

Edwards declares 'war' on system

DE ANZA COLLEGE LIBRARY

By JANET MORGAN
La Voz staff writer

Low rumbles have been stirring in the inactive volcano of Black dissent for generations. Exemplary of the eruption that is now occurring, Harry Edwards, S. J. State instructor and Olympic boycott organizer made "whitey" burn Friday, May 3 in De Anza's Forum 1.

Few of the assembled "remained innocent of the existence" of this local leader of the black revolution as he spoke "On a very raw question . . ." and dealt with it "in a very raw fashion."

EDWARDS blasted the status quo of American society. "White young people must begin to realize that the great luxury liner is on the rocks. It's full of holes with a madman at the helm," Edwards remarked.

"We have no choice but to take the ship over. It is our responsibility to rebel," Edwards asserted.

He continued to lambast the traditional philosophies of this country. "The traditional principle of war is irrelevant, the traditional way of doing things is irrelevant. The old generation is tied up in the tradition. They cannot see that the times have changed."

IN WHAT BEGAN to sound like a campaign speech for Dick Gregory, Edwards found that the quality of the people running for presidential nomination cannot help change the traditional, irrelevant way of doing things.

"Rockefeller," Edwards said, is the kind of man "who goes down to Harlem as regular as an election comes around. His campaign funds are paid for by the bodies and blood of Black Africans," Edwards growled.

"The Dishonorable Humbert Horatio Humphrey is the only man I know who can stand on both sides and be counted. He possesses the unique ability to talk out of both sides of his mouth at the same time," stated Edwards.

THEN THERE'S "Foxy Robert Kennedy, the eternal teenager with his Beatle haircut, suntan and Harvard look," Edwards snickered. "While he has talked as if he's on the side you are, he is traditional, there is nothing young about his politics."

Edwards drew a few laughs with "Richard Nixon couldn't win if no one but his wife was voting." He went on to mock him, remarking, "I have the answers to the war. I have the answers to the racist problem, but I'm not telling anyone."

Edwards likewise dismissed Eugene McCarthy because he was still maintaining traditional ties.

Of the candidates, "Dick Gregory is the only realistic choice," said Edwards.

Edwards stressed again and again it was the "system" that was at fault and that the system would have to be eradicated. Although he gave no specific proposals for changing the system other than "any means possible," Edwards said the time had come to flee the burning house or the sinking ship that is commonly known as "America."

Puppets to please

The Marionette Theatre of Peter Arnott will continue the Public Recital Series of De Anza and Foothill Colleges Friday, at 8:15 p.m. in the De Anza College Forum Building.

The Marionette Theatre, originated in 1948 by Arnott, associate professor of speech and dramatic art at the University of Iowa, presents classical plays to modern audiences.

Arnott's repertoire currently includes Sophocles' "Oedipus the King," "Euripides' "Medea" and "Cyclops," a selection of medieval mystery plays, "Everyman," Marlow's "Dr. Faustus" and Moliere's "Les Fourberies de Scapin."

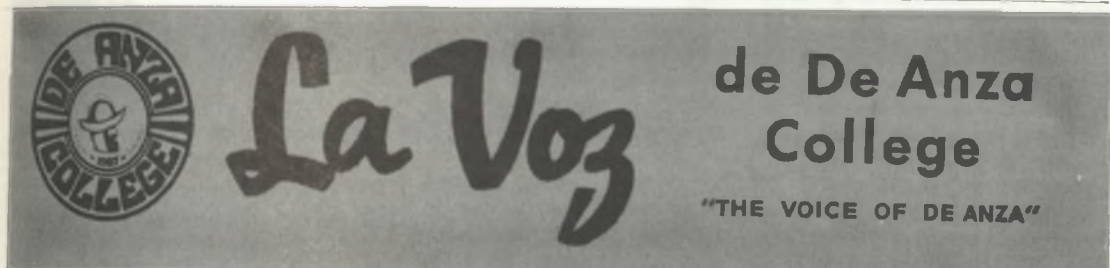

Arnott will be available following the performance to discuss his marionettes and craft.

All tickets are $2 from the De Anza and Foothill College box offices. Advance purchase is recommended due to limited supply.

(Children under 12 years of age will not be admitted due to their presumed lack of interest in such translated works.)

