Queen, Formal Foothill's First

Sharon Wilson, Foothill's first queen, was crowned at Foothill's first formal dance Wednesday night.

The results of the student election revealed Miss Sharon Wilson as being the student body's choice. She and her four attendants reigned over the Crystallist Ball, first of the Christmas formals, held the evening of the 17th.

The Christmas queen will not be a tradition on the Foothill campus according to Mrs. Ruth Bryant, counselor. In the future the home-coming queen will hold this honor. This was not possible this year because of the college's age.

John Allen, student body president, placed the crown on the new queen's head as her attendants and those students attending the Dance, looked on.

Sharon, a freshman at Foothill, is majoring in General Education. She lives in Palo Alto.

Publications Bd. Approves Paper's Name

Foothill Sentinel is the name selected by the Board of Publications as the official name of Foothill College's Newspaper.

Three names, Owl Footnotes, Foothill Sentinel, and Foothill Guardian, were presented to the Board of Publications from suggestions by staff members, other students and faculty.

The Foothill Editorial Policy and the Editorial Board Code were submitted for approval by Lee Fairchild, Editor-in-Chief. They were accepted by the board with editing changes only.

"The primary function of a newspaper is to communicate to the human race what its members do, feel, and think," according to the Editorial Policy of the Sentinel.

The policy states that members of the staff shall realize duties that apply to their membership, and shall promote worthwhile service, both to Foothill College and the community of which it is a part.

The Editorial Board Code states the editors and their duties, and the procedure for conducting Editorial Board meetings.

The members who make up the board of Publications are Arla DeHart, Dr. H. H. Semans, Dr. Calvin Flint, Ervin Harlacher, Richard Johnson, Nat Alder, John Allen, Lee Fairchild, and Barbara Titsworth.

Accreditation Report Coming

Results of the accreditation for Foothill will be known in April, according to Dr. H. H. Semans. The Western College Association Accreditation team, which visited Foothill on Dec. 2, 3 and 4, consisted of Dr. Wade Thomas, chairman, president of Santa Monica City College; Dr. Bill J. Priest, president of American River College; Dr. Lloyd Luckmann, coordinator of instruction at City College of San Francisco; Dr. L. Kronick, associate professor of political science at the University of Santa Clara; Dr. Leon Mears, chairman of the division of business education at San Francisco State College; Dr. Dale P. Wren, administrative assistant in the State Department of Education.

Accreditation by the Western College Association will mean that Foothill's lower division courses will be transferable to any four-year educational institution in the country.

Dr. Semans stated, "The team was impressed. They were complimentary in the speed and smoothness with which Foothill is operating. The Library was singled out as being very good, and the team was impressed with the faculty and the standards of instruction."

It is a set rule for a college to graduate two classes before it can receive the full five year accreditation, because of this rule Foothill will not be able to receive full accreditation until the two classes are graduated. This, however, is not a disadvantage to the students.

Keepers To See The Pajama Game

Foothill students have been invited to attend the "Pajama Game" tonight presented by the Palo Alto Community Players. The play will be staged at the Palo Alto Community center.

Bill Keys, president of the Drama Club, said it was impossible to get student rates for the affair as it was to be held on Friday night." Cost of the play is $1.25 and reservations were closed December 10.

Bill Crothers and Bill Keys made the arrangements for the affair. Students are invited to attend the Pajama Game even if they weren't able to sign up by the deadline, said Bill Keys, and I hope that a lot of Foothill Students will come to the play.

Board Reveals Site Choice

Purchase of a second new site for Foothill College was discussed at the recent Board meeting. The area south of Alviso Road was agreed upon as the most desirable site and the following steps will be taken: 1. Notify realty boards of need and criteria. 2. Notify newspapers. 3. Get estimate of cost for appraisal.

A citizens committee will be approved at the next regular meeting and specific planning dates will be approved.

The board also approved a request to the state to add four courses—Russian, college mathematics, radio production laboratory, and review for certified professional secretaries.

Council Proposes Three Color Combinations

The Foothill Student Council will submit choices for school colors to the student body soon after Christmas. Suggestions for school colors are: scarlet and old gold, kelly green and old gold and scarlet and black.

