprised San Mateo squad 16-42 at Hillview.

The Jags had four men across

Stanford varsity nicks Owl poloists 8-4 in last period

Stanford's highly touted water polo squad scored three last quarter goals to eke out an 8-4 victory over a stubborn Foothill team in the Foothill pool last Saturday.

The Owl tankmen, trailing 2-5 at the third quarter's end, crept to within striking distance at 4-5 on the strength of captain Bill Birch's two goals when the Indians broke loose for their three last quarter goals to wrap up the victory.

Bill Lorton and Marty Hull led the Stanford scorers with three and two points respectively while Bill Birch and Gary Ilman tossed in two goals each for the Owls.

Foothill coach Nort Thornton Jr. was pleased with the performance of his Owls. "Everybody did a great job and with a little luck we could have beaten Stanford," he explained. He was especially pleased with the job his players did in containing Marty Hull, Stanford's top scorer who has average 9 and 10 points a game.

Earlier in the day, Foothill's freshman squad defeated the Stanford freshmen by an 8-4 count. The two teams battled on even terms for the first half and were deadlocked at 2 and 2 at intermission. However, the Owls pulled away in the second half by way of Topper Horack's three goals.

Foothill College will be gunning for its second straight Golden Gate Conference win and its fourth consecutive victory when the Owl gridgers tangle with Diablo Valley College at 8 p.m. October 13 on the latter's field.

Coach Bill Abbey's men will have two objectives in mind when they take to the turf Saturday night: (1) to keep intact their unblemished record of 3-0, an (2) to revenge a 33-0 lashing they received a year ago at the hands of the Diablos.

OFF THE SHOWING of Diablo College's first two contests, the Owls would appear to have a good chance of accomplishing their objective. DVC dropped their opener 21-8 to Modesto and then played "give away ball" in fumbling their way to a 42-0 loss to College of San Mateo last weekend.

Foothill notched its first win over arch-rival San Jose with a 20-6 victory last Friday night on the loser's field.

The Owls wasted little time in getting under way as they took the opening kickoff and marched to a score with Doug Schoenwetter punching over from one yard out.

FOOTHILL STRUCK again late in the second quarter as Schoenwetter capped a 73-yard march with another one yard plunge. The conversion again failed but the Owls were content to settle for a 12-0 halftime lead. The Jaguars weren't. With no time showing on the scoreboard clock, Lou Danker spotted J.C. Smith all by his lonesome and hit him with a touchdown pass to make it 12-6 at intermission.

The third quarter went scoreless. Foothill scored the clincher early in the fourth period. Steve Moreno running it in from two yards out and adding the 2-point conversion.

Foothill bested Hartnell 23-37 in the same race and won the unofficial triangular competition with 28 while Hartnell had 49 and Diablo 56.

Diablo's Doug Dietsch led the field of 19 across the tape with a 17:09 time for the approximate 3.2 mile Diablo strip.

Bill Finstad led Foothill with a third place 17:45 clocking. Other Owl finishers were Ernie Long, fourth in 17:50, Mike Breen sixth in 18:25, Jack Parson seventh in 18:26, Barry Brummal ninth in 18:36 and John Arnold tenth in 18:37.

Guy Ogan of the Owls finished 12th in 19:04 and Tom Gleason 14th in 19:37.

Bowling clinic success -- Jackie wins

A bowling clinic-tournament held last Saturday Oct. 6, proved a big success, especially for one Foothill student, Jackie Houseman.

Her efforts garnered a runner-up trophy in the highest game series category. A participant in the Foothill intramural bowling program, her series total was 538.

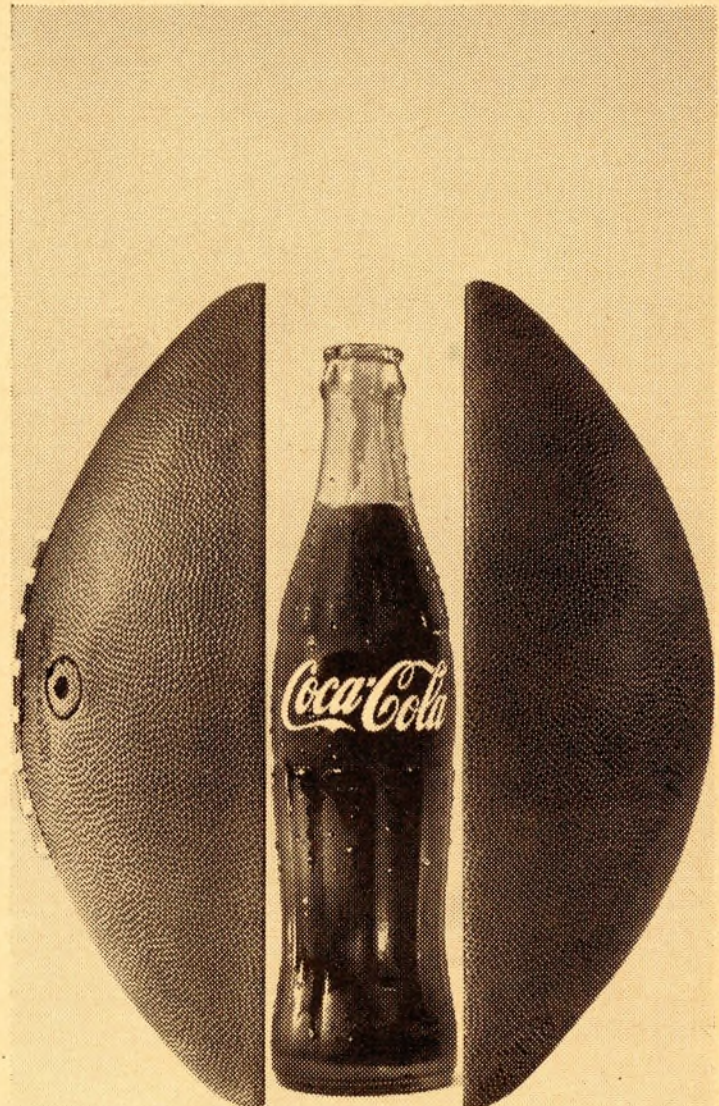

Trophies were also awarded for highest game and runner-up, most improved average, and a perpetual trophy to the school with the most participants at the clinic.

The perpetual trophy was awarded to El Camino high school from South San Francisco which was represented by 25 girls.

The bowling clinic-tournament was divided into three divisions: (1) a beginners clinic, (2) an advanced clinic, and (3) a handicap tournament. Of the 90 persons who were involved in the clinics, a total of 55 took part in the handicap tournament. Miss Helen Duval, National Women's Double Champion, and Bob James of the Palo Alto Bowl, did outstanding jobs and were instrumental in conducting the clinic-tournament, according to Miss Helen Windham, a Foothill sponsor.

A total of 13 Northern California schools participated in the bowling day which was sponsored by the Foothill Division for Girl's and Women's Sports.