ASDAC elections will be held next Wednesday from 9 to 5. Harry Jaramillo is the sole contender for president, while Jim Marshall and Richard Oliver will battle it out for the vice-president's position.

Jan Finn is uncontested for director of activities, Mark Miller is uncontested for director of mass communications, and Hal Smith is uncontested for AMS representative. Trish Alexander and Roxanne Marsh are running for AWS. More election coverage on page 3.

ASDAC's first carnival, with the help of West Coast Shows, is in town. Running through Sunday, the rides, games and concessions are in charge of De Anza clubs.

The purpose of the carnival is to raise money for the clubs and the Dedication Gift Fund from which the student body will purchase a gift for the school during Dedication Week.

The carnival is open to the public and is located on an eight-acre lot on the corner of Highway 9 and Homestead Road.

Anza's Olympic-size pool from 6-8 p.m.

Previewing the Dedication Week will be a luncheon for news media Thursday, May 16, at noon and a Special Dedication Issue of La Voz Friday, May 17.

Campus news briefs

An international prize-winning film, "Woman in the Dunes," and "Munro" are scheduled to be shown tonight at 8 at Foothill as part of the Community Film Series.

"Woman in the Dunes" is a Japanese picture that tells of man's acceptance of security in the place of freedom and how he perpetrates a trap for himself.

The film's paradoxical plot deals with the actions of a woman who lives in a hole in the sand on a beach and plays victim to a company of crooks.

"Munro" is the story of a four-year-old boy who is informed by letter that Uncle Sam needs him.

Admission is free to all student body card holders and 75 cents for others.

A chance to learn about today's draft laws from an experienced draft counselor and a representative from the state selective service board will be offered to De Anza students as part of the experimental college program. This draft symposium will be held May 17 at 1 p.m. in Forum 1.

"Stargazers L.T.D.", the Vets club's first car rally, invites all rally lovers, pros and amateurs alike to come to De Anza college tomorrow.

The rally will start at 6 a.m. in parking lot A and end at the Straw Hat Pizza Parlor on San Antonio Road. The entry fee will be $2.00 and as Vets member Hal Smith said, "anything can enter".

Trophies will be given for first through tenth place winners.

Hungarian-born pianist Istvan Nadas will perform the second and third parts of a three-part all-Beethoven series as soloist with the Master Sinfonia at Foothill College Theatre May 13 and 20 at 8:15 p.m.

Nadas is presently a professor of piano at San Francisco State College. His recording of Beethoven's "Hammerklavier" Sonata was selected by the New York Times as one of the ten best records of the year.

Four scenes from "Home of the Brave" by Arthur Laurentz will be presented Monday, May 20, at 1 p.m. in Forum 3. The play will be directed by John Gravish, who will play the doctor in the play.

Laurentz's story line revolves around a doctor and his patient, a young soldier. The soldier has suffered an emotional shock as a result of witnessing the death of another soldier and friend.

The part of the soldier will be played by Rich Duran. The presentation is sponsored by the Drama Club. Admission is free.

Inscape to debut

Inscape, De Anza's long-awaited literary magazine, will go on sale next week in the Campus Center for 50 cents, Geoff Baker, editor-in-chief, announced today.

The magazine will contain stories, poems, drawings and photographs from many De Anza students. In several cases an art work corresponds to a written selection.

"We think we've gotten some of the best material students have produced this year," explained Baker. "We've been very selective," he remarked.

Faculty coordinators are George Craven, Roger Henkle, James Luotto and Charles Walker.

Paulson for president

Wednesday's ballot will give those disgruntled student election observers a chance to have their say in the pressing problems of the day. Along with voting for the various ASDAC offices, students will be voting on several key issues.

There will be ten additional questions, the first two asking name and party affiliation. The third question asks "What course of military action would you favor (as of May 1) in pursuing policy in Vietnam," and students are asked to select (1) immediate withdrawal, (2) phased (2-year) withdrawal, (3) maintain current level of activity, (4) increase military activity including tactical nuclear weapons, (5) "all out" military effort.

Questions 4 and 5 ask what Democrat and Republican you would like to see as President.

Question 6 gives students an inviting choice between independents Pat Paulson, George Wallace, other and none.