Leading up to these choices the student government had obtained suggestions from the student body and the faculty in the form of a suggestion box. From these suggestions and on the advice of people directly concerned with the color problem, a number of the combinations were eliminated.

Crystallist Clears; Pre-Holiday Hit Ahoy

by Lee Fairchild

Seventy five couples attended the "Crystallist" formal held last Wednesday night, Dec. 17.

Hors d'oeuvres, a tossed green salad, roast chicken, coffee, rolls, and dessert made up Mariani's menu that night.

The dance band ate early, in order to play from early in the evening until the dance was over. General comment on the band was complimentary. Some people didn't realize that the members had given all of the money they received that evening to a special music fund for the music department.

Foothill's first formal dance went very well and as Mrs. Ruth Bryant said "A good time was had by all."

It was about 10:00 p.m. when John Allen announced the queen of the ball.

The Queen then led the grand march followed by her attendants their escorts and the rest of the dancers.

I personally felt that the dance was really a swell event with a good turnout and everybody seemed to be having a good time with a good dinner in the private banquet hall of Mariani's.

The music showed the hard work the members of the band had put into the practice before this event took place and how interested they were in the dance.

Mrs. Ruth Bryant and her group did a complete job of organizing the dance and they should be commended by the student body for their work in the affair.

I was very glad to see the attending faculty members at the dance, because this points out one thing that is important in our college, we must have a good student-faculty relationship and there is not a better way of obtaining this (IN MY OPINION) than by members of the student body and faculty meeting under the relaxing atmosphere created by a good dance.

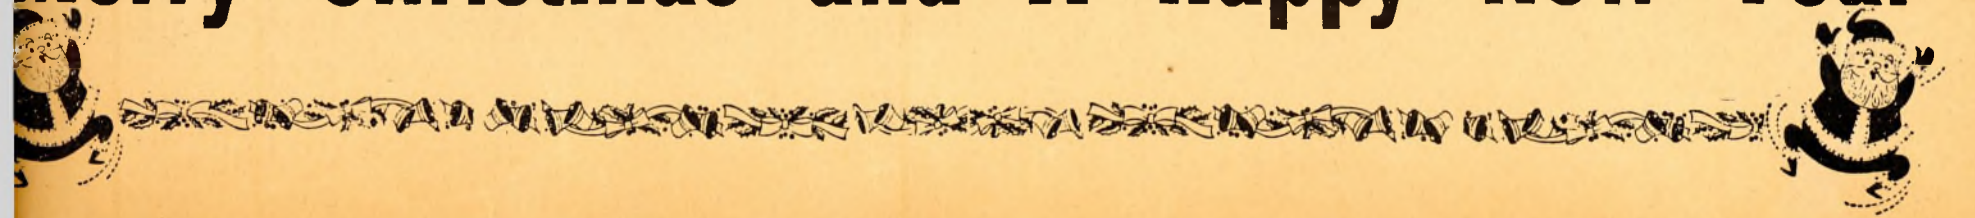

They were eliminated because of their closeness to other school colors or their lack of proper qualities.

The combinations were then submitted to the student government as a whole and screened down to the three suggestions.

These three suggestions will be submitted to the student body and voted upon by a majority vote.

The role of selecting the correct and most appropriate colors now lie in the hands of the student body.

Foothill Students Are Launched On Holiday

Foothill College students are about to launch themselves into the Christmas Holidays. Christmas is a wonderful time of year, but one that does have its disadvantages.

First of all, before going into these problems, we would like to mention the fact that there was a mistake in the released dates for vacation. They are: Dec. 19 to Jan. 5.

Consider the fact that Foothill is a college where the students are near or beyond the age of 21. Naturally, Christmas seems to be a time for cheer—bonded and otherwise. This seems to be part of our society, and since this is the basic problem at hand we will not cover it as such. I'm sure that a few people will agree with us when we say that it seems rather strange the way many of us go about celebrating a holiday season based around Christmas.