The next question asks students if the penalty for conviction of smoking marijuana should be (a) felony, (b) misdemeanor, (c) no penalty.

Question 8 asks if girls should be allowed to wear blue "jeans" to school, and question 9 asks students to choose between (a) lottery, (b) professional service, (c) the present Selective Service, (d) other and (e) none.

Finally, the ballot asks for approval or disapproval of credit non-credit courses.

If for no other reason than having your say in what's happening, come to the polls Wednesday.

RFK choice of convention

Senator Robert F. Kennedy was nominated as De Anza's choice for Democratic Presidential contender last Saturday at a mock Democratic convention.

The convention was honored by the presence of Assemblyman John Vasconcellos (D-San Jose), who presented the keynote speech and set the tempo for the excitement which was to follow.

VASCONCELLOS IS an Assemblyman from the 24th District who has contributed to legislative pressure to take marijuana out of the felony status. Jim Angelo, ASDAC president, introduced Vasconcellos as "a man who represents the new politics in the nation, very young, very intelligent and very dedicated."

Aiming his criticisms specifically at the Democratic Party, Vasconcellos said, "Old ways just won't cut it anymore. If the Democratic Party is to be real and relevant today, it must search out ways to be these things."

He agreed with the young people today who believe that this nation and its people are at a crisis.

"LET NO ONE ever say that the Democratic Party has all the answers, but let them say that we do answer the questions. It seems to me that the Democratic Party has always been right in terms of its values and its ends. We consider the human element with relation to human values and the dignity of the human being. The values fostered by the Democratic Party are the right values, although we do sometimes get hung up in the means to the ends."

Following Vasconcellos' talk, the delegates to the convention elected Jim Angelo, current ASDAC president, as chairman of the convention.

First on the agenda was consideration of submitted amendments to the proposed platform. Various amendments were proposed both in written form and from the floor and, in turn, were continuously defeated until hunger pangs interrupted the democratic process and delegates voted that the original platform be adopted over the cries of the few remaining delegates.

AFTER LUNCH THE convention settled down to nominating a candidate for the Presidency.

Various speakers were heard praising the merits of Eugene McCarthy, Robert F. Kennedy, George Wallace, Hubert Humphrey and Harry Byrd.

On the preliminary ballot, Humphrey gathered 1,209 votes, Kennedy gathered 684 votes and McCarthy gathered 680 votes.

DURING THE SECOND ballot, Kennedy pulled ahead and was given 1,220 ballots, Humphrey dropped to 1,165 votes and McCarthy fell to 191 votes.

At the final balloting, Kennedy gathered 1,312 votes and won the nomination, Humphrey lost with 1,170 votes and McCarthy supporters contributed 94 votes.

Edwards blasted-- called 'irresponsible'

Dear Editor:

The appearance of Harry Edwards on Friday of last week was to me a keen disappointment. I went to see Harry Edwards because I thought I was going to hear a new emerging leader of the black man, for I thought he had all the qualifications of leadership, originality of thought, direction and plan, foresight and insight.

I also had thought Harry Edwards an educated man with special intellectual gifts. I was keenly disappointed in him. What I saw was a man wallowing in demagoguery, not a thoughtful man but a leader of street gangs.

IT SADDENS ME to say that if Harry Edwards is an example of a black intellectual, then I think it is not the white community that has to be frightened, but the black community if they listen to the likes of him.

His type of leadership could and will only divide the races and fan the hatreds on both sides and end in chaos for the black man. People like Edwards sound exciting where there is despair and those who see in him their hope will see only a dead-end street. Destroying is not building anything except hate.

I do not condemn militarism. I do not condone "Uncle Tomism" and I do not favor any separation of the races. We must live and work together, we must understand one another. Progress is being made and those who have given their lives in the cause of civil rights have proven the righteousness of it all.

Harry Edwards presented a sorry spectacle to both black and white and he is failing his own people.

Film festival on at Foothill

Top experimental films from the U.S., Canada and 10 other countries will be shown this weekend at Foothill College's seventh annual Independent Film-Makers' Festival Saturday and Sunday, May 11 and 12.

Close to 150 films have been received in competition for $1,200 in cash awards. Many of the submissions have been recent winners at leading Eastern and German film festivals.

Foothill instructors Denos P. Marvin, Robert C. Kingson and De Anza English instructor William Skyles are co-directors of the festival.

Times of festival programs are 10 a.m., 2:30 and 8 p.m. on Saturday, May 11, and 10:30 a.m., 2:30 and 8 p.m. on Sunday, May 12. Tickets are available from Foothill College or De Anza College box office at $1 for each of the first five programs and $1.50 for the concluding program with re-screening of winning entries.

Free X-rays given Thursday

Free chest X-rays will be given to students May 16. The Santa Clara County Health Dept. unit will be located on campus from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 1 to 3 p.m.

No parental consent is needed if a person is over 15, explained Dr. Lydia Verbarb, De Anza counselor. "It may mean saving a life," Dr. Verbarb remarked.

Non-students are also invited to receive a free X-ray.

Summer school starts June 17; all classes here

Summer school for both De Anza and Foothill Colleges will be held on the De Anza campus this year. Classes are scheduled to begin June 17.

Since both De Anza and Foothill will begin to operate on a new quarter system in the fall, all students who have completed the "A" part of any course are urged to complete the "B" portion during the summer session.

REGISTRATION WILL take place in the De Anza College main gym from June 3-14. Hours for registration are as follows: Monday through Thursday, 8-11 a.m., 1-4 p.m., 6-9:30 p.m. On Friday only the hours will be from 8-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m.

The administration encourages students to enroll in classes as soon as possible. Because of the large number of students attending summer classes, students who defer enrollment may have a very limited selection of classes. Classes are filled on a "first-come, first-served" basis.

Full time students may enroll in as many units as the length of the summer session in which they enroll: eight units in the Eight-Week Session, or ten units in the Ten-Week Session. Students who work for forty hours a week or more may not enroll for more than one-half the number of units to which they would otherwise be entitled.

A complete list of courses offered this summer is available in a free catalog in the administration building.

Free folk concert

Foothill College will sponsor a free Folk Festival featuring Bay Area folk and blues artists Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Held in front of the Foothill library, the festival will feature Chris Lunn from the Folk and Blues Workshop and Dave Guard as emcee.

Jaramillo heads '68 slate

Harry Jaramillo

Political science and business administration major Harry Jaramillo, appalled by student apathy, is running uncontested for the office of ASDAC president.

A 1966 graduate of Cupertino High, Jaramillo held the offices of freshman and sophomore class presidents, Service Society president and served as Homecoming chairman. At De Anza he has served on the Rally Committee and as Circle K president.

Because he was "sick of apathy and because as a student body we can accomplish much more," Jaramillo is running for office. "To accomplish more takes much effort on everyone's part. This effort is to be solely by participation," he remarked.

Jaramillo believes that De Anza students could identify more with the campus community if weekly flicks and club barbecues were held.

AMS, AWS rep race

The office of Associated Women Students Representative is one of the two ASDAC positions being contested in the coming election.

Two De Anza coeds, Trish Alexander and Roxanne Marsh, are vying for the job.

The office of Associated Men Students Representative is uncontested on the other hand. Hal Smith is the sole contender for this position.

Formal set for May 17

The joint social committees of De Anza and Foothill will sponsor the spring formal, "Springtime Blues." The event will be held at the San Mateo Elks Club May 17 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Dress for the dance will be semi-formal. Girls may wear cocktail dresses or formals. Tuxedos, dinner jackets or suits may be worn by male escorts.

Music will be provided by Ethix Rhythm and Blues Band.

Roberta Goulding, De Anza activities director, said, "Because this is not a formal, students should feel free to come in short dresses and suits to be as comfortable as possible. We hope that by this kind of attire more students at both colleges will want to come and have a good time."

The Elks Club is located one block west of El Camino Real on 19th Avenue in San Mateo.

He feels that "those few seeking offices are willing to confront the problems of our college community and to solve them." He believes that as a united student body "we can accomplish all the interests we pursue even with administrative conflicts. Unity and participation are the keys to solving all campus problems, especially apathy."

Jaramillo stated that Student Council can be strengthened by the participation of new officers who don't have personal conflicts among themselves and who are willing to work together instead of individually for the better interests of the student body.