Chances are our Indian summer will end about the time vacation starts. If so, this means driving conditions will be poor. Despite the fact that the most prominent driving condition problems will be behind the wheel, poor weather will not help matters.

Of course it is a known fact that many people can drive in their sleep, not to mention in a stupor. Just ask them. Since we cannot, it is up to us to watch for them. In other words, watch every car in sight, for many of them will need it. Many people do not take the accident problem very serious. Among those that do are people who must come in contact with them every day and those drivers who have been involved in a more serious accident. In the future we feel this problem will be brought out in the open. Much of this will be in the form of more accurate story coverage in local newspapers.

This may not be a very gay way to start off a vacation but it can be a thoughtful way. Merry Christmas, and be sure to watch yourselves. We need the readers.

Students Use Library; More Books Coming

The students of Foothill College have been taking advantage of the school library, according to Miss Betty Martin, library director. When the library first opened, it seated 80 students, but now seats 92 students.

During the month of October approximately 1,243 books were checked out. Out of those 1,243 books 43 per cent were reserve books.

The average weekly circulation in October was 54 books. This means that less than 10 per cent of the students checked out books each day.

The most popular hour in the day for checking out books is 10 a.m. About 46 books are checked out during that hour in a week. The next hour is 12 noon. Attendance for the use of the library falls off at 3 in the afternoon.

At the beginning of the school year the library was used mostly for studying, because of the shortage of books, Miss Martin said. Now the library has almost 2,500 books.

She added "about one quarter of the books now in the library have been catalogued. The rest of the books should be catalogued and on file by the end of Christmas vacation."

She hopes that they will be able to keep up with the new books after that.

"We're very pleased to see our book circulation increase as the amount of books we have on hand increases," Miss Martin concluded.

Editor's Comments

The Foothill Sentinel put out a rather controversial issue last time. One of many errors stepped on the toes of an instructor. Despite sore feet, errors, poor style and even a class discussion, we received nothing in the way of formal comments. Constructive or otherwise.

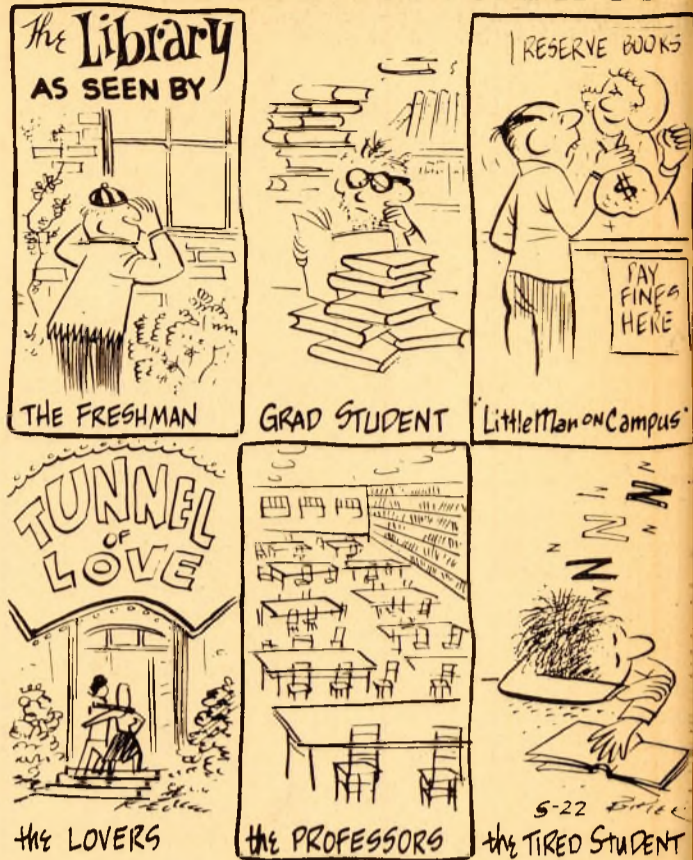

We would like to invite the person who did the rewrite on our announcement in the daily bulletin last week to join the copy desk. We need the help, not to mention the fact that all changes in copy released by the paper must be first approved by the editors, regardless of who did the modifying.

Mrs. Helen Wyatt, the lady with the big smile behind the counter in the student center had an unfortunate accident last Tuesday. While navigating two large pots of coffee from the business office to the student center, she tripped over a board and hit the desk. This resulted in a nasty burn on her arm.

Erv Harlacher of Foothill public information was recognized as a strong wind behind the successful flight of the owl. It seems Harlacher and a Mercury-News photographer dubbed the concrete owl "Footsie" upon its removal from the old tower at the college's temporary site. This all resulted in a very newsworthy bird.

As far as Footsie as a name is concerned, it is a little too undignified for one of the vocal factions on campus. Harlacher asked if anyone has ever heard of a mascot from a very dignified college by the name of Oskie?

Council Learns Rules In Government Class

Members of student council are now taking a course to give them a better understanding of parliamentary procedure.

The course is being conducted by Arla Dehart, dean of students, and Miss Joan Seavey, counselor. Each student is given the opportunity to act as chairman of the group. He calls for a motion from the floor. Then, other students have the opportunity to introduce a motion and also second it.

The chairman then calls for discussion and the meeting proceeds. Everyone has a turn as chairman each class meeting. Some of the procedures they are learning are: how to state a main motion, how to second it, and how to conduct discussion according to Robert's Rules of order.

The class is learning that the governing force is the chairman and that he should be considered as such.

Issues brought out for a more effective meeting were: speak your mind freely, listen critically and thoughtfully to others, indulge in friendly disagreement, and come to the meeting with an open mind.

Miss Seavey invites any student interested in taking the class to come to the student council room any Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m.

Journalism Adds Photo, Publicity

New courses to be added to next semester's journalism program will be Journalism 62B, section two and three. The present section is the newspaper staff. Publicity and public relations section 2, will be related with student activities, and permission by the instructor will be pre-requisite.

Photo Journalism, section three will be composed of photo techniques, finding and taking photos for public relations and for the Foothill Sentinel. The course will also include criticism and discussion of the photographs. The purpose of the course is to gain practice, and to develop photographers. Pre-requisite to this course, is permission of the instructor.

Introduction to Mass Communication 2B will be a continuation of Journalism 2A. No pre-requisite is required for this course. Anyone interested in any of these courses see Richard Johnson or Ervin Harlacher.

Needy Fed, Caroled By FL Club

Members of Foothill's Foreign Language Club left baskets of food at various needy homes in the Mountain View district Thursday, Dec. 18, while singing carols in French and Spanish, the club visited houses from a list suggested by the Red Cross.

One of the sources of money to buy the food for the baskets was from dancing lessons given to Foothill students by Foothill foreign language instructor, Dr. Manuel Guerra, who was once a professional dancer. Dr. Guerra was a student of Spanish dance at the Casino Academy.

Dr. Guerra taught Foothill students Latin American dances such as cha-cha and mambo, charging 25 cents a lesson.

Transportation was arranged from the college to the Cherry Chase Swim and Gym Center where lessons were held from 4 to 6 p.m.

Additional food contributions were from the foreign language classes. The students in these classes were asked to contribute various types of canned foods. A suggested list was posted in Dr. Guerra's class for student reference.

Clubs Must Meet FC Requirement

An approved organization of the A.S.F.C. may be of the social, service, honorary, or special interest type. However, organizations must: (a) perform a service to the college by sponsoring at least one social or service function a year; (b) Cooperate in all college projects, drives, and other activities.

In order to form a club the organization must submit to the Vice-President of the A.S.F.C. a petition signed by five tentative members including the name, purpose, and advisor of the club. Each organization must submit to the Student Council for approval a written constitution before the organization is officially recognized.

Regular meetings shall be held. The advisor must be present at all meetings.

All social events must be cleared by a petition through the Vice-President of A.S.F.C. so as not

Bus. Instructor Raises Entrance Rating Percent

Percentage ratings for entering a major business class next semester will be raised from the present 17 to 50 percentile on entrance exams.

Walter Maus who heads the business program with Mrs. Marie Maierhoffer, said that accounting and math classes will be opened only to those with the higher rating.