Mark Miller

Uncontested for his bid as director of mass communications is freshman Mark Miller.

Miller is running for the office because he feels the "views of the students have to be represented in an office such as this which affects every student on campus."

"I have no axe to grind," stated Miller. "I will be fair to everyone involved regardless of my personal feelings. I will be equally fair to all publications and student organizations involved. I believe it is important to promote campus publications of any type and hopefully stimulate student interest."

Miller's past experience includes De Anza freshman class representative, Homestead High School senior class president and a participant in the Model United Nations.

The position of director of mass communications entails representing the campus communications media on Student Council and informing the Executive Council of their activities.

Jim Marshall

Last semester's ASDAC Parliamentarian, Jim Marshall, is in the running for the office of ASDAC vice-president for the fall quarter.

If elected, Marshall would ask the election board, which is a major part of the office, to consider revising the system of petitioning for an ASDAC office by substituting an application instead of a petition, thereby eliminating the procedural "red tape" of the 50 signatures.

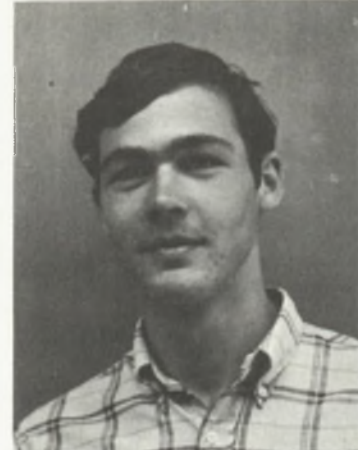

"I would also have the election board encourage the discussion, debate, campaigning and voting on issues (now that we can) that concern students," Marshall informed. "I plan to really get out in the student body and encourage students' active participation in clubs, student government, Co-Rec and other activities," he further stated.

Marshall lists his qualifications for the office as his experience from two semesters on Student Council, two semesters on Executive Council, Inter-Club Council vice-chairman, CJCSGA Area Six conferences and many other student government activities.

Rick Oliver

Seeking the office of vice-president is Rick Oliver, a freshman majoring in Law Enforcement.

A former Del Mar High School graduate, Oliver advocates strong, sincere representatives in student government in addition to successful interaction between students and government.

His purposes for running include his desire to take an active interest in De Anza and his feeling that it is his part to play as a member of De Anza's student complement. Oliver appeals to De Anza students to elect him because he plans to represent them to his fullest capacity. "I am going to run for the office of vice-president in accordance with the best interests of the school and its people," said Oliver.

Oliver's qualifications include the fact that he cares what happens at De Anza. He feels that as a result of his interest he is prepared to take an active part in De Anza government as a representative of and a voice of the students.

Finn for activities

Running for the office of Director of Activities, Jan Finn is aiming for more "detailed and advance planning of activities."

"I feel one reason why the turnout at activities has been poor this year is that students simply haven't known what was coming off," explained Miss Finn who was editor-in-chief of her high school newspaper.

Plans made in advance and in detail would allow more time for publicity to be started, according to Miss Finn.

"As Director of Activities I would have to, of course, face the problem of apathy on campus. I'll try to come up with the best activities I can—not just the traditional ones like formals, but activities that will appeal to all different types of students," continued Miss Finn who was ASDAC Rally Chairman this past semester.

Dons place second in maiden season

Desire was the key for the Don track team last Saturday at the Coast Conference finals, according to Coach Don Vick. The Don cindermen came in second behind the favored Laney Eagles.

"The attitude and desire of the team was great," said Vick.

"ALMOST EVERY performance was a 'come-through' effort. But the ones by Art Rodriguez, Wes Hunter, Bob Sweger and Chuck Bean were outstanding," Vick said.

Rodriguez came up with a first and a second. His first came in the two-mile where he broke the long-standing conference record. Rodriguez' time was 9:39.6, with the old record at 9:53.8. The second place came in the mile run.

Hunter placed first in the 440 and was in on a pair of second places as a member of two relay teams. His time in the 440 was 49.8, his best of the year.

SWEGERS performance netted him a first in the 880. He had been absent from practice since he acquired a blister on his foot at the conference relays and this was his first effort since that time. He crossed the tape in a time of 1:56.5, his best this year.