"The reason, was that many students who enter accounting and math classes by squeezing past the present rating either receive low grades or wind up repeating the course. Either way the student does not receive much worth from the class," according to Maus.

Those who receive a lower rating supplement a class preparing them for the more difficult classes.

"The higher rating does not actually mean that a student with low rating does not have the ability to undertake the major class, but a review of basic math is needed and would benefit the student," Maus added.

The business program for spring semester will be further enlarged by the adding of accounting IB, intermediate typing, business machines, and intermediate shorthand.

to conflict with school or other organization activities. Social events must be in accordance with the conduct code of the college.

These clubs are represented in the Student Council by one person, usually the president, and in the Executive Council by the President of Associated Organization Council.

Laws for these clubs are set down in "Governing Code of Student Organizations." Information concerning this code may be obtained from any student council member.

Two Foothill Coeds Spring Tender Trap

Two members of Foothills' fair sex and their fiancés will start off the Christmas vacation with a short walk down the aisle.

They are: Miesje Peterich, and Bessie Davis. Miesje a student from Holland will marry Gelynn Jurry, also from Holland. Bessie will wed Richard Welch, a plumber and part-time student at San Jose City College.

Miesje and Gelynn, who came here together from Holland, will be married at 11 o'clock tomorrow in the Stanford Chapel. According to Miesje, the fact they were here in the U.S., instead of Holland, did not cause them to hesitate in setting the date for their wedding.

The bride will wear a ballerina length gown of white lace over satin. Her matron of honor will be dressed in blue.

Those who attend the wedding will have luncheon at the home of a friend of the bride and bridegroom.

The newlyweds will honeymoon in San Diego and Los Angeles during the holidays.

Bessie Davis and Dick Welch are to repeat vows in the Federated Church of Saratoga. A reception is to be held after the ceremony.

Bessie will wear a ballerina length, scalloped neck gown of tiers of lace over satin. Her maid of honor is to wear a blue gown, while the six bridesmaids will appear in both green and coral. She will have a ring bearer and flower girl, who are kindergarden students.

Bessie and Dick will visit Esinada, with a side trip to Disneyland on their honeymoon. They plan to return in time to attend school.

To Mabel The Mammal

Ellis Respects Poetic Privilege

Magic of Medicine Applied To Animals

Animals have the same illnesses as humans. They are also cured with the same medications.

These facts and others pertaining to Zoology were learned by the Foothills Zoology 10 class on a field trip to Dr. R. W. Collinson's Kindness Small Animal Hospital in Los Altos. The tour was conducted by Dr. Collinson, who revealed to the students the magic of medicine applied to animals.

THE RAT FAMILY—Papa rat is on his way out for a night with the boys, while mama rat stays home and tends the family. These are the rats that can be seen in Benson Ellis' classroom.

Zoology Department is now in the midst of their "Mabel" contest. The following is the classes first entry regarding the identity and poetic honor of "Mabel." The Zoology Department submits the poem below with due respect to the English Department. The poet, Dorothy Wick, submits her apologies to Benson Ellis for mutilation of biological terminology.

AN ODE TO MABEL
One day as we sat weak and weary
Classifying Protozoe
Into our thoughts so deep and profound

Broke a wee, small, scuffling sound.
We wrenched our harried thoughts from phylas
From amoeba, volvox and the hydras
All eyes were torn from notebook data
To gaze at a multi-celled chorodata.
It was a black and furry mammal
Caged, content and quite quadrupal
"Your name," we said "We must obtain
And what sex chromosomes do reign."
But all we got was a gaze so blank
We knew its class was low of rank.
At last its human name was learned
But sex chromosomes were indiscerned
However soon we'll have Dear Mabel
And then in time we will be able
To know if Midnite is a he
Or if its Mabel whose the he
But horrors, a deeper thought just came
They might in sex be just the same.

G.I. Bill Aids 83 Veterans At Foothill

Once a month 83 veterans at Foothill College, fill out form VB7-1996b to receive their allotments on the G.I. Bill.

Three of the students receiving this allotment are dependents of servicemen killed in action.

The veterans file their forms after the last classes of the month and are paid in accordance with their attendance for that month.

Many of the veterans are taking an interest in the school and are forming a veterans club on campus.

Thespians Ogle Anastasia In P. A.

A field trip to the rehearsals of "Anastasia" to be held at the Palo Alto Community Theatre has been planned for Foothill's drama club, according to Bill Keyes, club president.

In recent Drama Club meetings, the members and their advisor have been reading and discussing plays. The purpose of this is to help them select a play to put on some time after the Christmas Holidays.

F.M. Radio To Begin In Spring

"Progress is being made on the F.M. station," said Bob Ballou. Erwin Harlacher, public information director, Arla Dehart, dean of students, and Ballou have prepared the F.C.C. application and it is on its way to Washington, D.C.

According to Ballou the station will be on the air sometime in the middle of spring.

Students who are interested in radio broadcasting technics may enroll in Radio Broadcasting 92b. The class is scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7 p.m. The course is a lab and will be two units credit.

Broadcasting 92b will include announcing, programing, and management technics. Ballou said, "The reasons we are establishing the station are: To provide a realistic curriculum in radio broadcasting; provide music and other programs that will appeal to the discriminating listener; and provide an instructional tool for academic departments.

The Foothill Sentinel wishes to correct an error which it made in the final examination schedule published in the edition of Nov. 21. The changes are as follows: Mon., Wed., Fri.; Mon. Tues., Thurs.; daily classes meeting at 9 a.m. are scheduled to take tests on Jan. 29th from 2 to 5 p.m.

AS I SEE IT

BY BOB SIEBENTHALL

It looks like the Student Council is going to permit the student body to have the final say in the choice of the college colors after all. I believe this is a wise decision on the Council's part.

I only hope the students do not ignore this opportunity to express their power through the ballot box. If they do fail to turn out for the voting, along with the mediocre showing of the recent mascot balloting, the Council will be wide open to question the student's privilege of having a voice in student government and traditions.

Here is an interesting bit of information from the President's office. Dr. Calvin Flint received a very nice letter from an organization that dedicates its efforts to the protection of wildlife. The letter included the following statement. "With the signing of the new California Fish and Game Code in 1958, all HAWKS and OWLS are under state protection; neither the hunting of the adult birds nor the molesting of the nests for the purpose of taking young birds is permitted."

The organization merely wanted to inform Foothill of the existing law, because there are methods of acquiring a live owl for a mascot without crossing the Game Code. It even offered its assistance should the college have any questions regarding the matter.

Well, I guess I'll take my stabs at the New Year's Day gridiron entanglements. The season records are in parenthesis following the name of each college.

As much as I hate to make this choice, I will have to pick the Iowa Hawkeyes (7-1) to down the California Bears (7-3) by at least two touchdowns in the Rose Bowl.

The Orange Bowl tilt will be a real close one. Although Oklahoma (9-1) is not the power team of yesteryear and will be without its No. 1 quarterback, I think the Sooners will topple Syracuse (8-1) by one touchdown.

Texas Christian University (8-2) should drop the Air Force Academy (9-0-1) by a pair of scores in the Cotton Bowl. The Falcons didn't face as strong a schedule as the Horned Frogs did, even though they did manage to tie Iowa early in the regular season, while T.C.U. lost their game against this same Iowa team.

In the Sugar Bowl, Louisiana State University (10-0) will bop the Clemson Tigers (8-2) by three touchdowns.

The Gator Bowl contest will be a battle to the end. I believe the underdog Florida squad (6-3-1) will subdue Mississippi (8-2) by a single score.

One touchdown should be the difference in the Sun Bowl, with Wyoming (7-3) taking the edge over Hardin-Simmons (6-4).

The bowlers who took top honors at the previous sports day, held at Hartnell, came through with a 144 game average.

Monterey Peninsula College, second only to Foothill at Hartnell, pressed hard for first place, but finished up with a 143 average to place a close second.

In the individual high game for men, a team member for M.P.C. rolled a 210, while a San Francisco City College bowler took first in the women's section with a 181 high game.

Foothill's volleyball members