Bean registered two life-time bests in his events. In the 120 high hurdles he finished with a time of 15.9. Bean recorded a time of 41.4 in the 330 intermediate hurdles to place third.

The Dons placed in many other events. Grady Rogers placed third in the triple jump and fifth in the long jump. Steve Fagundes was second in the two-mile run behind teammate Rodriguez.

RICH MARTIN leaped 6' 4" to place third in the high jump. Steve Peterson went 13' 6" in the pole vault for second place.

No Mercy for golfers

The De Anza Don golfers were successively crushed by conference opponents last week.

Menlo took the hometown hackers 26½-3½ at the Stanford course, one of the tougher in the state. The only points recorded by the Dons were registered by Mike Phillips who won 2½ points while playing first man and another point while playing with Olof Trygg in a best ball match.

Hartnell took over where Menlo left off as the Panthers stroked their way to a 27½-2½ victory over the hapless hometowners. Steve Proft and Olof Trygg each gained half a point while Phillips and Trygg once again scored 1½ in the best ball match.

League finals will be held Monday with Phillips and Trygg entered as the top individuals for the Dons.

All three of the Don pole vaulters qualified for the state meet.

Five Dons will compete in the annual Fresno Relays scheduled for today, Saturday and Sunday. Rogers qualified in both of his events, the long jump and the triple jump, which makes him the only Don in individual competition. The medley relay team makes up the other Don qualifiers.

Final team scores saw Laney with 179, De Anza 107, Solano 48.5, Hartnell 41, West Valley 39.5, Monterey Peninsula 33.5, Cabrillo 26.5, Menlo 11 and Gavilan 10.

Netters tie for sixth

Cabrillo, Hartnell and Menlo walked off with the top honors at the Coast Conference tennis championships at Cabrillo last week.

The Seahawks won the league championship with 9 points in the meet and a spotless 8-0 record during the season.

De Anza tied with Gavilan for sixth place with a 2-6 record and scored a single point in the meet.

Elias tops field

When it comes to establishing winning traditions for De Anza, Joan Elias proved that there is room at the top for the woman's touch with a pair of firsts at the annual San Francisco State gymnastic competition for girls last week.

Miss Elias competed against the top female college gymnasts in Northern California, including representatives from four-year colleges and universities.

Her first-place finishes were recorded against 26 other opponents in the uneven parallel bar and against 15 others in vaulting.

De Anza gymnastics coach Elmer Gates, who entered Miss Elias in the meet, credited her victories to "very, very hard work."

De Anza's stellar baseball team, which has done as much as anyone to put the College on the map, ended the 1968 season with an outstanding 18-10 record and was a serious title contender up until the final week of the season.

Laney takes baseball title

The De Anza baseball team ended a disappointing week with a 4-3 win over Solano Saturday, but for the Dons' pennant chances it was too little, too late.

The final Coast Conference standings show Laney winning the championship with a 13-3 record, two games better than De Anza and Cabrillo, who both compiled 11-5 logs.

WEST VALLEY and Hartnell, both pre-season picks of the experts, got off to slow starts and tied for third place with 9-7 records. West Valley was at its best against the Dons and dealt Coach Ed Bressoud's diamondmen a pair of costly defeats, 10-3 and 16-15. Hartnell lost its first four games and never did pose a threat to the league leaders, De Anza and Laney.

Solano's 8-8 record was somewhat less than what the Vallejo residents had hoped for but was good enough to steer the Falcons into fourth place in the conference.

Menlo's Oaks got off to a meteoric start, winning their first four games. But the Oaks fell apart and in the final 12 games of the season posted a dismal 2-10 record.

GAVILAN WAS UP and down this season, mostly down as its 4-12 record would indicate.

The only team in the league with an unblemished record was Monterey Peninsula College which posted a spotless 0-16 record.

Coupled with a 7-5 non-conference record, the Dons' 1968 record stands at an impressive 18-10. (Editor's note: next week, a statistical wrap-up with the final De Anza batting and pitching averages.)

Poolside notes

Foothill as expected roared to its seventh straight state swimming championship last week at Santa Ana. De Anza placed higher than any other Coast Conference representative.

The Dons fielded the smallest team in the Conference but outclassed their rivals for a second place finish.
